Dynamics of Housing in East Asia Bertrand Renaud, Kyung-Hwan Kim, Man Cho, 2016-03-03 This book is the first to evaluate the organisation behaviour and performance of six major East Asian real estate markets It offers a unique analysis of the growth and transformation of the real estate sector across East Asia The authors examine the interactions between volatility in the sector and the overall stability of the economy in particular during the Asia financial crisis of 1997 98 and the global financial crisis of 2008 09 draws on the best available theoretical and empirical literature applies analytic tools in the context of East Asian institutions and policies helps understand factors affecting resilience and stability in East Asian real estate markets Housing and Society, 2005 The Routledge Handbook of Housing and Welfare Martin Grander, Mark Stephens, 2023-12-22 This handbook takes on one of the most pressing issues of today s society the question of housing It is a cutting edge edited volume about the disputed interrelationship between housing and the wider welfare state Although housing scholars generally agree that housing should be regarded as part of such a wider welfare system it has proven hard to pinpoint and operationalize its position within it Moreover the relationship became considerably more complex as a result of the period of intense globalization and the integration of national housing finance systems into world finance markets Furthermore welfare systems reflect economic as well as social models and these too have changed as countries have responded to globalization and traditional ideological frameworks have become less distinct Thus there is a need to redefine the connection between housing and welfare in light of changes in both welfare and housing systems By investigating the current situation and historical development of housing provision and welfare distribution in different contexts worldwide this book aims to contribute to an expanded understanding of housing and welfare The book brings together 25 international housing researchers covering 15 countries worldwide With such a global approach the book aims to provide an updated empirical picture and analysis of different housing systems and their connection to the welfare regime in different national contexts The book moves beyond the usual focus on affordable housing provision in the context of well developed welfare regimes and includes countries from the global south incorporating regions where it is debatable whether there are welfare systems present at all Thus the book aims to provide the reader with an insight into the large differences in housing provision in international contexts with large differences regarding how the welfare state is comprised From these insights we reflect on whether regime approaches continue to provide a suitable theoretical framework for understanding the relationship between housing and the wider welfare state This handbook is essential reading for researchers students policymakers and other professionals in the fields of housing studies welfare studies economics urban studies social work social and public policy and sociology

Repositioning the Hong Kong Government Stephen Wing Kai Chiu, 2012-04-01 The relationship between government and society in Hong Kong has become an intensely debated topic as the complexities of governance grow and the old strategies of consensus building without genuine public participation fail to satisfy Increasingly interventionist yet lacking democratic credentials the Hong Kong SAR government finds itself more and more limited in its capacity to implement policies and less able to rely on traditional allies A society dissatisfied with old forms of governance has become ever more ready to mobilize itself outside of the formal political structures This collection of studies by leading scholars examines the Hong Kong government's efforts to reposition itself in the economy and society under the pressures of globalization economic and political restructuring and the rise of the civil society Drawing on changing theoretical conceptions of state market and citizenship and on comparisons with other Asian economies Repositioning the Hong Kong Government offers new interpretations of the problems of governance in Hong Kong and puts forward positive suggestions for resolving them
