Morganti, A. Carassa, G. Riva, 2008-04-23 In recent years a new trend in socio cognitive research investigates into the mental capacities that allow humans to relate to each other and to engage in social interactions One of the main streams is the study of intersubjectivity namely the mutual sharing of experiences conceived of as a basic dimension of consciousness on which socialness is grounded At the very heart of contemporary studies is an intense debate around some central questions that concern the nature and forms of human intersubjectivity its development and its role in situated joint activities Striving to achieve a unified theoretical framework these studies are characterized by a strong interdisciplinary approach founded on philosophical accounts conceptual analysis neuroscientific results and experimental data offered by developmental and comparative psychology This book aims to give a general overview of this relevant and innovative area of research by bringing together seventeen contributions by eminent scholars who address the more relevant issues in the field Integrating Practice-based Experiences into Higher Education Stephen Billett, 2015-07-15 This book advances understandings about and practices for effectively integrating practice based e.g workplace experiences in higher education programs This issue is becoming of increasing salience because higher education programs globally are increasingly focussing on preparing students for specific occupations Such imperatives are reflected in the cooperative education movement in North America the foundation degree programs of the United Kingdom the work integrated learning approach within Australian higher education and initiatives in a range of other countries There are clear and growing expectations that graduates from such should be able to move smoothly into being effective in their occupational practice These expectations rise from the imperatives and interest of government employers community and students themselves The book achieves a number of important goals Firstly it identifies and delineates the educational worth of students and engagement in practice based experiences and their integration within their programs of study Secondly it advances conceptions of the integration of such experiences that is essential to inform how these programs might be enacted Thirdly drawing on the findings of two teaching fellowships it proposed bases and propositions for how experiences in higher education programs might be organised and augmented to support effective learning Fourthly pedagogic practices seen to be effective in maximising the learning from those practice experiences and integrating them within the curriculum are identified and discussed Fifthly a particular focus is given to students personal epistemologies and how these might be developed and directed towards supporting effective learning within practice settings and the integration of that learning in their university programs
