The Beholder Robert Williams, 2017-07-05 One of the most significant developments in the study of works of art over the past generation has been a shift in focus from the works themselves to the viewer's experience of them and the relation of that experience both to the works in question and to other aspects of cultural life The ten essays written for this volume address the experience of art in early modern Europe and approach it from a variety of methodological perspectives concerns range from the relation between its perceptual and significative dimensions to the ways in which its discursive formation anticipates but does not exactly correspond to later notions of aesthetic experience The modes of engagement vary from careful empirical studies that explore the complex complementary relationship between works of art and textual evidence of different kinds to ambitious efforts to mobilize the powerful interpretative tools of psychoanalysis and phenomenology This diversity testifies to the vitality of current interest in the experience of beholding and the urgency of the challenge it poses to contemporary art historical practice

Touch Screen Tablets Touching Children's Lives Joanne Tarasuik, Gabrielle Strouse, Jordy Kaufman, 2018-02-28 Touch screen tablets have greatly expanded the technology accessible to preschoolers toddlers and even infants given that they do not require the fine motor skills required for using traditional computers Many parents and educators wish to make evidence based decisions regarding young children's technology use yet technological advancements continue to occur faster than researchers can keep up with Accordingly despite touch screen tablets entering society more than 5 years ago we are in the infancy of research concerning interactive media and children The topic has gained traction in the past couple of years For example theoretical papers have discussed how interactive media activities differ from physical toys and passive media Christakis 2014 and how educational apps development should utilise the four pillars of learning Hirsh Pasek et al 2015 Yet there has been little experimental research published on young children and touch screen use
