teach and learn Chinese as a foreign language In addition to the discussion of relevant second foreign language research this volume gives detailed information on ways to develop a pedagogical model that is uniquely suited to teaching Chinese in five key areas pronunciation tones and pinyin characters and words sentences when and why different sentence structures are used discourse and pragmatic competence coherence and genre and cultural competence Specially written for Chinese language teachers student teachers and applied linguists this is the first book written in English that systematically addresses all major aspects involved in teaching and learning Chinese as a foreign language This book covers all the fundamental grammar elements in Chinese explains their functions in discourse and communication and explores different strategies for teaching and engaging students in learning the language Modern Mandarin Chinese Claudia

Ross, Baozhang He, Pei-chia Chen, Meng Yeh, 2018-10-03 Modern Mandarin Chinese is a two year undergraduate course for students with no prior background in Chinese study Designed to build a strong foundation in both the spoken and written language it develops all the basic skills such as pronunciation character writing word use and structures while placing a strong emphasis on the development of communicative skills Each level of the course consists of a textbook and workbook in simplified Chinese A free companion website provides all the audio for the course with a broad range of interactive exercises and additional resources for students self study along with a comprehensive instructor's guide with teaching tips assessment and homework material and a full answer key Key changes to this new edition An increased number of vocabulary and characters introduced 255 characters are introduced in this second edition for active production Dialogues and example sentences are also presented in full character format for passive recognition and to provide additional challenge for more advanced students Additional exercises in the workbooks and online to support the expanded number of words and characters incorporated into the textbooks New cross references between the textbooks workbooks and companion website facilitate using all the resources in an integrated manner Greatly enhanced and re designed website Retaining its focus on communicative skills and the long term retention of characters the text is now presented in simplified characters and pinyin from the outset with a gradual and phased removal of pinyin as specific characters are introduced and learnt This unique approach allows students to benefit from the support of pinyin in the initial stages as they begin speaking while ensuring they are guided and supported towards reading only in characters 廖正兴, 2016-07-01 Teaching English

Reading in the Chinese-Speaking World Clay Williams, 2016-04-07 This book investigates inherent structural differences in the Chinese and English writing systems which predispose learners from childhood to develop specific literacy learning strategies which can impair later efforts at learning foreign language literacy if the foreign language script varies significantly from the native language script It compares educational practices and philosophies in Chinese and English speaking classrooms and examines the psychological underpinnings of these literacy learning strategies This book presents psychometric testing of adult reading strategy defaults and examines case study data revealing that Chinese students are susceptible to misapplying Chinese character level processing strategies to English word identification tasks which decreases reading efficiency and ultimately can lead to learning failure Finally a new educational framework is proposed for teaching beginning language specific word identification and literacy learning skills to learners whose first language script varies significantly from that of the target language

Reading in Chinese as an Additional Language Liu Li,Dongbo Zhang,2022-12-29 Reading in Chinese as an Additional Language focuses on Chinese literacy acquisition which has been considered most difficult by both learners and teachers of Chinese as an additional language CAL Three major areas are covered 1 acquisition of Chinese characters 2 reading comprehension subskills and reader s identity 3 reading instruction and assessment The first part delves into the foundation of Chinese literacy development how to learn and teach Chinese characters The second part examines various learners reading comprehension subskills as well as the evolution of learners literacy identity The third part explores effective instructional methods and assessment practices for CAL reading development Theoretically this book provides frameworks and evidence from both cognitive and sociocultural perspectives on the nature of CAL reading development Pedagogically the book showcases how to teach and assess CAL reading skills Methodologically this book includes empirical studies using both qualitative and quantitative methods In terms of scope the book covers a much broader spectrum of issues about CAL reading research and classroom teaching than has previously been available Writing is also discussed in several chapters In terms of technology the book includes discussion on how the use of computers the Internet and social media impacts students Chinese literacy acquisition This book will help CAL researchers and educators better understand the nature of CAL reading development and become well informed about CAL classroom teaching and assessment including the application of interactive approaches to teaching and assessing diverse reading skills
