Hothouses Poems 1889 Facing Pages:

Hothouses Maurice Maeterlinck, 2020-12-08 On May 31 1889 a young Belgian lawyer from a wealthy bourgeois family in Ghent published a book of 33 poems in 155 copies Maurice Maeterlinck's legal career was floundering but his road to literary greatness had begun Long overshadowed by the plays that later won him the Nobel Prize Serres chaudes Hothouses nonetheless came to be widely regarded as one of the cornerstones of literary Modernism after Baudelaire While Max Nordau soon seized upon Maeterlinck's tumult of images as symptomatic of a pervasive social malaise decades later Antonin Artaud pronounced Maeterlinck was the first to introduce the multiple riches of the subconscious into literature Richard Howard's translation of this quietly radical work is the first to be published in nearly a century and the first to accurately convey Maeterlinck's elusive visionary force The poems some of them in free verse new to Belgium at the time combine the decadent symbolism and the language of dislocation that Maeterlinck later perfected in his dramas Hothouses reflects the influence not only of French poets including Verlaine and Rimbaud but also of Whitman As for the title the author said it was a natural choice Ghent abounding in greenhouses The poems whose English translations appear opposite the French originals are accompanied by reproductions of seven woodcuts by Georges Minne that appeared in the original volume and by an early prose text by Maeterlinck imaginatively describing a painting by the sixteenth century Flemish artist Pieter Brueghel A feat of daring power extraordinarily immediate and inventive Hothouses will appeal to all lovers of poetry and in particular to those interested in Modernism Maeterlinck's enormous fame may have faded but twentieth century writers such as Beckett are still our masters who testify to its undying influence

After Every War, 2013-10-31 They are nine women with much in common all German speaking all poets all personal witnesses to the horror and devastation that was World War II Yet in this deeply moving collection each provides a singularly personal glimpse into the effects of war on language place poetry and womanhood After Every War is a book of translations of women poets living in Europe in the decades before and after World War II Rose Ausländer Elisabeth Langgässer Nelly Sachs Gertrud Kolmar Else Lasker-Schüler Ingeborg Bachmann Marie Luise Kaschnitz Dagmar Nick and Hilde Domin Several of the writers are Jewish and therefore also witnesses and participants in one of the darkest occasions of human cruelty the Holocaust Their poems as well as those of the other writers provide a unique biography of the time but with a difference These poets see public events through the lens of deep private losses They chart the small occasions the bittersweet family ties the fruit dish on a table the lost soul arriving at a railway station in other words the sheer ordinariness through which cataclysm is experienced and by which life is cruelly shattered They reclaim these moments and draw the reader into them The poems are translated and introduced with biographical notes on the authors by renowned Irish poet Eavan Boland Her interest in the topic is not abstract As an Irish woman she has observed the heartbreaking effects of violence on her own country Her experience has drawn her closer to these nine poets enabling her to render into English the beautiful ruminative quality of their work and to present their poems for what they

in 1986 An unusual man Saenz lived his whole life in La Paz Bolivia seldom venturing far from the city and its indigenous culture that feature so prominently in his writings He sought God in unlikely places slum taverns alcoholic excess the street Saenz was nocturnal He once stole a leg from a cadaver and hid it under his bed On his wedding night he brought home a panther In this epic poem Saenz explores the singular themes that possessed him alcoholism death nightmares identity otherness and his love for La Paz The poem s four movements culminate in some of the most profoundly mystical beautiful and disturbing passages of modern Latin American poetry They are presented here in this faithful and inspired English translation of the Spanish original Complete with an introduction by the translators that paints a vivid picture of the poet s life and an afterword by Luis H Antezana a notable Bolivian literary critic and close friend of Saenz this bilingual edition is the essential introduction to one of the most visionary and enigmatic poets of the Hispanic world Love Lessons Alda

Merini,2016-05-31 Alda Merini is one of Italy s most important and most beloved living poets She has won many of the major national literary prizes and has twice been nominated for the Nobel Prize by the French Academy in 1996 and by Italian PEN in 2001 In Love Lessons the distinguished American poet Susan Stewart brings us the largest and most comprehensive selection of Merini s poetry to appear in English Complete with the original Italian on facing pages a critical introduction and explanatory notes this collection gathers lyrics meditations and aphorisms that span fifty years from Merini s first books of the 1950s to an unpublished poem from 2001 These accessible and moving poems reflect the experiences of a writer who after beginning her career at the center of Italian Modernist circles when she was a teenager went silent in her twenties spending much of the next two decades in mental hospitals only to reemerge in the 1970s to a full renewal of her gifts an outpouring of new work and great renown Whether she is working in the briefest most incisive lyric mode or the complex time schemes of longer meditations Merini s deep knowledge of classical and Christian myth gives her work a universal philosophical resonance revealing what is at heart her tragic sense of life At the same time her ironic wit delight in nature and affection for her native Milan underlie even her most harrowing poems of suffering In Stewart s skillful translations readers will discover a true sibyl of the twentieth and twenty first centuries New Impressions of Africa Raymond

Hothouse Tracy Ryan,2006 Hothouse Tracy Ryan's most recent collection of poems was published in 2002 in her native Australia to great critical acclaim It is essentially a collection of flower poems which focus not on the alienation of humans from the plant world but instead their similarities AUTUMN in the Hothouse and Other Poems David Swartz,2006-04-25 The metaphysical outrage and indignation contained within these verses for the most part formal yet seething with fury has its only parallel in Wilfred Owen's terrible indictments of the first Great War There is a significant difference however The poet's torment is expressed in the face of God and His Creation and not simply humankind's personal handiwork The lure of Swartz's Hothouse is how dangerously it verges on disintegration and madness The trial simply stated is why a boundless WHY hurled into abyss Only more fearful is the implied silence the calculated indifference of the answer The four long poems comprising Part Two are a lull in the rage of the opening section The poet while certainly not at ease with his Maker's universe attempts even to entertain while having his own private jokes with Bard Himself Part Three includes two representative dramatic poems The first Last Supper depicts the final moments of Christopher Marlowe the second The Hitler Sonata those of Adolf Hitler a disturbing powerful read If Plath confronted demons in her brilliant final anguish the author of THESE skillful wrenching poems assails the very source of them One cannot leave this book behind AS THE FIRE BURNED A VOLUME OF Ellmore Jackson 1889 Gilstrap,2016-08-24 Hothouse Karyna McGlynn,2017 Whipsmart and irreverent McGlynn's Hothouse is a wildly imaginative tour through the many chambers of the contemporary American psyche
