Integration and Excision of DNA Molecules P.H. Hofschneider, P. Starlinger, 2012-12-06 The topic of this years osbach Colloquium was DNA integration We have tried to bring together experts from different fields of research who are studying natural processes by which DNA molecules from different sources are linked It has been known for a long time that such linkage occurs between the chromosomes of bacteriophages and plasmids on the one hand and the chromosome of the bacterial host on the other This process has been especially well studied in bacteriophage A Since it is controlled in a complicated way we began with a lecture by M Ptashne on these regulatory processes H Nash described the integration of bacteriophage A into the bacterial chromosome To put this site specific process into perspective G Mosig lectured on genetic recombination in prokaryotes in general and K Murray described the use of bacteriophage A as an artificial vector for genetic engineering A different kind of bacteriophage integration is shown by bacteriophage Mu which is much less specific in its choice of an integration site than A The properties of this phage were described by P van de Putte
