Roth,2014-10-15 From an eye for an eye to debates over capital punishment humanity has a long and controversial relationship with doling out justice for criminal acts Today crime and punishment remain significant parts of our culture but societies vary greatly on what is considered criminal and how it should be punished In this global survey of crime and punishment throughout history Mitchel P Roth examines how and why we penalize certain activities and he scrutinizes the effectiveness of such efforts in both punishing wrongdoers and bringing a sense of justice to victims Drawing on anthropology archaeology folklore and literature Roth chronicles the global history of crime and punishment from early civilizations to the outlawing of sex crimes and serial homicide to the development of organized crime and the threat today of global piracy He explores the birth of the penitentiary and the practice of incarceration as well as the modern philosophy of rehabilitation arguing that these are perhaps the most important advances in the effort to safeguard citizens from harm Looking closely at the retributions societies have condoned Roth also look at execution and its many forms showing how stoning hemlock the firing squad and lethal injection are considered either barbaric or justified across different cultures Ultimately he illustrates that despite advances in every level of human experience there is remarkable continuity in what is considered a crime and the sanctions administered Perfect for students academics and general readers alike this interdisciplinary book provides a fascinating look at criminality and its consequences Chambers's Encyclopædia ,1888 Chamber's Encyclopaedia ,1886 The American Masonic Register ,1842 A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles Bradley,James Augustus Henry Murray,Murray,1914 Fanny Fitz-York Ann Ryley,1818 The Idea of Europe in British Travel Narratives, 1789-1914 Katarina Gephardt,2016-03-03 The nineteenth century was the heyday of travel with Britons continually reassessing their own culture in relation to not only the colonized but also other Europeans especially the ones that they encountered on the southern and eastern peripheries of the continent Offering illustrative case studies Katarina Gephardt shows how specific rhetorical strategies used in contemporary travel writing produced popular fictional representations of continental Europe in the works of Ann Radcliffe Lord Byron Charles Dickens and Bram Stoker She examines a wide range of autobiographical and fictional travel narratives to demonstrate that the imaginative geographies underpinning British ideas of Europe emerged from the spaces between fact and fiction Adding texture to her study are her analyses of the visual dimensions of cross cultural representation and of the role of evolving technologies in defining a shared set of rhetorical strategies Gephardt argues that British writers envisioned their country simultaneously as distinct from the Continent and as a part of Europe anticipating the contradictory British discourse around European integration that involves both fear that the European super state will violate British sovereignty and a desire to play a more central role in the European Union
