Personal Protective Equipment Thomas Tevlin, 2015 Guide for the selection of personal protective equipment for emergency first responders , Personal Protective Equipment Thomas Tevlin, British Safety Council, 2013 Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders: Main guide , 2002 Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders (Percutaneous Protection-Apparel) U. S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, National Institute of Justice, 2013-11

The National Institute of Justice is the focal point for providing support to State and local law enforcement agencies in the development of counterterrorism technology and standards including technology needs for chemical and biological defense. In recognizing the needs of State and local emergency first responders the Office of Law Enforcement Standards OLES at the National Institute of Standards and Technology NIST supported by the National Institute of Justice the Technical Support Working Group TSWG the U S Army Soldier and Biological Chemical Command and the Interagency Board for Equipment Standardization and Interoperability IAB is developing chemical and biological defense equipment guides. The guides will focus on chemical and biological equipment in areas of detection personal protection decontamination and communication. This document focuses specifically on assisting the emergency first responder community in the evaluation and purchase of personal protective equipment. The long range plans are to 1 subject existing personal protective equipment to laboratory testing and evaluation against a specified protocol and 2 conduct research leading to the development of multiple series of documents including national standards user guides and technical reports. It is anticipated that the testing evaluation and research processes will take several years to complete therefore the National Institute of Justice has developed this initial guide for the emergency first responder community in order to facilitate their evaluation and purchase of personal protective equipment. In conjunction with this program additional guides as well as other documents are being issued in the areas of chemical agent and toxic industrial material detection equipment biological agent detection equipment decontamination equipment and communication equipment. This Volume IIc of the Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders which focuses on percutaneous skin protection other than garments herein referred to as apparel e g hoods labcoats and gloves. It contains the information data sheets that were used to support the personal protective equipment evaluation detailed in Volume I. The compilation of data in Volume IIc is the result of the merger of several data acquisition methods used independently by NIST and TSWG.

Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders Alim A. Fatah, John A. Barrett, Richard D. Arcilesi, Jr., 2003-12-01. The National Institute of Justice NIJ provides objective independent evidence based knowledge and tools to meet the challenges of crime and justice particularly at the State and local levels. The Office of Law Enforcement Standards OLES of the NIST furnishes technical support to NIJ in the development of standards. OLES subjects existing equipment to laboratory testing and evaluation and conducts research leading to the development of national standards, user guides and technical reports. This document covers research conducted by OLES. It includes information on the selection of personal protective equipment (PPE) that includes chemical and biological protective clothing and respiratory equipment for different applications.

Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders, Alim Ahmed Fatah, Richard D. Arcilesi (Jr.), Lee Charpentier, Charlotte H. Lattin, Janna Mundinger, Tom Tassinari, Aaron Richardson, 2007

The primary purpose of the Guide for the Selection of Personal Protective Equipment for Emergency First Responders is to provide emergency first responders with information to aid them in the selection of PPE both percutaneous skin protection and respiratory protection. PPE providing percutaneous protection addressed in this guide includes protective ensembles, footwear and gloves. PPE providing respiratory protection from CBRN threats addressed in this guide includes air purifying respirators, APRs, powered air purifying respirators, PAPRs, self-contained atmosphere supplying respirators, SCBAs and escape respirators. The guide is intended to be more practical than technical and provides information on a variety of factors that should be considered when purchasing and using PPE, including duration of protection, dexterity, mobility, how cumbersome is the equipment, cleanability and use/reuse, to name a few. The remainder of this guide is divided into several sections. Section 2 presents background information about the function, components, protection levels and certification standards associated with PPE. Section 3 provides an introduction to chemical agents, toxic industrial chemicals, materials, TICs, TIMs, biological agents and radiological/nuclear agents. Specifically, it discusses CBRN agents by providing overviews, physical and chemical properties, routes of entry and symptoms. It also discusses the 98 TICs/TIMs that are considered in this guide. Section 4 presents an overview of percutaneous protection and is divided into several subsections that focus on ensembles, boots and gloves. Section 5 presents an overview of respiratory protection equipment and is divided into several subsections that focus on APRs, PAPRs, SCBAs and escape respirators.
