Georgetown University Round Table on Languages and Linguistics (GURT) 2001 Deborah Tannen, James E. Alatis, 2003-03-20 GURT is nationally and internationally recognized as one of the world's star gatherings for scholars in the fields of language and linguistics. In 2001 the best from around the world in the disciplines of anthropological linguistics and discourse analysis meet to present and share the latest research on linguistic analysis and to address real world contexts in private and public domains. The result is this newest invaluable 2001 edition of the Georgetown University Round Table on Languages and Linguistics. This volume brings together the plenary speakers only all leaders in their fields showcasing discourse contexts that range from medical interactions to political campaigns from classroom discourse and educational policy to current affairs and to the importance of everyday family conversations. The contributors expand the boundaries of discourse to include narrative theory music and language laughter in conversation and the ventriloquizing of voices in dialogue. Frederick Erickson explores the musical basis of language in an elementary school classroom. Wallace Chafe analyzes laughter in conversation. William Labov examines narratives told to South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission while Deborah Schiffrin compares multiple accounts of Holocaust narratives and Alessandro Duranti considers competing speaker and audience interpretations during a political candidate's campaign tour. Robin Lakoff uncovers contrasting narratives shared by different cultural groups with respect to such current events as the O J Simpson trial. Deborah Tannen examines the integration of power and connection in family relationships while Heidi Hamilton considers accounts that diabetic patients give their doctors. Shirley Brice Heath looks at discourse strategies used by policymakers to deny research findings and G. Richard Tucker and Richard Donato report on a successful bilingual program.

Language in Social Theory Imperatives and Directive Strategies Daniël Van Olmen, Simone Heinold, 2017-04-11

Imperatives and directive strategies have intrigued both formalists and functionalists. They continue to search for the answers to questions like what are the semantics of the imperative, how is it used in the world's languages, and which factors determine the choice between imperatives and other directive strategies. This volume takes a broadly functional typological perspective and contributes to the literature in several respects. It presents new data from a variety of languages, some of which have not been studied in depth before. It exemplifies the benefits of traditional methodologies as well as the potential of more innovative ones. In addition, the volume sheds new light on the imperative as a typological notion, its meaning and uses, and its interaction with other grammatical categories. It also offers new insights into the relation between different directive strategies within and across languages and into the dissimilarities between equivalent directive strategies in a language family.

Afterlives of Affect Matthew C. Watson, 2020-07-27 In Afterlives of Affect Matthew C. Watson considers the life and work of artist and Mayanist scholar Linda Schele 1942-98 as a point of departure for what he calls an excitable anthropology. As part of a small collective of scholars who devised the first compelling arguments that Maya hieroglyphs were a fully grammatical writing system, Schele popularized the decipherment of hieroglyphs by developing narratives of Maya politics and religion in popular books and public workshops. In this experimental person-centered ethnography, Watson shows how Schele's sense of joyous discovery and affective engagement with research led her to traverse and disrupt borders between religion, science, art, life, death, and history. While acknowledging critiques of Schele's work and the idea of discovery more generally, Watson contends that affect and wonder should lie at the heart of any reflexive anthropology. With this singular examination of Schele and the community she built around herself and her work, Watson furthers debates on more than human worlds, spiritualism, modernity, science studies, affect theory, and the social conditions of knowledge production.

Lexical Acculturation in Native American Languages Cecil H. Brown, 1999 Lexical acculturation refers to the accommodation of languages to new objects and concepts encountered as the result of culture contact. This unique study analyzes a survey of words for 77 items of European culture (e.g., chicken, horse, apple, rice, scissors, soap, and Saturday) in the vocabularies of 292 Amerindian languages and dialects spoken from the Arctic Circle to Tierra del Fuego. The first book ever to undertake such a large and systematic cross-language investigation, Brown's work provides fresh insights into general processes of lexical change and development, including those involving language universals and diffusion.

Sociolinguistic Perspectives : Papers on Language in Society, 1959-1994 Charles A. Ferguson, Professor of Linguistics, Stanford University (Emeritus), 1996-01-18 The work of the linguist Charles A. Ferguson spans more than three decades and is remarkable for having been consistently at the forefront of scholarship on the relationship between language and society. This volume collects his most influential and seminal papers.

each having expanded the parameters of sociolinguistics and the sociology of language Taken together they cover a wide range of topics and issues and more importantly reflect the intellectual progress of a founder of the sociolinguistic field The volume is divided thematically into four sections and an introduction by Thom Huebner outlines the evolution of Ferguson's ideas and the impact they have had on other scholars This book is essential reading for everyone interested in the field of sociolinguistics
