Housing Associations And Housing Policy A Historical Perspective:

Housing Associations and Housing Policy Peter Malpass, 2000      A History of Doughty's Hospital, Norwich, 1687-2009 Nigel Goose, Leanne Moden, 2010 Based on primary resources and interviews with current residents and recent trustees this well researched history traces the growth and progress of Doughty's Hospital an almshouse in Norwich England while examining the various philanthropic initiatives and social policies in Britain as a whole From the hospital's foundation at the bequest of the departed William Doughty in 1687 to its present condition this record considers key aspects of the hospital's development including its residents staff financial management and rules and regulations With chapters on the 18th 19th and 20th centuries this account makes a valuable contribution to the history of social welfare      Research Handbook on Housing, the Home and Society Keith Jacobs, Kathleen Flanagan, Jacqueline De Vries, Emma MacDonald, 2024-08-06 This dynamic Research Handbook explores key perspectives topics and methodologies used to understand housing the home and society Pairing social theory with a broad range of case studies from the Global North and South it offers a unique insight into the field      Home and International Law Henrietta Zeffert, 2024-03-26 This book is about home and international law More specifically it is about the profound and frequently devastating transformations of home that are happening almost everywhere in the world today and what international law has to do with them Through three stories of home the desert home the lake home and the city home this book traces how the everyday operations of international law shape the material affective and imaginative experience of home It argues that international law's homemaking work is characterised by acts of domination practices of resistance and the production of unhomely spaces However the book also considers whether and how the liberatory potential of international law could be unlocked through the metaphor of home This book draws from fieldwork conducted by the author in Palestine Cambodia and the United Kingdom It takes a global socio legal approach to home and international law informed by feminist political theory feminist geography home studies and contemporary critical approaches to international law It is the first academic work to examine the relationship between home and international law This book's global socio legal approach to home and international law will be of interest to those teaching and studying in international law socio legal studies legal pluralism and legal geography      Let's Build the Houses - Quick! ,      Governing Post-War Britain Glen O'Hara, 2012-04-11 Glen O'Hara draws a compelling picture of Second World War Britain by investigating relations between people and government the electorate's rising expectations and demands for universally available social services the increasing complexity of the new solutions to these needs and mounting frustration with both among both governors and governed      Ownership, Narrative, Things Dave Cowan, Helen Carr, Alison Wallace, 2018-05-09 This book uses a case study of a low cost home ownership initiative at the margins of renting and owning provided by social landlords known as shared ownership to challenge everyday assumptions held about the social and the legal in property The authors provide a study of the construction of property ownership from the creation of this idea through to the present day and offer a fresh consideration of key issues surrounding property ownership and the social. Analysing a diverse range of sources from archives to micro blogs observation of housing providers and interviews with shared owners the authors explain the significance of the things from the formal documents like leases to odd materials like sweet wrappers and cigarette butts commonly found in the narratives around shared ownership which are used to construct it as private ownership in everyday life. Ultimately they uncover how this dream of ownership can become tarnished when people's identities as owners come under threat and as such these findings will provide fascinating insight into the intricacies of so called home ownership for scholars of Law Criminology and Sociology.

Regenerating London

Rob Imrie, Loretta Lees, Mike Raco, 2009-01-13 Regenerating London explores latest thinking on urban regeneration in one of the fastest changing world cities. Engaging with social economic and political structures of cities it highlights paradoxes and contradictions in urban policy and offers an evaluation of the contemporary forms of urban redevelopment.

Dolphin

Square Terry Gourvish, Terence Richard Gourvish, 2014-09-25 Dolphin Square the large imposing red brick building on the North bank of the Thames was and is no ordinary block of flats. Created for MPs peers and entertainers required to work in London the Square was built on a massive scale to a high density in the mid 1930s. It was a pioneering example of concrete design and when built was the largest single residential building in Europe. This book tells the story of the project and captures what it has been like to live in the square for figures including Sir Menzies Campbell Alistair Darling William Hague Mo Mowlam Sir David Steel Christine Keeler Sid James Barbara Windsor and Princess Anne. Beginning with the antecedents of the seven acre site the book charts the square's changing ownership and eventual creation of the Dolphin Square Trust which managed the flats on a non profit making basis for 40 years. Its unique blend of quasi charitable purpose and commercial management enabled long standing tenants to enjoy below market rentals before the Trust came under immense pressure to realise the value of the existing leases and sell them off in 2006. This provides a detailed examination of a major example of urban property speculation and management. Publisher's description.

Dialogues in Urban Planning

Tony Gilmour, Edward J. Blakely, Rafael E. Pizarro, 2008-12-10 In an age when the buzzword is sustainability why do we continue to build unsustainable cities and regions? Are there alternatives to car clogged streets sterile suburban McMansions and a degraded natural environment? This book brings planners back to the centre of the debate. It shows that sustainability can no longer just apply to the sub field of planning called environmental planning but has to permeate all aspects housing economic development transport regional coordination and urban design. Showcasing cutting edge research from academics and doctoral research candidates at the University of Sydney this latest edition of the Dialogues in Urban Planning series is recommended reading for professional planners students and policy makers. We need to find a way to make our regions sustainable for this generation and for generations to come.

Explaining local government J. A. Chandler, 2013-07-19

Explaining local government available at last in paperback uniquely presents a history of local government in Britain from

1800 until the present day The study explains how the institution evolved from a structure that appeared to be relatively free from central government interference to as John Prescott observes one of the most centralised systems of government in the Western world The book is accessible to A level and undergraduate students as an introduction to the development of local government in Britain but also balances values and political practice to provide a unique explanation using primary research of the evolution of the system      Where the Other Half Lives Sarah Glynn,2009-05-20 Housing has become a hot topic

The media is filled with stories of individual housing hardship and of major property related financial crises of crippling personal debts rundown social housing homelessness mass demolition spiralling prices unaffordability and global recession This book links all of these through a radical analysis that puts housing at the heart of critical economic and political debate The authors show that these problems arise from the fact that houses are no longer seen primarily as homes for living in but rather as a source of profit Case studies from the UK the US and other western countries are set into a overview of how housing has changed over the last few decades The book also examines campaigns for better housing and explores possibilities for a different approach to this most fundamental of human needs      Community, Conflict and the State C.

Cooper,2008-09-24 Community safety is a narrowly defined concept that allows states to ignore arguably more serious threats caused by pro market policies and the actions of major corporations This book redresses the idea of what constitutes a social harm and outlines a new policy agenda      Promoting Property Penny Norton,Liz Male,2020-04-08 This book explores the wide ranging elements of property PR in the UK with a strong emphasis on communications theory strategy and technique The editors begin with an introduction to the property cycle and the role of property PR within it consideration of the changes and challenges facing the industry various structures of property communications and the need for a strategic approach Subsequent chapters provide perspectives and lessons from contributors in a variety of property sectors including commercial property estate agency social housing property consultancy proptech retail and homebuilding The book concludes with insight into future change both for the property industry and for the communication function within it This book is recommended reading for all property PR teams for students studying for property PR or marketing degrees and for anyone working in the built environment sector who needs to consider PR and marketing as part of their role      The

The Consequences of Brazilian Social Movements in Historical Perspective Valesca Lima,Rafaela N. Pannain,Gabriela Pereira Martins,2022-08-26 This book sheds light on the outcomes of social movements in Brazil It provides an extensive analysis of how and when collective mobilization and protest activities brought about social and political change Charting the dynamics and characteristics of Brazil's social movements from the abolition of slavery in 1888 to the present day the contributors to this edited volume demonstrate the processes of social movement activism in Brazil and its relations with political institutions across various types of governments and political regimes. They bring to light both political opportunity structures of different historical periods and the political and cultural consequences of mobilization stemming from the collective action of social movements. Showcasing various approaches, the book encompasses a plurality of methodological perspectives including network analysis, collective memory, trajectories, and quantitative techniques of process analysis. Ultimately, the authors present new empirical evidence about social movement outcomes in Brazil, including the mobilization for housing rights, institutionalization processes in a re-democratized society, the effects of anti-dictatorship movements on activists, transformations of political agendas, and the diffusion of social protests. Interdisciplinary at its core and highly engaging, The Consequences of Brazilian Social Movements in Historical Perspective offers essential reading on social movement studies to academics, activists, and students.
