Hospital of the Transfiguration Stanislaw Lem, 2020-02-18 An early realist novel by Stanislaw Lem taking place in a Polish psychiatric hospital during World War II Taking place within the confines of a psychiatric hospital Stanislaw Lem's The Hospital of the Transfiguration tells the story of a young doctor working in a Polish asylum during World War II At first the asylum seems like a bucolic refuge but a series of sinister encounters and incidents reveal an underlying brutality The doctor begins to seek relief in the strange conversation of the poet Sekulowski who is posing as a patient in a bid for safety from the occupying German forces Meanwhile Resistance fighters stockpile weapons in the surrounding woods A very early work by Lem The Hospital of the Transfiguration is partly autobiographical drawing on the author's experiences as a medical student Written in 1948 it was suppressed by Polish censors and not published until 1955 The censorship of this realist novel is partly what led Lem to focus on science fiction and nonfiction for the rest of his career

Suicide and Contemporary Science Fiction Carlos Guti rrez-Jones, 2015-03-16 Suicide and Contemporary Science Fiction examines the fascination with suicidal crises evident in a range of science fiction Carlos Guti rrez-Jones argues that the theme of creative self destruction is invoked by H G Wells as a means of negotiating Victorian anxieties regarding evolutionary theory by Stanislaw Lem as he wrestles with the prospect of nuclear self destruction at the dawn of the space age by William Gibson as he considers the development of artificial intelligence by Christopher Nolan as he explores the cybernetic colonization of the unconscious by Rian Johnson as he links aspects of video gaming to the neoliberal militarization of institutions and by Margaret Atwood as she considers impending ecological disaster and the rise of bioterrorism These authors often depict such scientific and technological changes in a fashion that requires the central characters to transform themselves in hopes of remaining relevant in a radically altered environment

Fictioning Namibia as a Space of Desire Renzo Baas, 2019-03-28 Modern day Namibian history has largely been shaped by three major eras German colonial rule South African apartheid occupation and the Liberation Struggle It was however not only military conquest that laid the cornerstone for the colony but also how the colony was imagined the dream of this colony As a tool of discursive worldmaking literature has played a major role in providing a framework in which to dream Namibia first from outside its borders and then from within In Fictioning Namibia as a Space of Desire Renzo Baas employs Henri Lefebvre's city countryside dialectic and reworks it in order to uncover how fictional texts played an integral part in the violent acquisition of a foreign territory Through the production of myths around whiteness German and South African authors designed a literary space in which control destruction and the dehumanisation of African peoples are understood as a natural order one that is dictated by history and its linear continuation These European texts are offset by Namibia's first novel by an African offering a counter narrative to the colonial invention that was German South West Africa

Europeanisation as violence Kolar Aparna, Daria Krivonos, Elisa Pascucci, 2025-01-21 The book offers a novel lens to situate Europeanisation as violence through institutions and technologies of development cultural heritage and borders among others by bringing South and East within a relational frame Through four inter related sections it foregrounds Europeanisation as infrastructural violence and colonial asymmetries slow violence and the construction of stratified subalternities epistemic dispossession and border epistemologies

The Invincible Stanislaw Lem, 2020-02-18 A space cruiser encounters beings descended from self replicating machines in this sci fi classic with echoes of H G Wells and Jules Verne A giant of mid 20th century science fiction in a league with Arthur C Clarke Isaac Asimov and Philip K Dick The New York Times Stanis aw Lem's The Invincible tells the story of a space cruiser sent to an obscure planet to determine the fate of a sister spaceship whose communication with Earth has abruptly ceased. Landing on the planet Regis III, navigator Rohan and his crew discover a form of life that has apparently evolved from autonomous self-replicating machines, perhaps the survivors of a robot war. Rohan and his men are forced to confront the classic quandary: what course of action can humanity take once it has reached the limits of its knowledge? Lem has his characters confront the inexplicable and the bizarre, the problem that lies just beyond analytical reach.

Return from the Stars Stanislaw Lem, 2020-02-18 An astronaut returns to Earth after a 10-year mission and finds a society that he barely recognizes in science fiction. In the novel by the Solaris author, whose works make our weary universe seem pale and undistinguished by comparison, The Washington Post Stanislaw Lem's Return from the Stars recounts the experiences of Hal Bregg, an astronaut who returns from an exploratory mission that lasted ten years, although because of time dilation, 127 years have passed on Earth. Bregg finds a society that he hardly recognizes in which danger has been eradicated. Children are betritized to remove all aggression and violence, a process that also removes all impulse to take risks and explore. The people of Earth view Bregg and his crew as resuscitated Neanderthals and pressure them to undergo betritization. Bregg has serious difficulty in navigating the new social mores. While Lem's depiction of a risk-free society is bleak, he does not portray Bregg and his fellow astronauts as heroes. Indeed, faced with no opposition to his aggression, Bregg behaves abominably. He is faced with a choice: leave Earth again and hope to return to a different society in several hundred years, or stay on Earth and learn to be content. With Return from the Stars, Lem shows the shifting boundaries between utopia and dystopia.

The Cyberiad Stanislaw Lem, 2002 Trurl and Klaupacius are constructor robots who try to out-invent each other. They travel to the far corners of the cosmos to take on freelance problem-solving jobs with dire consequences for their employers. The most completely successful of his books here, Lem comes closest to inventing a real universe. Boston Globe

Translated by Michael Kandel Critical Survey of Long Fiction: Oscar Hijuelos-Patrick McGinley, 2000

Holocaust and the Stars Agnieszka Gajewska, 2021-11-29 This book is a groundbreaking study of one of the greatest science fiction writers, the Polish master Stanislaw Lem. It offers a new direction in research on his oeuvre and corrects several errors commonly appearing in his biographies. The author painstakingly recreates the context of Lem's early life and his traumatic experiences during the Second World War due to his Jewish background and then traces these through original and brilliant readings of his fiction and non-fiction. She considers language, worldbuilding, themes, motifs, and characterization, as well as many buried allusions to the Holocaust in Lem's published and archival work and uses these fragments to capture a different side of Lem than previously known. The book discusses various issues concerning the writer's life, such as his upbringing in a Jewish Zionist-minded family, the extensive relations between the Lem family and the elite of Lviv at that time, details of the Lem family killed during the German occupation, and attempts to reconstruct what happened to Lem's parents and to the writer himself after escaping the ghetto. Part of the Studies in Global Genre Fiction series, this English translation of the Polish original which has already been considered a milestone in Lem studies offers a fresh perspective on the writer and his work

It will be an important intervention for scholars and researchers of Jewish studies Holocaust literature science fiction studies
