Elite Sports Development:

Elite Sport Development Mick Green, Barrie Houlihan, 2005 Examines the emergence development and status of an elite sport development policy in swimming track and field and sailing in Australia Canada and the UK Comparative Elite Sport Development Barrie Houlihan, Mick Green, 2007-11-19 There is a paucity of academic work in the area of elite sport development despite there being ample evidence that achieving international sporting success is of increasing importance to the public exemplified by consistent media interest in elite success or the lack of it and to governments in most developed countries who have almost without exception increased the level of public funding for elite squad development often to the detriment of other sports policy objectives such as increasing general levels of participation Comparative Elite Sport Development systems structures and public policy focuses on the identification and development of elite sporting talent especially in Olympic sports Written by a team of international contributors it applies a reflective and analytical approach and both informs and is informed by established bodies of theory in policy analysis Uniquely it adopts a comparative approach of policy rivals leading sports powers and policy innovators which provides broad and thorough analytical coverage

In Pursuit of Excellence Michael Hill, 2007-06-11 This entry level text offers new students a comprehensive introduction to the phenomenon of high performance sport Includes well presented pedagogical content with case studies questions for discussion websites and further reading Written for A level and undergraduate level Managing Elite Sport Systems Svein S. Andersen, Barrie Houlihan, Lars Tore Ronglan, 2015-06-26 Over the last twenty years or so there has been a sharp increase in interest from national sports federations and governments in the development of effective elite sport systems particularly focused on achieving success in the summer and winter Olympic Games Many countries now have publicly funded elite sports strategies which provide specialist facilities and support staff and often provide direct financial support for athletes These developments have stimulated academic interest in describing the elite sport systems analysing the processes by which policy is established and evaluating the impact of these policies on elite athlete success Far less attention has been placed on the operation of the elite sports systems and on how the system interfaces with the athlete The aim of this book is to refocus attention on the management and operation of systems designed to deliver elite success The book draws on the theoretical literature in implementation organisation theory leadership and complexity This provides an initial context for analysis and a stimulus for theory development around key questions such as How do coaches manage their relationship with athletes How does talent identification operate in practice Do coaches fulfil the role of gatekeeper between the athlete and other elements of the sports system e.g. sports science support How do managers support staff and athletes interpret the expectations placed on them The first part of the book focuses on aspects of the effectiveness of elite sports systems and the second explores aspects of systems operation focused on the interface between the athlete and the sport development system and cross cutting themes within the book include the management of talent identification and coach development This is illuminating reading for any student researcher or practitioner working in sport development sport management or sports coaching      Sport Development in the United States Peter Smolianov,Dwight Zakus,Joseph Gallo,2014-09-15 The development of both elite high performance sport and mass participation grassroots level sport are central concerns for governments and sports governing bodies This important new study is the first to closely examine the challenges and opportunities for sports development in the United States a global sporting giant with a unique market driven sporting landscape Presenting an innovative model of integrated sports development the book explores the inter relationship between elite and mass sport across history drawing on comparative international examples from Australia to the former USSR and Eastern bloc countries At the heart of the book is an in depth empirical study of three traditional and emerging sports in the US tennis soccer and rugby that offer important lessons on the development of elite sport methods for increasing participation and the establishment of new sports in new markets No other book has attempted to model sports development in the United States in such depth before Therefore this should be essential reading for all students researchers administrators or policy makers with an interest in sports development sports management sports policy or comparative international sport studies      Managing High Performance Sport Popi Sotiriadou,Veerle De Bosscher,2013-01-17 How can managers design and implement effective high performance programmes in sport What are the key challenges in managing elite athletes sports people and teams This is the first book to provide a comprehensive introduction to management practice process and policy in elite and high performance sport HPS Drawing on real world case studies of elite sport around the world the book shows a conceptual framework for studying and analysing high performance sport and introduces the skills and techniques that managers and administrators will need to develop effective HPS programmes The book examines the macro level factors that determine a nation s sporting success including political social and cultural elements and then moves on to unpack the specifics of elite athlete and team management at a micro level Adopting an integrated holistic approach throughout the book highlights best practice in every key area of an HPS programme including defining performance and success organizational structure and leadership finance funding and marketing coaching and coach development talent identification and development competition and events training and facilities scientific research and sport science support The book features contributions from world leading sport management academics as well as practitioners with experience of managing HPS programmes at world and Olympic level Each chapter includes a full range of useful features such as summaries case studies review questions and guides to further reading This is essential reading for all serious students and professionals working in sport management or high performance sport      Comparative Sport Development Kirstin Hallmann,Karen Petry,2013-11-26 The aim of this book is to provide an overview of perspectives and approaches to sports development focusing on sport systems sport participation and public policy towards sports It includes twelve European countries covering all regions of Europe and eleven countries from around the globe The objective is to present an overview of the diversity of approaches taken to sport development focusing on the different sport systems and how sport is financed the underlying applications of sport policy and how it is reflected in sport participation This book takes a comparative approach which is reflected in each chapter following a similar structure The diversity of sports systems in Europe and other continents and their historical context is shown Thereby a range of policy approaches underpinning sport development around the world are presented making it of interest to both academics and policy makers concerned with sports economics and policy

Elite Sport Development in South Korea Jae Woo Park, 2011 This thesis explores the process of elite sport policy development in South Korea The thesis analyses the process of policy change in the sports of athletics archery and baseball at the elite level The three objectives of the study are i to trace the emergence development and current status of elite sport policy in South Korea ii to identify how elite sport policy has changed in response to both exogenous factors and endogenous factors and iii to evaluate the utility of the macro level and meso level theories of the process of policy change in relation to Korean elite sport development A case study approach is adopted focusing on each of the three sports in turn wherein a qualitative methodology semi structured interviews and document analysis is utilised in order to elicit data regarding elite sport policy change and development The analysis of the three case studies is organised by following the two principal themes identified by Green ii improvements in sport science coaching and facilities and iii the provision of more systematic competition opportunities for elite level athletes It could be argued that Green Houlihan's 2005 analytical framework was very useful in investigating elite sport development in the cases of athletics archery and baseball but it did not identify all distinctive aspect of Korean elite sport system A further prominent area of elite sport development has emerged and identified in the cases of the three sports that is a cash award system This study reveals the significance of business leaders on the development of the three sports in general and the sports successes in international sporting competitions in particular The study also identifies that all three sports have been shaped by the actions of a sport policy community involving a small number of groups or actors which share common perceptions and the ultimate goal of each sport's success in international sporting events The study concludes that the overlapping assumptions between elitism and neo pluralism are the most likely explanation of the Korean elite sport policy process at the macro level analysis It is concluded that although three frameworks ACF MSF and policy networks provide partial insights into Korean elite sport policy process in the three sports none of the three frameworks adopted provides a comprehensive explanation of policy change in the three sports In particular the advocacy coalition framework has proved useful in drawing attention to the notion of exogenous factors e.g. a sport's failure at an international sporting completion and the change of the presidency of NGBs and policy learning as a key source of policy change The concept of policy community which is a type of policy network has provided partial insights in terms of illuminating the characteristics of the Korean elite sport policy process at the macro level analysis although it has not been a particularly useful lens for explaining the mechanism of policy change in the three
