faculty staff and students Studies of the roles and responsibilities of chairs consistently show that the role is ambiguous unclear in authority and difficult to classify as faculty or administrator The tradition of faculty ownership dictates that chair leadership must emphasize empowering activities The most effective use of political influence and power understands the political forces and processes of the institution and maneuvers groups and coalitions to achieve the autonomy and control necessary to a strong department Faculty evaluation provides a chair with a powerful opportunity for developing quality In addition the chair must recognize how institutional type history and culture model of governance and discipline can influence what is expected In the coming years chairs will need a program of professional development on many fronts to acquire the skills to address the complex challenges they will face Contains over 200 references JB College & Research Libraries News ,1988-07 An Application of Individualized Leadership Theory to Higher Education Department Heads Jane Alyce Kaczkowski Carlson,2001 Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R.
