Framework For Characterization Of Military Unit Training Status:

 A Framework for Characterization of Military Unit Training Status S. Craig Moore,Lawrence M. Hanser,Bernard D. Rostker,Suzanne M. Holroyd,Judith C. Fernandez,1995 This report outlines a framework for assessing military units immediate training performance and estimating the time and resources needed to bring training up to an established wartime standard   Development of Professional Expertise K. Anders Ericsson,2009-06-22 Professionals such as medical doctors aeroplane pilots lawyers and technical specialists find that some of their peers have reached high levels of achievement that are difficult to measure objectively In order to understand to what extent it is possible to learn from these expert performers for the purpose of helping others improve their performance we first need to reproduce and measure this performance This book is designed to provide the first comprehensive overview of research on the acquisition and training of professional performance as measured by objective methods rather than by subjective ratings by supervisors In this collection of articles the world s foremost experts discuss methods for assessing the experts knowledge and review our knowledge on how we can measure professional performance and design training environments that permit beginning and experienced professionals to develop and maintain their high levels of performance using examples from a wide range of professional domains   China's Military Power Roger Cliff,2015-09-15 This book provides a comprehensive assessment of China s military capabilities in 2000 and 2010 with projections for 2020 Recognizing that military power encompasses more than weaponry it develops an original empirical framework for measuring militaries that also includes doctrine training and organizational structure   The Cumulative Book Index ,1996 A world list of books in the English language   Selected Rand Abstracts Rand Corporation,2002 Includes publications previously listed in the supplements to the Index of selected publications of the Rand Corporation Oct 1962 Feb 1963   American Book Publishing Record ,1996-05   Manuals Combined: U.S. Marine Corps Basic Reconnaissance Course (BRC) References , Over 5 300 total pages MARINE RECON Reconnaissance units are the commander s eyes and ears on the battlefield They are task organized as a highly trained six man team capable of conducting specific missions behind enemy lines Employed as part of the Marine Air Ground Task Force reconnaissance teams provide timely information to the supported commander to shape and influence the battlefield The varying types of missions a Reconnaissance team conduct depends on how deep in the battle space they are operating Division Reconnaissance units support the close and distant battlespace while Force Reconnaissance units conduct deep reconnaissance in support of a landing force Common missions include but are not limited to Plan coordinate and conduct amphibious ground reconnaissance and surveillance to observe identify and report enemy activity and collect other information of military significance Conduct specialized surveying to include underwater reconnaissance and or demolitions beach permeability and topography routes bridges structures urban rural areas helicopter landing zones LZ parachute drop zones DZ aircraft forward operating sites and mechanized reconnaissance missions When properly task organized with other

forces equipment or personnel assist in specialized engineer radio and other special reconnaissance missions Infiltrate mission areas by necessary means to include surface subsurface and airborne operations Conduct Initial Terminal Guidance ITG for helicopters landing craft parachutists air delivery and re supply Designate and engage selected targets with organic weapons and force fires to support battlespace shaping This includes designation and terminal guidance of precision guided munitions Conduct post strike reconnaissance to determine and report battle damage assessment on a specified target or area Conduct limited scale raids and ambushes Just a SAMPLE of the included publications BASIC RECONNAISSANCE COURSE PREPARATION GUIDE RECONNAISSANCE RECON TRAINING AND READINESS T R MANUAL RECONNAISSANCE REPORTS GUIDE GROUND RECONNAISSANCE OPERATIONS GROUND COMBAT OPERATIONS Supporting Arms Observer Spotter and Controller DEEP AIR SUPPORT SCOUTING AND PATROLLING Civil Affairs Tactics Techniques and Procedures MAGTF Intelligence Production and Analysis Counterintelligence Close Air Support Military Operations on Urbanized Terrain MOUT Convoy Operations Handbook TRAINING SUPPORT PACKAGE FOR CONVOY SURVIVABILITY Convoy Operations Battle Book Tactics Techniques and Procedures for Training Planning and Executing Convoy Operations Urban Attacks International Intervention and the Use of Force Cornelius Friesendorf,2012-05-14 Intervening states apply different approaches to the use force in war torn countries Calibrating the use of force according to the situation on the ground requires a convergence of military and police roles soldiers have to be able to scale down and police officers to scale up their use of force In practice intervening states display widely differing abilities to demonstrate such versatility This paper argues that these differences are shaped by how the domestic institutions of sending states mediate between demands for versatile force and their own intervention practices It considers the use of force by Germany Italy the United Kingdom and the United States in three contexts of international intervention Bosnia and Herzegovina Kosovo and Afghanistan The paper highlights quite different responses to security problems as varied as insurgency terrorism organised crime and riots This analysis offers important lessons Those planning and implementing international interventions should take into account differences in the use of force At the same time moving towards versatile force profoundly changes the characteristics of security forces and may increase their short term risks This difficulty points to a key message emerging from this paper effective sustainable support to states emerging from conflict will only be feasible if intervening states reform their own security policies and practices Military bases analysis of DOD's 2005 selection process and recommendations for base closures and realignments : report to the congressional committees. ,2005 On May 13 2005 the Secretary of Defense submitted proposed base realignment and closure BRAC actions to an independent commission for its review The Commission must submit its recommendations to the President by September 8 2005 for his acceptance or rejection in their entirety Congress has final action to accept or reject these recommendations in their entirety later this year The law required that GAO issue a report on the Department of Defense s DoD recommendations and selection process by July 1 2005 GAO s objectives for this report were as follows 1 determine the extent to which DoD s proposals achieved its stated BRAC goals 2 analyze whether the process for developing recommendations was logical and 3 identify issues with the recommendations that may warrant further attention Time constraints limited GAO s ability to examine implementation details of most of the individual recommended actions DoD had varying success in achieving its 2005 BRAC goals of reducing excess infrastructure and producing savings furthering transformation and fostering jointness While DoD proposed a record number of closures and realignments exceeding all prior BRAC rounds combined many proposals focused on reserve bases and relatively few on closing active bases Projected savings are almost equally large but most savings are derived from 10 percent of the recommendations While GAO believes savings would be achieved overall up front investment costs of an estimated 24 billion are required and there are clear limitations associated with DoD s projection of nearly 50 billion in savings over a 20 year period Much of the projected net annual recurring savings 47 percent is associated with eliminating jobs currently held by military personnel However rather than reducing end strength levels DoD indicates the positions are expected to be reassigned to other areas which may enhance capabilities but also limit dollar savings available for other use7 Handbook of Research on Character and Leadership Development in Military Schools Ryan, Mark Patrick,Weekes, Timothy L.,2021-01-22 Military academies have served youth for more than a century with proud traditions of producing graduates who are scholars leaders and athletes who adhere to a code of honor and ethical principles as they take the knowledge skills and dispositions gained at those academies into higher education the business world military service civic endeavors and the broader workforce There is a current gap and need for research that explores the various components of a K 20 military school college education and how those components successfully produce leaders of character for our military civic academic and business worlds both in the United States and abroad The Handbook of Research on Character and Leadership Development in Military Schools synthesizes research on the impact of military academies by providing a singular compendium of current academic studies on the graduates of military academies and the communities of which they enter after graduation The chapters will explore the academics leadership character development citizenship athletics and other dimensions of both global and national and both private and public military academies This book is ideal for current leaders staffs governing board members and alumni of military academies both in the United States and internationally along with policymakers government officials practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the implications of character and leadership development on individuals enrolled in or graduated from military schools
