Knowledge, Power, and Participation in Environmental Policy Analysis Rob Hoppe, William N. Dunn, This volume probes practical dilemmas and competing research perspectives in environmental policy analysis Scholars working in different fields research traditions societies and policy domains offer significant insights into the processes and consequences of environmental policy making Part 1 Coping with Boundaries describes present day conflict between experts and greater public participation in environmental policy It shows that the institutionalization of increasingly complex environmental problems has led to a conflict between technocracy and democracy Part 2 The Transnational Challenge examines modes of cooperation between grassroots movements scientists and regional authorities in the United States and Canada These and other modes of cooperation laid the foundations for the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement increased the effectiveness of air pollution treaties and increased climate change Part 3 Bio Hazards Policies and Paralysis deals with environmental problems closest to the everyday concerns of the public at large because they have immediate implications for food safety and other values Part 4 The Citizens Perspective focuses on citizen vis vis environmental policy noting that in order to make policies work citizens must be willing and able to participate in policy making and cooperate in implementing environmental choices Part 5 Confronting Ordinary and Expert Knowledge explores opportunities and constraints affecting public participation in evaluation of science Part 6 Developments in Research Programming addresses such questions as whether scientists still have opportunities to do the research they want without being interrupted or disturbed by policy makers and other stakeholders Part 7 Policy Sciences Aspirations explores different avenues for improving environmental policy Volume twelve in the PSRA series should inspire further investigations of the relations among knowledge power and participation in environmental policy It will be of timely interest to environmentalists policy makers scholars and the general public Matthijs Hisschemmller is senior researcher at the Institute for Environmental Studies of the Free University in Amsterdam Rob Hoppe is professor and chair of the Policy Studies unit of University of Twente s Faculty of Public Administration and Public Policy William N Dunn is professor of Public Policy and Management in the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs University of Pittsburgh Jerry R Ravetz is director of the Research Methods Consultancy Ltd in London

Writing Power Dorothy A. Winsor, 2012-02-01 Winner of the 2004 Distinguished Publication on Business Communication presented by the Association of Business Communication Writing Power examines the way that texts knowledge and hierarchy generate and support one another within a for profit corporation By encouraging us to see texts and writing as powerful operators in the corporate world this book presents a case study focused on how one engineering organization uses texts to create and maintain its knowledge and power structure Based on over five years of observations the book describes the co generation of power knowledge text from several points of view including that of managers engineers interns and blue collar workers These groups of people use texts to build knowledge within their own areas and establish control over their work when it is passed along to the other groups Employing Bourdieu's notion that people possess different kinds of capital that can be converted to one another under the right circumstances the book demonstrates that text is one of the major ways that this conversion of capital takes place and is thus one of the major ways that power and knowledge are generated and accumulated Knowledge, Power, and Education Michael W. Apple, 2014-12-01 For more than three decades Michael W Apple has sought to uncover and articulate the connections among knowledge teaching and power in education His germinal Ideology and Curriculum was a watershed title in critical education studies and has remained in print since its publication in 1979 The more than two dozen books and hundreds of papers articles and chapters published since have likewise all contributed to a greater understanding of the relationship between and among the economy political and cultural power in society on the one hand and the ways in which education is thought about organized and evaluated on the other In this collection Apple brings together 13 of his key writings in one place providing an overview not just of his own career but of the larger development of the field A new introduction re examines the scope of his work and his earlier arguments and reflects on what remains to be done for those committed to critical education The Pennsylvania School Journal Pennsylvania.
