Hortus Conclusus:

The Enclosed Garden Rob Aben, Saskia de Wit, 1999 Gardens and the Passion for the Infinite Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2013-06-29 What essentially is a garden Is it a small plot of land that we put aside to cultivate our favourite vegetables or to grow flowers for our personal enjoyment Or is it a symbol a mirror a reflection of our human passions Within the context of phenomenology onto-poiesis of life we find the significance of the garden inscribed within the web of the Human Condition creatively unfurling its form from the vital basis to its loftiest swings of the period The aesthetic synthesis of our passions is carried by the logoic promise of life its infinite renewal and infinite response The topic of the present volume is the mysterious ways in which Imaginatio Creatrix plays within the human ingrownness in natural life transposing dreams nostalgias and enchantments

Figuring the Feminine Jill Ross, 2008-01-01 Figuring the Feminine examines the female body as a means of articulating questions of literary authority and practice within the cultural spheres of the Iberian Peninsula both Romance and Semitic as well as in the larger Latinate literary culture It demonstrates the centrality in medieval literary culture of the gendering of rhetorical and hermeneutical acts involved in the creation of texts and meaning and the importance of the medieval Iberian textual tradition in this process a complex multicultural tradition that is often overlooked in medieval literary scholarship This study adopts an innovative methodology informed by current theories of the body and gender to approach Hispanic literature from a feminist perspective Jill Ross offers new readings of medieval Hispanic texts Latin Castilian and Hebrew including Prudentius Peristephanon Gonzalo de Berceo's Milagros de Nuestra Señora Shem Tov of Carrión's Battle Between the Pen and the Scissors and several others She highlights ways in which these texts contribute to the understanding of gender in medieval poetics and foreground questions of literary and cultural import Figuring the Feminine argues that the bodies of women are crucial to the working out of such questions as the unsettling shift from orality to literacy textual instability cultural dissonance and the resistance to cultural and religious hegemony

The Voice of My Beloved E. Ann Matter, 1990 The Song of Songs eight chapters of love lyrics found in the collection of wisdom literature attributed to Solomon is the most enigmatic book of the Bible Whether this is because or in spite of its cryptic nature depends on one's perspective the Song of Songs tells no sacred history gives no clear prophetic or theological revelation and does not even mention God Yet for thousands of years Jews and Christians alike have preserved it in the canon of scripture and used it in liturgy Exegetes saw it as a central text for allegorical interpretation and so the Song of Songs exerted an enormous

Garden Matteo Vercelloni, Virgilio Vercelloni, Paola Gallo, 2010 The authors trace the evolution of the Western garden from the first plots cultivated for pleasure in the Middle East to today's diverse green spaces that challenge traditional ideas about what constitutes a garden They examine the changing attitude toward nature as something to be dominated or embraced ordered or allowed to range freely exploited or conserved Examples of the highly prescribed hortus conclusus or enclosed spaces of the Middle Ages are found in the Italian Renaissance gardens and the symmetries of Versailles and Les Tuileries After the rise of Romanticism in the late eighteenth century English gardeners such as William Kent and Capability Brown embraced the concept that nature should prevail over man's manipulation of it and created gardens that broke through traditional enclosures A century later while the American West witnessed both the conquering spirit of the homesteaders and the first stirrings of the conservation movement urban parks and gardens were created as oases to which all people had access The book concludes with a look at contemporary gardens where efforts to reclaim landscapes and repurpose crumbling infrastructure are taking place within an atmosphere of ecological sensitivity appreciating the idea that the whole planet is a garden and all who live in it are gardeners

Embroidered Stories Edvige Giunta, Joseph Sciorra, 2014-07-29 For Italian immigrants and their descendants needlework represents a marker of identity a cultural touchstone as powerful as pasta and Neapolitan music Out of the artifacts of their memory and imagination Italian immigrants and their descendants used embroidering sewing knitting and crocheting to help define who they were and who they have become This book is an interdisciplinary collection of creative work by authors of Italian origin and academic essays The creative works from thirty seven contributors include memoir poetry and visual arts while the collection as a whole explores a multitude of experiences about and approaches to needlework and immigration from a transnational perspective spanning the late nineteenth century to the late twentieth century At the center of the book over thirty illustrations represent Italian immigrant women s needlework The text reveals the many processes by which a simple object or even the memory of that object becomes something else through literary visual performance ethnographic or critical reimagining While primarily concerned with interpretations of needlework rather than the needlework itself the editors and contributors to Embroidered Stories remain mindful of its history and its associated cultural values which Italian immigrants brought with them to the United States Canada Australia and Argentina and passed on to their descendants
