German Agriculture in Transition G. Wilson, 2001-05-21 A much needed contemporary analysis of the Common Agricultural Policy and Germany's role within it The authors investigate the effect of reunification on German policy today and ask whether she has acted as leader partner or obstructor in the formation of policy Their analysis includes social and environmental aspects as well as the economic and political with a special focus on the green agenda in European agriculture

Reforming the Common Agricultural Policy I. Garzon, 2006-08-04 Reforming the Common Agricultural Policy presents an unprecedented comparison of three successive major reforms of the CAP It shows the influence of related issues such as international trade negotiations and budget constraints and demonstrates that factors such as opening of the policy network and feedback were key to accelerating change

Transforming Masculine Rule Elisabeth M Prugl, 2011-07-28 The premise of mainstreaming gender is to bring equality concerns into every aspect of policy making and this brave book offers a close look at how feminists have taken up the challenge to transform the hidden dynamics of male domination in agricultural policy in Europe In contrast to the automatic assumption that neo liberal policy always works against women's interests Prugl demonstrates the potential for feminist jujitsu to take advantage of multiple levels of governance to empower women in some circumstances Although feminists were not always successful the story of their efforts to remake agricultural policy should encourage activists to look for points of leverage in this and other contested and changing multilevel power systems Myra Marx Ferree University of Wisconsin Information on policy development conflicts about improving the status of farm women and using rural development policies to foster gender equality is hard to access in English and extremely useful for researchers concerned with the specifics of gender equality policy in the EU Alison Woodward Institute for European Studies Vrije Universiteit Brussel This book is a must read for scholars interested in the gendered process of global restructuring Elisabeth Prugl succeeds superbly in teasing out the power politics involved in European agricultural policy Through the lens of a feminist constructivist approach she makes visible the multiple mechanisms of gendered power within the state This very lucid narrative is a milestone in a new generation of feminist theoretical scholarship Brigitte Young University of Muenster Germany Taking West and East Germany as case studies Elisabeth Prugl shows how European agricultural policy has cemented long standing gender based inequalities and how feminists have used liberalization as an opportunity to challenge such inequalities Through a comparison of the EU's rural development program known as LEADER as it played out in the Altmark region in the German East and in the Danube Bavarian Forest region in the West Prugl provides a close up view of the power politics involved in government policies and programs In identifying mechanisms of power refusal co optation compromise normalization and silencing of difference Prugl illustrates how these mechanisms operate in arguments over gender relations within the state Her feminist constructivist approach to global restructuring as a gendered process brings into view multiple levels of governance and the variety of gender constructions operating in different societies Ultimately Pr gl offers a new understanding of patriarchy as diverse contested and in flux Jacket photograph iStockphoto com Wojtek Kryczka

Unravelling desertification M. Juntti, 2023-08-28 This book analyses processes of desertification from a social science perspective and unravels the policy related to drivers of desertification Desertification is addressed both as a concept surrounded by a multitude of different discourses and as a tangible unsustainable process that is connected to a complex set of policies and changing land management practices The focus is on Southern Europe where desertification has been a long standing problem in many areas and where in some places the loss of productive capacity has worsened considerably over the last few decades By focusing on four specific case study areas in Portugal Spain Italy and Greece the scope of the book will cover the human dimension of desertification exploring in particular how the framework of existing policies has affected land management decisions and desertification processes The emphasis will be on how policies may have contributed to desertification alleviation and mitigation as well as to a worsening of desertification processes By using an actor network approach the book specifically investigates the importance of networks of actors that shape the nature and direction of policies that affect desertification processes In this sense this book aims at providing a first glance into the complex policy economic and socio cultural networks that operate at the local regional and national levels in areas of Southern Europe affected by desertification and to analyse how these networks hinder or promote the implementation of policies aimed at alleviating the threat of desertification With its broad remit this exciting book will appeal to many different audiences not only including academics and students of various disciplines but also practitioners at the local regional Mediterranean and international e g EU spatial levels in a variety of fields such as environmental and agricultural policy making agricultural extension services farming organisations environmental NGOs media representatives and many other environmental stakeholder groups

The Dynamics of Public Policy Adrian Kay,2006-01-01 this is a first rate book It draws on a wide range of reading philosophy economics and politics and teases out a number of important ideas for academics and postgraduates it surely will be essential reading and I think has pushed the study of public policy forward Michael Connolly Political Studies Review In The Dynamics of Public Policy Adrian Kay sets out the crucial methodological theoretical and empirical implications of two important trends in the social sciences a frequently expressed ambition for analysis of movies not stills and the regular observation that policy politics and governance is becoming more complex Beginning with a discussion of the centrality of temporality change and history to the social sciences he develops the provocative claim that existing models of the policy process are of limited value in understanding and explaining policy dynamics Instead the author argues that it is only through structured narratives that we can really understand and explain complex policy histories He sets out a methodology for structuring policy narratives and illustrates the claims of the book through four detailed case studies health policy and pharmaceutical regulation in the UK and agricultural policy and budget policy in the EU Adrian Kay s book will appeal to academics in the fields of policy analysis public administration and public sector management as well as political science and political theory

NGO Discourses in the Debate on Genetically Modified Crops Ksenia Gerasimova,2017-07-20 The development and use of genetically modified organisms GMOs has been a contentious topic for the last three decades While there have been a number of social science analyses of the issues this is the first book to assess the role of Non Governmental Organizations NGOs in the debate at such a wide geographic scale The various positions for and against GMOs particularly with regard to transgenic crops articulated by NGOs in the debate are dissected classified and juxtaposed to corresponding campaigns These are discussed in the context of key conceptual paradigms including nature fundamentalism and the organic movement post colonialism food sovereignty anti globalisation sustainability and feminism The book also analyses how NGOs interpret the debate and the persuasive communication tactics they use This provides greater understanding of the complexity of negotiations in the debate and explains its specific features such as its global scope and difficulty in finding compromises The author assesses the long term interests of various participants and changes in perceptions of science and in public communication as a result Examples of major NGOs such as Greenpeace Oxfam and WWF are included but the author also provides new research into the role of NGOs in Russia

Property Rights in Land Rosa Congost, Jorge Gelman, Rui Santos, 2016-10-04 Property Rights in Land widens our understanding of property rights by looking through the lenses of social history and sociology discussing mainstream theory of new institutional economics and the derived grand narrative of economic development Written by a collection of expert authors the chapters delve into social processes through which property relations became institutionalized and were used in social action for the appropriation of resources and rent This was in order to gain a better understanding of the social processes intervening between the institutionalized rules of the game and their economic and social outcomes

Environmental Problems in East-Central Europe Frank Carter, David Turnock, 2002-09-26 In this new edition the progress made in the last decade to solve the environmental problems described in the first edition is assessed The attempts to bring environmental legislation into line with West European norms is also described Environmental Problems of East Central Europe looks at air and water pollution modern farming water supplies waste management and landscape protection These topics are placed within economic social and political profiles as spending on a clean environment must be reconciled with welfare spending and the safeguarding of jobs European Union assistance civil society and the work of environmental NGOs are also discussed All of these matters are considered within the context of the wider geographical area and then by each individual country including the previously communist states lying to the west of the Soviet Union now with the former federal states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia broken up into seven different entities and a review of the former Soviet Union with particular reference to the Baltic States Environmental Problems in East Central Europe provides a wealth of up to date reference material with a vast amount of supporting literature on environmental conditions and the functioning of civil society and a map of each country The environment is being taken seriously by them all such is the influence of the Rio sustainability agenda in general and the EU environmental acquis in particular The book reveals that Eastern Europe is not a blighted area but in some respects has a higher biodiversity than Western Europe Although there is enormous waste and inefficiency in energy use people actually consume relatively little and the East therefore has some lessons for the West in terms of managing on the bases of fair share of the earth's resources

Peter van der Hoek,2005-06-13 The Handbook of Public Administration and Policy in the European Union focuses on the current state of the EU while also demonstrating how its current structure came into being and how it may change in the near future Although most existing literature is either policy oriented or institution oriented this textbook employs a different more comprehensive approach Not only does it analyze selected EU laws and most EU institutions it is also unique in that it brings together EU public administration EU institutions and most importantly EU policies into a comprehensive text Divided into five parts the book provides an overview of theory discourses on European integration followed by an analysis of the development of European organizations Part II explains the nature of the EU highlighting its institutions Part III addresses various dimensions of public administration followed by a review in Part IV of major EU policies including the Common Agricultural Policy The textbook concludes with a history of Economic and Monetary Union and a study of the European Central Bank and the euro Multifunctional Agriculture G. A. Wilson,2007 In a time of great agricultural and rural change the notion of multifunctionality has remained under theorized and poorly linked to the debates in the social sciences This book analyses the extent to which the proposed transition towards post productivist agriculture holds up to scientific scrutiny and proposes a new transition theory

Fertile Ground for Europe? Kiran Klaus Patel,2009 The Common Agricultural Policy was the most important policy for the longest duration of the European Economic Community s existence Apart from subsidizing and modernizing European agriculture and securing supplies for its consumers this policy was meant to be the beacon of European integration However it also became the most controversial policy of the EU symbolized by subsidized overproduction bureaucracy and burgeoning farmers protests This volume provides the first archive based assessment of its history in the age of the Cold War and beyond Its chapters deal with the wider context of agricultural integration since the 1920s with the basic ideas that drove this policy with the negotiations and controversies that went along with it as well as with its economic effects and global impact Apart from its empirical findings this book offers new ways of linking EU history to larger trends of contemporary history The editor of this volume Kiran Klaus Patel is Professor of EU history and transatlantic relations at the European University Institute in Florence Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004
