Disability in the Global Sport Arena Jill M. Le Clair, 2013-09-13 Sport is often at the centre of battles for rights to inclusion linked to class race and gender and this book explores struggles centred on disability in different cultural settings in Europe North America Africa Asia and Oceania It challenges oversights and assumptions about the normal body and describes how individual and organizational transformations can occur through sport The abilities of a person are recognised and placed centre stage instead of the individual being forgotten excluded or placed at the margins simply because they have a disability National regional and global change is part of the shift to the rights based approach reflected in the 2006 UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Making sport inclusive affects the accessibility of facilities funding the media policies programs organisations sponsors and spectators and at the same time changes the cultural values of the wider society It also raises issues about competition access and eligibility for different and technologically enhanced cyborg bodies and for those most socially disadvantaged Addressing these questions which ultimately touch on the real meaning of sport can lead to profound changes in people s attitudes and how sport is organized locally and globally Growth in the influential global organisations of the Paralympic Games Special Olympics and Deaflympics is examined as is the approach to disability in sport in both advantaged and resource poor countries The embodied lives of persons with disabilities are explored utilizing new theoretical models perspectives and approaches This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society The J. Hillis Miller Reader Joseph Hillis Miller, Julian Wolfreys, 2005

This anthology exhibits the diversity inventiveness and intellectual energy of the writings of J Hillis Miller the most significant North American literary critic of the twentieth century From the 1950s onward Miller has made invaluable contributions to our understanding of the practice and theory of literary criticism the ethics and responsibilities of teaching and reading and the role of literature in the modern world He has also shown successive generations of scholars and students the necessity of comprehending the relationship between philosophy and literature Divided into six sections the volume provides more than twenty significant extracts from Miller s works In addition there is a new interview with Miller as well as a series of specially commissioned critical responses to Miller s work by a number of the leading figures in literary and cultural studies today Following a comprehensive critical introduction by the editor each section has a brief introduction directing the reader toward pertinent themes There is also a comprehensive bibliography and a chronology of Miller s professional life and activities This reader the first of Miller s work in English provides an indispensable overview and introduction to one of the most original critical voices to have emerged since the inception of the teaching of English and American literature in universities in the English speaking world Recent Advances in Symbiosis Research: Integrative Approaches M. Pilar Francino, Mónica Medina, 2017-02-02

Traditionally symbiosis research has been undertaken by researchers working independently of one another and often focused on a few cases of bipartite host symbiont interactions New model systems are emerging that will enable us to fill fundamental gaps in symbiosis research and theory focusing on a broad range of symbiotic interactions and including a variety of multicellular hosts and their complex microbial communities In this Research Topic we invited researchers to contribute their work on diverse symbiotic networks since there are a large variety of symbioses with major roles in the proper functioning of terrestrial or aquatic ecosystems and we wished the Topic to provide a venue for communicating findings across diverse taxonomic groups A synthesis of recent investigations in symbiosis can impact areas such as agriculture where a basic understanding of plant microbe symbiosis will provide foundational information on the increasingly important issue of nitrogen fixation climate change where anthropogenic factors are threatening the survival of marine symbiotic ecosystems such as coral reefs animal and human health where unbalances in host microbiomes are being increasingly associated with a wide range of diseases and biotechnology where process optimization can be achieved through optimization of symbiotic partnerships Overall our vision was to produce a volume of works that will help define general principles of symbiosis within a new conceptual framework in the road to finally establish symbiology as an overdue central discipline of biological science

Proceedings of the 9th International Symposium on Insect-Plant Relationships Erich Städler, Martine Rowell-Rahier, Robert Baur, 2012-12-06 The 9th International Symposium on Insect Plant Relationships SIP 9 was once more following the tradition established in 1958 a forum for investigators in both basic and applied entomology interested in the important and fascinating field of interactions between plants and insects We were pleased and honoured to organise this symposium which took place June 24-30 1995 in Gwatt on the shores of the Lake of Thun in Switzerland 168 participants from 26 countries from all over the world actively took part in the symposium by contributing 12 key note lectures and a total of 141 oral presentations and posters The favourable response and the lively interaction of the participants in all symposium activities is the clearest indication of the success of SIP 9 The organisers appreciated the enthusiasm and the willingness to collaborate shown by all participants The following volume contains written contributions 72 of only half of all presentations This is due to the fact that we decided to produce not only an account of the proceedings but also to publish all contributions as a special volume of the journal Entomologia Experimentalis et Applicata This procedure was last adopted in 1978 for SIP 4 organised by Reginald F Chapman and Elizabeth A Bernays and ensures a wide distribution of the papers within the scientific community and easy access through libraries Inevitably we had to employ the same review procedure as applicable for the manuscripts regularly submitted to Entomologia
