House with Wisteria Halide Edib, 2017-07-12 This edition of Halide Edib Adivar's Memoirs prefaced with Sibel Erol's excellent introduction is important and timely When stereotypes of women in the Muslim world abound Halide's memoirs remind us of the courage and dedication of foremothers who struggled for emancipation at both personal and national levels These memoirs open a window on the search for personal expression of a woman caught up in the oppressive dynamics of her polygamous households parental and marital and the travails of national liberation and nation building in Turkey in which she played an active role Halide speaks to us with an urgency which now cries out to be heard more than ever Halide Edib's memoirs are indispensable reading for anyone interested in the history of childhood and education in the late Ottoman Empire Edib worked to spread public education instituting schools in Istanbul and in the Arab provinces during World War I Her account is vibrant and direct offering an excellent witness to this critical period during which the Empire collapsed Halide Edib lived through the most turbulent times in modern Turkish history Most unusually for a woman of her day she did so not only as an eyewitness but as an active political participant She was on close personal terms with powerful leaders such as Talat Pasha and Atatürk but retained a critical and independent mind All this gives her memoirs their unique character The book provides new light on the Ottoman Empire and the Turkish nation

Self-Translation and Power Olga Castro, Sergi Mainer, Svetlana Pavey, 2017-08-07 This book investigates the political social cultural and economic implications of self translation in multilingual spaces in Europe Engaging with the power turn in translation studies contexts it offers innovative perspectives on the role of self translators as cultural and ideological mediators The authors explore the unequal power relations and centre periphery dichotomies of Europe's minorised languages literatures and cultures They recognise that the self translator's double affiliation as author and translator places them in a privileged position to challenge power to negotiate the experiences of the subaltern and colonised and to scrutinise conflicting minorised vs hegemonic cultural identities Three main themes are explored in relation to self translation hegemony and resistance self minorisation and self censorship and collaboration hybridisation and invisibility This edited collection will appeal to scholars and students working on translation transnational and postcolonial studies and multilingual and multicultural identities

Gandhi at First Sight Thomas Weber, 2015-01-05 Meeting the Mahatma was a special moment for most of the people who captured it later in memorable prose Gandhi at First Sight is a collection of such heartfelt moments of people from Sarojini Naidu to Katherine Mayo and from Romain Rolland to Charlie Chaplin of an experience that was profound and sometimes even life changing In Gandhi at First Sight Tom Weber has executed a simple yet brilliant concept with a masterly touch an impressive understanding of the varied individuals whose first impressions of Gandhi he has included and an enriching introduction Rajmohan Gandhi Weber shows with an astonishing array of first meeting accounts precisely how Gandhi forged relationships from the beginning by making indelible initial impressions This book brings us incomparably closer to comprehending Gandhi's extraordinary personal power Dennis Dalton Columbia University New York Thomas Weber brings to life the memories of meetings These firstperson autobiographical accounts provide glimpses of the private world of friendship of being a disciple and a pathfinder Tridip Suhrud Director Sabarmati Ashram Preservation Memorial Trust With Gandhi gone two thirds of a century we have been in danger of losing touch with a man who was the most intriguing figure of his time Now however we have these unique accounts of encounters with him that allow Gandhi to reach across the decades with a message that endures through time Charles DiSalvo West Virginia University West Virginia

Turks Across Empires James H. Meyer, 2019-07-18 Turks Across Empires tells the story of the pan Turkists Muslim activists from Russia who gained international notoriety during the Young Turk era of Ottoman history Yusuf Ak ura Ismail Gasprinskii and Ahmet Agaoglu are today remembered as the forefathers of Turkish nationalism but in the decade preceding the First World War they were known among bureaucrats journalists and government officials in Russia and Europe as dangerous Muslim radicals This volume traces the lives and undertakings of the pan Turkists in the Russian and Ottoman empires examining the ways in which these individuals formed a part of some of the most important developments to take place in the late imperial era James H Meyer draws upon a vast array of sources including personal letters Russian and Ottoman state archival documents and published materials to recapture the trans imperial worlds of the pan Turkists Through his exploration of the lives of Ak ura Gasprinskii and Agaoglu Meyer analyzes the bigger changes taking place in the imperial capitals of Istanbul and St Petersburg as well as on the ground in central Russia Crimea and the Caucasus Turks Across Empires focuses especially upon three developments occurring in the final decades of empire an explosion in human mobility across borders the outbreak of a wave of revolutions in Russia and the Middle East and the emergence of deeply politicized forms of religious and national identity As these are also important characteristics of the post Cold War era argues Meyer the events surrounding the pan Turkists provide valuable lessons regarding the nature of present day international and cross cultural geopolitics

Revolution and Constitutionalism in the Ottoman Empire and Iran Nader Sohrabi, 2011-10-31 In his book on constitutional revolutions in the Ottoman Empire and Iran in the early twentieth century Nader Sohrabi considers the global diffusion of institutions and ideas their regional and local reworking and the long term consequences of adaptations He delves into historic reasons for greater resilience of democratic institutions in Turkey as compared to Iran Arguing that revolutions are time bound phenomena whose forms follow global models in vogue at particular historical junctures he challenges the ahistoric and purely local understanding of them Furthermore he argues that macro structural preconditions alone cannot explain the occurrence of revolutions but global waves contingent events and the intervention of agency work together to bring them about in competition with other possible outcomes To establish these points the book draws on a wide array of archival and primary sources that afford a minute look at revolutions unfolding

Approaches to Teaching the Works of Orhan Pamuk Sevinç Türkkan, David Damrosch, 2017-10-01 Winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2006 Orhan Pamuk is Turkey's preeminent novelist and an internationally recognized figure of letters Influenced by both Turkish and European literature his works interrogate problems of modernity and of East and West in the Turkish context and incorporate the Ottoman legacy linguistically and thematically The stylistic and thematic aspects of his novels his intriguing use of intertextual elements and his characters metatextual commentaries make his work rewarding in courses on world literature and on the postmodern novel Pamuk's nonfiction writings extend his themes of memory loss personal and political histories and the craft of the novel Part 1 Materials provides biographical background and introduces instructors to translations and critical scholarship that will elucidate Pamuk's works In part 2 Approaches essays cover topics that support teachers in a range of classrooms including Pamuk's use of the Turkish language the political background to Pamuk's novels the politics of translation and aesthetics and Pamuk's works as world literature In The Country of Gold-digging Ants Anu Kumar,2009-02-20 Do you think Indian history is boring Check out what these ancient reporters had to say about our country many centuries ago In his book Indika Megasthenes a Greek traveller wrote about giant meat eating ants that dug for gold in mines somewhere in eastern India Hiuen Tsang from China was witness to an assassination attempt on King Harshavardhana at a religious gathering The Venetian Marco Polo described how the people of Kashmir could use charms to change the weather and bring about darkness Athanasius Nikitin from Russia was amazed by the sultan of Bidar who went hunting accompanied by 10 000 men on horseback 50 000 on foot 200 elephants 100 dancers 300 horses 100 monkeys and 100 concubines Read astonishing stories about India written by explorers who came to the country as pilgrims students traders voyagers and fortune seekers from the 3rd century BC till the mid twentieth century These visitors left behind fascinating accounts of their perilous journeys in an unknown land descriptions of what the people ate wore and thought who ruled them and how the strange animals of this land and many more startling facts which are often the only written historical records of those times Filled with incredible stories and nuggets of information In the Country of Gold digging Ants brings alive the exciting adventures of eleven intrepid men and women and may just make history your most favourite subject

Memoirs of Halidé Edib Halide Edib Adivar,1926 The Charity of War Melanie S Tanielian,2017-11-14 A captivating account of the starvation and disease that wracked far from the front Beirut during WWI and the relief efforts that followed Middle East Journal With the exception of a few targeted aerial bombardments of the city's port Beirut and Mount Lebanon did not see direct combat in World War I Yet civilian casualties in this part of the Ottoman Empire reached shocking heights possibly numbering half a million people No war in its usual understanding took place there but Lebanon was incontestably war stricken As a food crisis escalated into famine it was the bloodless incursion of starvation and the silent assault of fatal disease that defined everyday life The Charity of War tells how the Ottoman home front grappled with total war and how it sought to mitigate starvation and sickness through relief activities Melanie S Tanielian examines the wartime famine's reverberations throughout the community in Beirut's municipal institutions in its philanthropic and religious organizations in international agencies and in the homes of the city's residents Her local history reveals a dynamic politics of provisioning that was central to civilian experiences in the war as well as to the Middle Eastern political landscape that emerged post war By tracing these responses to the conflict she demonstrates World War I's immediacy far from the European trenches in a place where war was a socio economic and political process rather than a military event A History of the World with the Women Put Back In Kerstin Lücker,Ute Daenschel,2019-09-16 Who says that daughters cannot be heroic Once upon a time history was written by men for men and about men Women were deemed less important their letters destroyed their stories ignored Not any more This is the story of women who went to war women who stopped war and women who stayed at home The rulers The fighters The activists The writers This is the story of Wu Zetian who as Chinese Emperor helped to spread Buddhism in China This is the story of Genghis Khan s powerful daughters who ruled his empire for him This is the story of Christine de Pizan one of the earliest feminist writers This is the story of Victoria Woodhull who ran for president before she could even vote for one This is the story of the world with the women put back in Spiritual Subjects Lale

Can,2020-03-10 At the turn of the twentieth century thousands of Central Asians made the annual pilgrimage to Mecca Traveling long distances many lived for extended periods in Ottoman cities dotting the routes Though technically foreigners these Muslim colonial subjects often blurred the lines between pilgrims and migrants Not quite Ottoman and not quite foreign Central Asians became the sultan s spiritual subjects Their status was continually negotiated by Ottoman statesmen as attempts to exclude foreign Muslim nationals from the body politic were compromised by a changing international legal order and the caliphate s ecumenical claims Spiritual Subjects examines the paradoxes of nationality reform and pan Islamic politics in late Ottoman history L le Can unravels how imperial belonging was wrapped up in deeply symbolic instantiations of religion as well as prosaic acts and experiences that paved the way to integration into Ottoman communities A complex system of belonging emerged one where it was possible for a Muslim to be both by law a foreigner and a subject of the Ottoman sultan caliph This panoramic story informs broader transregional and global developments with important implications for how we make sense of subjecthood in the last Muslim empire and the legacy of religion in the Turkish Republic Subversives and Mavericks in the Muslim Mediterranean Odile Moreau,Stuart Schaar,2016-12-13

Subaltern studies the study of non elite or underrepresented people have revolutionized the writing of Middle Eastern history Subversives and Mavericks in the Muslim Mediterranean represents the next step in this transformation The book explores the lives of eleven nonconformists who became agents of political and social change actively organizing new forms of resistance against either colonial European regimes or the traditional societies in which they lived that disrupted the status quo in some cases with dramatic results These case studies highlight cross border connections in the Mediterranean world exploring how these channels were navigated Chapters in the book examine the lives of subversives and mavericks such as Tawhida ben Shaykh the first Arab woman to receive a medical degree Mokhtar al Ayari a radical Tunisian labor leader Nazli Hanem Kmar Bayya and Khiriya bin Ayyad three aristocratic women who resisted the patriarchal structures of their societies by organizing and participating in intellectual salons for men and women and advocating social reform Qaid Najim al Akhsassi an ex slave and military officer who fought against French and Spanish colonial expansion and Boubeker al Ghandjawi a nearly illiterate trader who succeeded through his diverse connections in establishing important relations between the Moroccan sultan and the representative of the British government Although based on individual and local perspectives Subversives and Mavericks in the Muslim Mediterranean reveals new and unrecognized trans local connections across the Muslim world illuminating our understanding of these societies beyond narrow elite circles Ottoman Brothers Michelle Campos,2011 Ottoman Brothers explores Ottoman collective identity tracing how Muslims Christians and Jews became imperial citizens together in Palestine following the 1908 revolution Turkey Christine M. Philliou,2021-03-16 From its earliest days the dominant history of the Turkish Republic has been one of national self determination and secular democratic modernization The story insisted on total rupture between the Ottoman Empire and the modern Turkish state and on the absolute unity of the Turkish nation In recent years this hermetic division has begun to erode but as the old consensus collapses new histories and accounts of political authority have been slow to take its place In this richly detailed alternative history Christine M Philliou focuses on the notion of political opposition and dissent muhalefet to connect the Ottoman and Turkish periods Taking the perennial dissident Refik Halid Karay as a subject guide and interlocutor she traces the fissures within the Ottoman and the modern Turkish elite that bridged the transition Exploring Karay s political and literary writings across four regimes and two stints in exile Philliou upends the official history of Turkey and offers new dimensions to our understanding of its political authority and culture French Mediterraneans Patricia M. E. Lorcin,Todd Shepard,2016-05-01 Collection of essays that explore the French presence in the 19th and 20th century making of the Mediterranean Provided by publisher Urban Muslim Migrants in Istanbul Frances Trix,2016-10-26 Some fled following World War II and travelled east by train to Istanbul with no more than a suitcase And yet 50 years later one of their migrant associations was second only to the Red Crescent in providing aid to the urban poor of Istanbul Frances Trix analyses the development of the oldest such association originally founded to welcome new migrants as they arrived from Skopje after World War II and shows how Islam is central to its structure and practices Her wide ranging study variously focuses on its leadership the growing role of women in the organisation and the importance of music and poetry in coping with exile In so doing she raises wider questions concerning the preservation and articulation of identity amongst migrant communities Urban Muslim Migrants in Istanbul is a rare ethnography of an Islamic urban group based on extensive archival research and interviews in various languages across Istanbul Skopje and Kosovo Trix s unique approach brings a human element to the study of forced migration conflict and trauma and it is an important book for academics and policymakers interested in the Balkans the Middle East Turkey and migration studies Imperial Resilience Hasan Kayali,2021-10-26 Imperial Resilience tells the story of the enduring Ottoman landscape of the modern Middle East s formative years from the end of the First World War in 1918 to the conclusion of the peace settlement for the empire in 1923 Hasan Kayali moves beyond both the well known role that the First World War s victors played in reshaping the region s map and institutions and the strains of ethnonationalism in the empire s Long War Instead Kayali crucially uncovers local actors searches for geopolitical solutions and concomitant collective identities based on Islamic commonality Instead of the certainties of the nation states that emerged in the wake of the belated peace treaty of 1923 we see how the Ottoman Empire remained central in the mindset of leaders and popular groups with long lasting consequences
