Integration And Unequal Development The Experience Of The Eec:

Integration and Unequal Development Dudley Seers, Constantine V. Vaitsos, 1980-06-18 The Core-Periphery Divide in the European Union Rudy Weissenbacher, 2020-01-29 This book revisits the forgotten history of the European Dependency School in the 1970s and 1980s explores core periphery relations in the European integration process and the crises of the contemporary European Union from a dependency perspective and draws lessons for alternative development paths Was disintegration of the European Union foretold With the benefit of hindsight the critical analysis of the European integration process by researchers from the European Dependency School is most timely The current framework of the European Union seems to be haunted by issues that had been very familiar to the researchers of the European Dependency School such as a lack of a common and balanced industrial policy How do the situations compare What lessons can be learnt for alternative development policies in contemporary Europe Weissenbacher tackles these issues which are of relevance to all interested in political economy political science development studies and regional development Regional Behaviour Dimitrios C. Christopoulos, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2001 In the framework of the EU a number of policies have been devised for regions in order to facilitate their balanced economic development The author argues that the focus on regional planners and their actions in academic literature has obscured the importance of regional elites in this process The author compares Western Scotland and the west of Crete focusing on the wider regional political and business elites within these regions and attempting a comparison of elite attitudes within regions and between regions International Economic Integration: Monetary, fiscal and factor mobility issues Miroslav N. Jovanović, 1998 The Political Economy of EEC Relations with African, Caribbean and Pacific States Frank Long, 2013-09-24 The Political Economy of EEC Relations with African Caribbean and Pacific States is a collection of papers the covers various areas of concerns in the relationship between the European Economic Community EEC and African Caribbean and Pacific States ACP The text first covers the political economy of the EEC ACP relations and the proceeds to discussing indexation and stabilization scheme In the last part the selection deals with concerns in technology transfer trade and market access between the EEC and ACP The book will be of great use to economists sociologists and political scientists What Kind of Europe? Loukas Tsoukalis, 2003-05-29 As the European Union moves towards enlargement this text pinpoints the crucial issues which will shape its future as a regional economic and political entity Saving the Mediterranean Peter M. Haas, 1990 Examines the Mediterranean Action Plan from 1972 to 1987 as a successful international effort to coordinate the marine pollution control practices of the Mediterranean littoral countries through regional treaties coordinated research and monitoring integrated policies and administrative and budge Multinationals and Europe 1992 (RLE International Business) Beat Burgenmeier, Jean-Louis Mucchielli, 2013-01-25 When it was originally published this book presented the first independent review of the critical role played by multinationals in Europe Extending its focus beyond 1992 the book examines both the economic and business strategy frameworks the firms need to develop to maintain a competitive advantage Using case studies from specific industries it looks not only at the activity of multinationals within the single market but explores the competitive strategies of non European firms with special emphasis on Japanese companies which were poised to exploit 1992 The importance of interaction between multinationals and national government policies is also analysed taking into account the integration already achieved

Diversity and Decomposition in the Labour Market David Robbins, Lesley Caldwell, Graham Day, Karen Jones, Hilary Rose, 2018-05-11 Originally published in 1982 Diversity and Decomposition in the Labour Market is an edited collection addressing the contemporary sociology of the labour market The collection focuses on the categorisation of the diverse dualities that might be thought to characterise certain labour markets The collection addresses many economic sectors and there is a distinct focus on labour market analyses developed within neo classical and radical economics in the USA The analyses maintain that the labour market is in some sense dualistic

Endgame for the Euro B. Lucarelli, 2013-10-31 This text develops an original critical analysis of the origins and evolution of the euro and the current debt crisis that envelops the euro zone It provides a comprehensive critical historical narrative of the evolution of European Monetary Union EMU The history of the euro culminating in the Maastricht blueprint in 1992 reveals that this deeply flawed monetary edifice was informed by the prevailing neoliberal monetarist economic doctrines favoured by Germany The final blueprint witnessed the birth of an international currency which was devoid of a coherent sovereign power The author's critique is informed by post Keynesian theories of endogenous money Lucarelli provides an essential contribution to the critique of the existing economic theories that continue to inform the evolution of the euro In the absence of political union and a corresponding fiscal framework the survival of the euro remains problematic The imposition of harsh neoliberal austerity measures by the IMF EU ECB Troika on Europe's peripheral deficit countries threaten the very existence of the euro zone in its present form and have set in motion powerful centrifugal forces which could ultimately derail the entire post war European project

The Soviet Quest for Regional Security Jan Åke Dellenbrant, 1986 This study deals with three cases where the regional security aspect of Soviet decision making was important Firstly the Baltic region will be considered The Soviet strategy for promoting stability in the Baltic republics has been that of integration The three republics have become politically and economically firmly integrated with the rest of the Soviet Union Secondly Soviet Central Asia will be analyzed Here the Soviet leaders decided that an intervention of Afghanistan would be the best measure to counteract alleged foreign influence The third case deals with Soviet Polish relations During the Polish crisis of 1980-81 there was a definite possibility of the Soviet military invasion One motive for an intervention would have been the destabilizing effects of the Western parts of the USSR that the Polish development had However another strategy was chosen a strategy of non intervention namely that of martial law The concerns for regional security could be studied both at the central and regional level The republic level first party secretaries who supervise the political stability of their regions constitute an especially interesting source when studying the regional component in the Soviet decision making During the Brezhnev period the regional party secretaries became far more active in foreign policy matters than earlier This fact has largely been overlooked in Western research on the Soviet Union

The Internationalization of the German Political Economy William D.

Graf,2016-07-27 The internationalization of the German political economy in the postwar era has produced a special socio economic and political formation which this anthology views as a hegemonic project Based upon a virtually total West German integration into the West this project has evolved within a new international division of labour and a global political system in which the German state with its extreme level of export dependency and need for stability has become a guardian and champion of the global status quo Italian Politics Martin J. Bull,James L. Newell,2005 This wide ranging book seeks to unravel the complexities of post 1992 Italian democracy It takes as its point of departure the dramatic political tensions of the early 1990s and evaluates these against the background of an analysis of the First Republic that predates these changes Martin Bull and James Newell renowned scholars of Italian Politics argue that the early 1990s revolution in Italian party politics should be seen both as a major cause of subsequent changes in the political system and as a consequence of longer term still on going changes in the Italian polity The books explains how we can understand in this light the mixed success of the parties in attempting to act as autonomous vehicles of reform and therefore why if we are witnessing a transformation to a Second Republic many of its key features still remain to be shaped Each of the thematic chapters clearly juxtaposes Italy as it was before the 1990s with Italy today thereby evaluating the degree to which the early 1990s can be seen as a watershed In this way the book offers a novel account of both contemporary political developments and their historical significance in teh context of the Italian political model that took shape in the period after 1945 This will be essential reading for all students of Italian and Comparative Politics who will find the clarity and breadth of the book invaluable Equally scholars will be fascinated by this new and compelling argument Economic Transformation, Democratization and Integration into the European Union H. Gibson,2001-02-01 The transformation from a closed and inward looking economy to an active integration into the European Union is one which a number of countries are facing This book examines the experience of southern European countries where such transformation has occurred within a short space of time and has been accompanied by important socio political developments including the consolidation of democracy The various contributors focus on the motivation for economic change the problems encountered and the lessons to be learnt North Africa (RLE Economy of the Middle East) Richard Lawless,Allan Findlay,2015-05-15 This book covers the contemporary politics and economic development of the four countries of North Africa Morocco Algeria Tunisia and Libya The first part is devoted to contemporary politics and political systems in each of these countries It traces their political development since independence with the emphasis on the last ten to fifteen years The second part concentrates on economic developments in each of the four countries A separate chapter on each state provides a comprehensive analysis of the economic strategies adopted since independence They discuss the impact of the planning strategies on the structure of the national economies and the social consequences resulting from these economic policies notably in the field of employment and income distribution First published in 1984 The Europeanization of Greece Kostas A. Lavdas,2016-07-27 An original analysis of the integration of Greece into the European Union assessing the impact of EU membership on different sectors of the Greek economy It examines the relationship from 1961 through its freezing as a result of the authoritarian Greek regime in 1967 and the negotiation of full membership in 1981 The book focusses on interest politics and shows how Greek sectoral corporatism has been transformed largely as a result of EU membership It draws on new institutionalist approaches to politics and political economy and neofunctionalist theories of EU integration
