Integrated Pest Management Dissemination and Impact Volume 2 is a sequel to Integrated Pest Management Innovation Development Process Volume 1. The book focuses on the IPM systems in the developed countries of North America, Europe and Australia and the developing countries of Asia, Latin America and Africa. One of the major impediments in the dissemination and adoption of the IPM innovation is the complexity of the technology and reaching the vast population of farmers especially in the developing countries. The IPM innovation development process is incomplete without the diffusion and adoption of IPM methods by the end users and through its consequences. In spite of all the efforts in the developed and developing countries, the adoption of IPM is still low with few exceptions. The book covers the underlying concepts and methodologies of the diffusion of innovation theory and the program evaluation and reviews the progress and impact of IPM programs implemented in the industrialized, the green revolution and the subsistence agricultural systems of the world. Forty-four experts from entomology, plant pathology, environmental science, agronomy, anthropology, economics and extension education from Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe, North America and South America have discussed the impact of IPM with an interdisciplinary perspective. Each one of the experts is an authority in his or her field of expertise. The researchers, farmers, education, supporting policies of the governments and market forces are the elements of the IPM innovation system to achieve wider adoption of IPM strategy in agriculture. New Perspectives in Plant Protection Ali R. Bandani, 2012-04-11

Crop losses by pests, insects, diseases and weeds are as old as plants themselves but as agriculture intensifies and cropping patterns including the cultivation of high yielding varieties and hybrids are changing over time, the impact of the pests becomes increasingly important. Approximately less than 1000 insect species, roughly 600-800 species, 1500-2000 plant species, numerous fungal, bacterial and nematode species as well as viruses are considered serious pests in agriculture. If these pests were not properly controlled, crop yields and their quality would drop considerably. In addition, production costs as well as food and fiber prices are increased. The current book is going to put Plant Protection approaches in perspective. Integrated Plant Pathology S.M. Reddy, H. N. Gour, 2009-01-01

The present book is a valuable handbook on Integrated Plant Pathology which looks into recent advances in the field of Mycology and Plant Pathology covering all modern aspects of diseases management by molecular approaches.
