An African Worldview Ian D. Dicks,2012 In this book Ian Dicks informs the reader about the ways in which the Yawo of Malawi view the world The Yawo are predominantly Muslim yet many maintain strong links with their traditional religion They are a largely oral society teaching and reinforcing their beliefs and practices using oral literature which includes myths proverbs proverbial stories songs of advice and prayers at various stages of the life cycle particularly during initiation events Ian Dicks describes in detail the Yawo s material world customs beliefs and rituals and juxtaposes these with Yawo oral literature He then examines them under six worldview categories the result being a rich description of the way in which the Yawo see the world This book is not an armchair study but has the feel of being written by an eyewitness by someone who has had first hand experience of the subject and who seeks to describe this in a manner which is sensitive to the Yawo and their culture

Islam and Ideology in the Emerging Indonesian State Howard M. Federspiel,2001-01-01 This publication reveals the thinking of a group of Indonesian Muslim activists known as the Persatuan Islam The group entering national debates in the period from 1923 to 1957 about the role that religion was to take in the emergence of an independent Indonesia

Islam in South Asia in Practice Barbara D. Metcalf,2009-09-08 This volume of Princeton Readings in Religions brings together the work of more than thirty scholars of Islam and Muslim societies in South Asia to create a rich anthology of primary texts that contributes to a new appreciation of the lived religious and cultural experiences of the world s largest population of Muslims The thirty four selections translated from Arabic Persian Urdu Bengali Tamil Gujarati Hindavi Dakhani and other languages highlight a wide variety of genres many rarely found in standard accounts of Islamic practice from oral narratives to elite guidance manuals from devotional songs to secular judicial decisions arbitrating Islamic law and from political posters to a discussion among college women affiliated with an Islamist organization Drawn from premodern texts modern pamphlets government and organizational archives new media and contemporary fieldwork the selections reflect the rich diversity of Islamic belief and practice in South Asia Each reading is introduced with a brief contextual note from its scholar translator and Barbara Metcalf introduces the whole volume with a substantial historical overview

Sociology of Indian Society CN Shankar Rao,2004-09 The revision comes 10 years after the first edition and completely overhauls the text not only in terms of look and feel but also content which is now contemporary while also being timeless A large number of words are explained with the help of examples and their lineage which helps the reader understand their individual usage and the ways to use them on the correct occasion

Muslim Women between

Community and Individual Rights Fatima Mukaddam, 2024-05-11 This book presents an in depth exploration of the intricate negotiations of married Muslim women within Cape Town's Muslim communities navigating the complexities of legal pluralism governed by Muslim Personal Law (MPL). Spanning historical epochs from colonialism to the democratic era, it argues that MPL's informal status perpetuates patriarchal norms especially in the domain of marriage. It critically examines the consequences of the non-recognition of Muslim marriages within the civil legal framework and underscores the ambiguous intersections of MPL with broader legal systems which leaves women in a precarious legal state overshadowed by religious doctrines. Adopting a gender perspective and an interdisciplinary approach that combines political science, sociology and the law, the book reveals the historical roots of legal pluralism while also shedding light on the political strategies that have perpetuated gender stratified citizenship. Despite all the democratic promises, legal pluralism persists, contributing to gender disparities, and the book critically examines the government's reluctance to address the marginalisation of Muslim women, especially through the lens of the proposed Muslim Marriages Bill (MMB). This book is essential reading for scholars in the fields of law, sociology and gender studies, offering critical insights into the intersections of legal systems, religion and gender dynamics within Muslim communities in Cape Town.
