Econnected World:

Society and the Environment Michael S Carolan, 2024-04-18 The fourth edition of Society and the Environment centers its discussion on realistic solutions to the problems that persist and examines current controversies within a socio organizational context shifting focus away from simply explaining what is wrong with the world around us Introducing this pragmatic environmentalism Carolan discusses the complex pressures and variables that exist where ecology and society collide with population growth the increase in demands for food and energy and transportation and its outsized influence on urban and community patterns With further attention given to the social phenomena and structural dynamics driving today s environmental problems the book concludes with an important reflection on truly sustainable solutions and what constitutes meaningful social change Each chapter in this interdisciplinary text follows a three part structure beginning with an overview of what is wrong and why This leads into a discussion on each issue s wide ranging implications and finally a balanced consideration of realistic solutions Featuring updated and expanded examples discussion points and coverage of recent developments including the US withdrawing from the Paris Agreement booming national economies and wealth distribution growing global interest in environmental justice with particular focus on the links between injustice and race and inequality climate change and renewable energy this new edition remains an essential companion for courses on environmental sociology and sustainability

Handbook of Research on ePortfolios Jafari, Ali, Kaufman, Catherine, 2006-05-31 This handbook investigates a variety of ePortfolio uses through case studies the technology that supports the case studies and it also explains the conceptual thinking behind current uses as well as potential uses Provided by publisher

Society and the Environment Michael Carolan, 2018-05-15 Society and the Environment examines today s environmental controversies within a socio organizational context After outlining the contours of pragmatic environmentalism Carolan considers the pressures that exist where ecology and society collide such as population growth and its associated increased demands for food and energy He also investigates how various ecological issues such as climate change are affecting our very own personal health Finally he drills into the social structural dynamics including political economy and the international legal system that create ongoing momentum for environmental ills This interdisciplinary text features a three part structure in each chapter that covers fast facts about the issue at hand examines its wide ranging implications and offers balanced consideration of possible real world solutions New to this edition are Movement Matters boxes which showcase grassroots movements that have affected legislation Discussion questions and key terms enhance the text s usefulness making Society and the Environment the perfect learning tool for courses on environmental sociology

Building Sustainability with the Arts David Curtis, 2017-11-06 Environmental art or ecoart is a burgeoning field and includes a wide variety of practices some of which are exemplified in this collection from sculptures or installations made from discarded rubbish to intimate ephemeral artworks placed in the natural environment or from theatrical presentations incorporated into environmental education programs to socially critical paintings In some cases the artworks aim to create indignation in the viewer sometimes to educate sometimes to create a feeling of empathy for the natural environment or sometimes they are built into community building projects This timely book examines various roles of the arts in building ecological sustainability A wide range of practitioners is represented including visual and performing artists scientists social researchers environmental educators and research students They are all united in this text in their belief that the arts are vital in the building of sustainability in the way that they are practiced but also the connections they make to ecology science and indigenous culture The World's Paper Trade Review, 1905 The World Roberto Remo Bissio, 1995 Reference of facts statistics and opinions relating to global issues from the perspective of the Third World Reimagining Sustainability in Precarious Times Karen Malone, Son Truong, Tonia Gray, 2017-01-17 This book reflects the considerable appeal of the Anthropocene and the way it stimulates new discussions and ideas for reimagining sustainability and its place in education in these precarious times The authors explore these new imaginings for sustainability using varying theoretical perspectives in order to consider innovative ways of engaging with concepts that are now influencing the field of sustainability and education Through their theoretical analysis research and field work the authors explore novel approaches to designing sustainability and sustainability education These approaches although diverse in focus all highlight the complex interdependencies of the human and more than human world and by unpacking binaries such as human nature nature culture subject object and de centring the human expose the complexities of an entangled human nature relation that are shaping our understanding of sustainability These messy relations challenge the well versed mantras of anthropocentric exceptionalism in sustainability and sustainability education and offer new questions rather than answers for researchers educators and practitioners to explore As working with new theoretical lenses is not always easy this book also highlights the authors methods for approaching these ideas and imaginings Blogs, Wikipedia, Second Life, and Beyond Axel Bruns, 2008 Explores our developing participatory online culture establishing the core principles which drive the rise of collaborative content creation in environments from open source through blogs and Wikipedia to Second Life Argues that what is emerging is no longer just a new form of content production but a new process for the continuous creation and extension of knowledge and art by collaborative communities produsage Digital Diversity E. Dianne Looker, Ted D. Naylor, 2010-08-04 Digital Diversity Youth Equity and Information Technology is about youth schools and the use of technology Youth are instrumental in finding novel ways to access and use technology They are directly affected by changes such as the proliferation of computers in schools and elsewhere and the increasingly heavy use of the Internet for both information sharing and for communication The contributors to this volume investigate how the resources provided by information and communication technology ICT are made available to different groups of young people as defined by gender race rural location Aboriginal status street youth status and how they do or do not develop facility and competence with this technology How does access vary for these different groups of youth Which young people develop facility with ICT What impact has this technology had on their learning and their lives These are among the issues examined Youth from a wide variety of settings are included in the study including Inuit youth in the high arctic Rather than mandate how youth should could better use technology as much of the existing literature does the contributors focus on how youth and educators are actually using technology By paying attention to the routine use and understandings of ICTs by youth and those teaching youth the book highlights the current gaps in policy and practice It challenges assumptions around the often taken for granted links between technology pedagogy and educational outcomes for youth in order to highlight a range of important equity issues Finance & Development, September 2012

International Monetary Fund. External Relations Dept.,2012-08-28 Technology is generating a global convergence A big bang of information and education as well is improving human lives And with global interconnectivity growing by leaps and bounds we are all witness to a rapid spread of information and ideas But as we have seen from the prolonged global financial crisis our interconnectedness carries grave risks as well as benefits This issue of F D looks at different aspects of interconnectedness globally and in Asia Brookings VP Kemal Devis presents the three fundamental trends in the global economy affecting the balance between east and west in World Economy Convergence Interdependence and Divergence In Financial Regionalism Akihiro Kawai and Domenico Lombardi tell us how regional arrangements are helping global financial stability In Migration Meets Slow Growth Migration Policy Institute president Demetrios Papademetriou examines how the global movement of workers will change as the economic crisis continues in advanced economies Caught in the Web explains new ways of looking at financial interconnections in a globalized world IMF Managing Director Christine Lagarde provides her take on the benefits of integration and the risks of fragmentation in Straight Talk Also in this issue we take a closer look at interconnectedness across Asia as we explore how trade across the region is affected by China s falling trade surplus how India and China might learn from each others success and what Myanmar s reintegration into the global economy means for its people F D s People in Economics series profiles Justin Yifu Lin first developing country World Bank economist and the Back to Basics series explains the origins and evolution of money Advances in Intelligent Data Analysis V Michael Berthold,2003-08-21 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 5th International Conference on Intelligent Data Analysis IDA 2003 held in Berlin Germany in August 2003 The 56 revised papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 180 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on machine learning probability and topology classification and pattern recognition clustering applications modeling and data processing Studies and Reports - International Co-operative Alliance International Co-operative Alliance,1964 Congressional Record United States. McLaughlin,2019-03-27 This volume illustrates how the methodology of metaphysics can be enriched with the help of cognitive science Few philosophers nowadays would dispute the relevance of cognitive science to the metaphysics of mind but this volume mainly concerns the relevance of metaphysics to phenomena that are not themselves mental The volume is thus a departure from standard analytical metaphysics Among the issues to which results from cognitive science are brought to bear are the metaphysics of time of morality of meaning of modality of objects and of natural kinds as well as whether God exists A number of chapters address the enterprise of metaphysics in general In traditional analytical metaphysics intuitions play a prominent role in the construction of and assessment of theories Cognitive science can be brought to bear on the issue of the reliability of intuitions Some chapters point out how results from cognitive science can be deployed to debunk certain intuitions and some point out how results can be deployed to help vindicate certain intuitions Many metaphysicians have taken to heart the moral that physics should be taken into account in addressing certain metaphysical issues The overarching point of the volume is that in many instances beyond the nature of the mind itself cognitive science should also be consulted European and American Extreme Right Groups and the Internet Manuela Caiani,Linda Parenti,2016-04-29 How do right wing extremist organizations throughout the world use the Internet as a tool for communication and recruitment What is its role in identity building within radical right wing groups and how do they use the Internet to set their agenda build contacts spread their ideology and encourage mobilization This important contribution to the field of Internet politics adopts a social movement perspective to address and examine these important questions Conducting a comparative content analysis of more than 500 extreme right organizational web sites from France Germany Italy Spain the United Kingdom and the United States it offers an overview of the Internet communication activities of these groups and systematically maps and analyses the links and structure of the virtual communities of the extreme right Based on reports from the daily press the book presents a protest event analysis of right wing groups mobilisation and action strategies relating them to their online practices In doing so it exposes the new challenges and opportunities the Internet presents to the groups themselves and the societies in which they exist Advances in Intelligent Data Analysis V Michael R. Berthold,Hans-Joachim Lenz,Elizabeth Bradley,Rudolf Kruse,Christian Borgelt,2011-03-16 We are glad to present the proceedings of the 5th biennial conference in the Intelligent Data Analysis series The conference took place in Berlin Germany August 28 30 2003 IDA has by now clearly grown up Started as a small si symposium of a larger conference in 1995 in Baden Baden Germany it quickly attracted more interest both submission and attendance wise and moved from London 1997 to Amsterdam 1999 and two years ago to Lisbon Submission rates along with the ever improving quality of papers have enabled the organizers to assemble increasingly consistent and high quality programs This year we were again overwhelmed by yet another record breaking submission rate of 180 papers

At the Program Chairs meeting we were based on roughly 500 reviews in the lucky position of carefully selecting 17 papers for oral and 42 for poster presentation. Poster presenters were given the opportunity to summarize their papers in 3 minute spotlight presentations. The oral spotlight and poster presentations were then scheduled in a single track 2 5 day conference program summarized in this book. In accordance with the goal of IDA to bring together researchers from diverse disciplines we achieved a nice balance of presentations from the more theoretical side both statistics and computer science as well as more application oriented areas that illustrate how these techniques can be used in practice. Work presented in these proceedings ranges from theoretical contributions dealing for example with data cleaning and compression all the way to papers addressing practical problems in the areas of text classification and sales rate predictions. A considerable number of papers also center around the currently so popular applications in bioinformatics.
