Backer, 1995 Spirits and Letters Thomas G. Kirsch, 2011 Studies of religion have a tendency to conceptualise the Spirit and the Letter as mutually exclusive and intrinsically antagonistic However the history of religions abounds in cases where charismatic leaders deliberately refer to and make use of writings This book challenges prevailing scholarly notions of the relationship between charisma and institution by analysing reading and writing practices in contemporary Christianity Taking up the continuing anthropological interest in Pentecostal charismatic Christianity and representing the first book length treatment of literacy practices among African Christians this volume explores how church leaders in Zambia refer to the Bible and other religious literature and how they organise a church bureaucracy in the Pentecostal charismatic mode Thus by examining social processes and conflicts that revolve around the conjunction of Pentecostal charismatic and literacy practices in Africa Spirits and Letters reconsiders influential conceptual dichotomies in the social sciences and the humanities and is therefore of interest not only to anthropologists but also to scholars working in the fields of African studies religious studies and the sociology of religion

Corruption and the Secret of Law Gerhard Anders, 2017-10-24 This volume presents an anthropological perspective on the hidden continuities between corruption and law The authors argue that the two opposites corruption and law are inextricably linked with the possibility of the former already inscribed into the latter Taking a critical stance towards the normative good governance agenda spearheaded by institutions such as Transparency International and the World Bank this volume argues that by uncritically depicting corruption as an absolute evil these anti corruption programs disregard the close relationship that exists between corruption and state power Addressing various aspects of a complex and ambivalent

Leviathans at the Gold Mine Alex Golub, 2014-02-03 Leviathans at the Gold Mine is an ethnographic account of the relationship between the Ipili an indigenous group in Papua New Guinea and the large international gold mine operating on their land It was not until 1939 that Australian territorial patrols reached the Ipili By 1990 the third largest gold mine on the planet was operating in their valley Alex Golub examines how the mine and the Ipili were brought into being in relation to one another and how certain individuals were authorized to speak for the mine and others to speak for the Ipili Considering the relative success of the Ipili in their negotiations with a multinational corporation Golub argues that a unique conjuncture of personal relationships and political circumstances created a propitious moment during which the dynamic and fluid nature of Ipili culture could be used to full advantage As that moment faded away social problems in the valley increased The Ipili now struggle with the extreme social dislocation brought about by the massive influx of migrants and money into their valley

Everyday Corruption and the State Giorgio Blundo, Jean-Pierre Olivier de Sardan, N. B. Arifari, M. T. Alou, 2013-04-04 Daily life in Africa is governed by the petty corruption of public officials in services such as health transport or the judicial system This remarkable study of everyday corruption in three African countries investigates the reasons for its extraordinary prevalence The authors construct an illuminating analytical framework around the various forms of corruption the corruptive strategies public officials resort to and how these forms and strategies have become embedded in daily administrative practices They investigate the roots of the system in the growing inability of weakened states in Africa to either reward their employees adequately or to deliver expected services They conclude that corruption in Africa today is qualitatively different from other parts of the world in its pervasiveness its legitimations and its huge impact on the nature of the state

Ginsburg, Lowenhaupt Tsing, 1992-08-31 No separate and extended discussion of lesbianism but some of the writers e.g. Ellen Lewin p 199 et seq are open to including lesbians in their discussions Again no index alas P Thorslev International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood, Judith Chapman, P. Corson, P. Hallinger, Ann Hart, 2012-12-06 EDITORS This introduction to the International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration describes some of the motivation for developing the book and several assumptions on which is based much of the work represented in its 31 chapters A synopsis of the contents of those chapters is also provided SOME KEY ASSUMPTIONS It is sometimes suggested that the search for an adequate understanding of leadership is doomed to fail After all there is little evidence of agreement about the concept in spite of prodigious efforts dating back hundreds if not thousands of years Such a view is captured for example in Bennis' observation that Of all the hazy and confounding areas in social psychology leadership theory undoubtedly contends for top nomination Probably more has been written and less is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioural sciences 1959 page 259 We do not find this state of affairs discouraging nor entirely accurate and of course it did not prevent Bennis from proceeding either One reason for our desire to continue in the face of such discouraging words is that a great deal of leadership research aspires to develop a general theory a theory which applies to all or most domains of organized human activity This aspiration inevitably produces decontextualized and therefore abstract categories of practice Howard Gardner's 1995 depiction of leadership as story telling is a case in point North Atlantic Maritime Cultures Raoul Andersen, 2011-06-15 No detailed description available for North Atlantic Maritime Cultures Into Our Own Hands Sandra Morgen, 2002 Recent history has witnessed a revolution in women's health care Beginning in the late 1960s women in communities across the United States challenged medical and male control over women's health Few people today realize the extent to which these grassroots efforts shifted power and responsibility from the medical establishment into women's hands as health care consumers providers and advocates Into Our Own Hands traces the women's health care movement in the United States Richly documented this study is based on more than a decade of research including interviews with leading activists documentary material from feminist health clinics and advocacy organizations a survey of women's health movement organizations in the early 1990s and ethnographic fieldwork Sandra Morgen focuses on the clinics born from this movement as well as how the movement's encounters with organized medicine the state and ascendant neoconservative and neoliberal political forces of the 1970s to the 1980s shaped the confrontations and accomplishments in women's health care The book also explores the impact of political struggles over race and class within the movement organizations The American Surveillance State David H. Price, 2022-11-01 When the possibility of wiretapping first became known to Americans they were outraged Now in our post 9/11 world it's accepted that corporations are vested with human rights and government agencies and corporations use computers to monitor our private lives David H Price pulls back the curtain to reveal how the FBI and other government agencies have always functioned as the secret police of American capitalism up to today where they luxuriate in a near limitless NSA surveillance of all Price looks through a roster of campaigns by law enforcement intelligence agencies and corporations to understand how we got here Starting with J Edgar Hoover and the early FBI s alignment with business his access to 15 000 pages of never before seen FBI files shines a light on the surveillance of Edward Said Andre Gunder Frank and Alexander Cockburn Native American communists and progressive factory owners Price uncovers patterns of FBI monitoring and harassing of activists and public figures providing the vital means for us to understanding how these new frightening surveillance operations are weaponised by powerful governmental agencies that remain largely shrouded in secrecy Among the Host of Heaven

Lowell K. Handy,1994 During the past two generations there have been many studies on the structure organization and function of the gods of the Levantine and ancient Near Eastern worlds In this important study Lowell Handy provides new directions for thinking on this crucial topic arguing that the structure of the pantheon worshiped in Syria Palestine mirrored the social structure of the city states in that region While many recent studies have investigated the relations of the gods in both biblical and extra biblical texts from the area Handy shows that the pantheon functioned as a bureaucracy This perspective may well be the primary key for understanding hierarchy among the gods
