Interaction And The Standardized Survey Interview The Living Questionnaire:

Interaction and the Standardized Survey Interview Hanneke Houtkoop-Steenstra, 2000-08-03 This book uses conversation analysis to study the interaction between interviewers and respondents in standardised survey interviews

Interaction and the Standardized Survey Interview Hanneke Houtkoop, 2000 Handbook of Interview Research Jaber F. Gubrium, James A. Holstein, 2001-07-25 Interviewing has become the window on the world of experience for both researchers and professionals But as familiar as interviewing is now its seemingly straightforward methodology raises more questions than ever What is the interviewer's image of those who are being interviewed Who is the interviewer in the eyes of the respondent From where do interviewers obtain questions and respondents get the answers that they communicate in interviews How do the institutional auspices of interviewing shape interview data Drawing upon leading experts from a wide range of disciplines to address these and related questions The Handbook of Interviewing offers a comprehensive examination of the interview at the cutting edge of information technology in the context of a challenging postmodern environment Encyclopedic in its breadth the Handbook provides extensive discussions of the conceptual and methodological issues surrounding interview practice in relation to forms of interviewing new technology diverse data gathering and analytic strategies and the various ways interviewing relates to distinctive respondents The Handbook is also a story that spins a particular tale that moves from the commonly recognized individual interview as an instrument for gathering data to reflections on the interview as an integral part of the information we gather about individuals and society The Oxford Handbook of Language and Social Psychology Thomas Holtgraves, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Language and Social Psychology is a unique and innovative compilation of research that lies at the intersection of language and social psychology Contributors address the role of social processes in language the linguistic underpinnings of social psychological processes the creation of meaning and the important role played by language and social psychology in applied topics The Problem with Survey Research George Beam, 2017-09-08 The Problem with Survey Research makes a case against survey research as a primary source of reliable information George Beam argues that all survey research instruments all types of asking including polls face to face interviews and focus groups produce unreliable and potentially inaccurate results Because those who rely on survey research only see answers to questions it is impossible for them or anyone else to evaluate the results They cannot know if the answers correspond to respondents actual behaviors objective phenomena or to their true beliefs and opinions subjective phenomena Reliable information can only be acquired by observation experimentation multiple sources of data formal model building and testing document analysis and comparison In fifteen chapters divided into six parts Ubiquity of Survey Research The Problem Asking Instruments Asking Settings Askers and Proper Methods and Research Designs The Problem with Survey Research demonstrates how asking instruments settings in which asking and answering take place and survey researchers themselves skew results and thereby make answers unreliable The last two chapters and appendices examine observation other methods of data collection and research designs that may produce accurate or correct information and shows how reliance on survey research can be overcome and must be Mixed Methods Robert W.

De Ruiter,2016-05-30 Powerful and economic sensors such as high definition cameras and corresponding recognition software have become readily available e g for face and motion recognition However designing user interfaces for robots phones and computers that facilitate a seamless intuitive and apparently effortless communication as between humans is still highly challenging This has shifted the focus from developing ever faster and higher resolution sensors to interpreting available sensor data for understanding social signals and recognising users intentions Psychologists Ethnologists Linguists and Sociologists have investigated social behaviour in human human interaction But their findings are rarely applied in the human robot interaction domain Instead robot designers tend to rely on either proof of concept or machine learning based methods In proving the concept developers effectively demonstrate that users are able to adapt to robots deployed in the public space Typically an initial period of collecting human robot interaction data is used for identifying frequently occurring problems These are then addressed by adjusting the interaction policies on the basis of the collected data However the updated policies are strongly biased by the initial design of the robot and might not reflect natural spontaneous user behaviour In the machine learning approach learning algorithms are used for finding a mapping between the sensor data space and a hypothesised or estimated set of intentions However this brute force approach ignores the possibility that some signals or modalities are superfluous or even disruptive in intention recognition Furthermore this method is very sensitive to peculiarities of the training data In sum both methods cannot reliably support natural interaction as they crucially depend on an accurate model of human intention recognition Therefore approaches to social robotics from engineers and computer scientists urgently have to be informed by studies of intention recognition in natural human human communication Combining the investigation of natural human behaviour and the design of computer and robot interfaces can significantly improve the usability of modern technology For example robots will be easier to use by a broad public if they can interpret the social signals that users spontaneously produce for conveying their intentions anyway By correctly identifying and even anticipating the user s intention the user will perceive that the system truly understands her his needs Vice versa if a robot produces socially appropriate signals it will be easier for its users to understand the robot s intentions Furthermore studying natural behaviour as a basis for controlling robots and other devices results in greater robustness responsiveness and approachability Thus we welcome submissions that a investigate how relevant social signals can be identified in human behaviour b investigate the meaning of social signals in a specific context or task c identify the minimal set of intentions for describing a context or task d demonstrate how insights from the analysis of social behaviour can improve a robot s capabilities or e demonstrate how a robot can make itself more understandable to the user by producing more human like social signals
