Gyppo Logger:

Gyppo Logger Margaret Elley Felt, 2016-06-01 Margaret Elley Felt's autobiographical Gyppo Logger originally published in 1963 tells a story almost universally overlooked in the history of the logging industry: the emergence of family-based independent contract or gyppo loggers in the post-World War II timber economy and the crucial role of women within that economy. For seven years Margaret Felt was her husband's partner in their logging business, driving truck, keeping the wage rolls, and jawboning her way into more credit at the supply stores. Margaret Elley Felt is the author of thirteen books in addition to Gyppo Logger. She has contributed to popular magazines including National Wildlife and Parents Magazine and was an editor and public information officer for several Washington State agencies. Community And The Northwestern Logger Matthew S. Carroll, 2019-04-09 It has often been said that natural resource and environmental problems cannot be solved without solving human problems. In this book Matthew Carroll examines the economic and social circumstances of northwestern U.S. loggers in the face of shifts in environmental politics, dramatic reductions in timber harvest levels on federal lands, and changing technology and market forces among other factors that are rapidly transforming their industry, their livelihoods, and their communities. Drawing upon sociological fieldwork in logging communities that he conducted at various times over a period of nearly a decade and using the spotted owl old growth controversy as a case study, Carroll provides a rich and detailed picture of life among northwestern loggers. He lays out the human dimensions and dilemmas of the timber crisis. Expanding it from the oversimplified owl versus logger confrontation, he puts these issues in a historical and policy context and suggests parallels to other controversies such as public grazing and federal or state river protection. Carroll's work revives the concept of occupational community and shows ways it can be used to understand the dynamics of rural occupations linked to resource extraction. The Pacific Logger, 1960 Loggers' Handbook, 1981 Knock on Wood W. Scott Prudham, 2012-11-12 Scott Prudham investigates a region that has in recent years seen more environmental conflict than perhaps anywhere else in the country: the old growth forests of the Pacific Northwest. Prudham employs a political-economic approach to explain the social and economic conflicts arising from the timber industry's presence in the region. As well, he provides a thorough accounting of the timber industry itself, tracing its motivations, practices, and labor relations. Pineros Brinda Sarathy, 2012-01-07 The exploitation of Latino workers in many industries, from agriculture and meat packing to textile manufacturing and janitorial services, is well known. By contrast, pineros, itinerant workers who form the backbone of the forest management labor force on federal land, toil largely in obscurity. Drawing on government papers, media accounts, and interviews with federal employees and Latino forest workers in Oregon's Rogue Valley, Brinda Sarathy investigates how the federal government came to be one of the single largest employers of Latino labor in the Pacific Northwest. She documents pinero wages, working conditions, and benefits in comparison to those of white loggers and tree planters, exposing exploitation that she argues is the product of an ongoing history of institutionalized racism, fragmented policy and intra ethnic exploitation in the West To overcome this legacy Sarathy offers a number of proposals to improve the visibility and working conditions of pineros and to provide them with a stronger voice in immigration and forestry policy making

Competition and Oligopsony in the Douglas Fir Lumber Industry Walter J. Mead, 2023-11-15 This in depth analysis of the Douglas fir lumber industry investigates the relationship between industry structure firm behavior and performance outcomes While the lumber production sector exemplifies characteristics of pure competition with numerous mills and firms producing homogeneous products the timber input market operates as an oligopsony In this setting a few large buyers wield significant influence leading to price disparities and market power that smaller firms cannot match The study highlights the dichotomy between competitive lumber production and the noncompetitive dynamics of timber acquisition The book explores key issues such as economies of scale in production market concentration and the elasticity of demand and supply for both timber and lumber By scrutinizing the auction markets for federal timber and the effects of concentrated timberland ownership it sheds light on policy questions like the equitable distribution of public resources and the economic efficiency of market structures Combining theoretical insights with empirical data this study offers valuable findings for economists industry stakeholders and policymakers aiming to balance competition and sustainability in resource management This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1966

The Timberman , 1926 Douglas County Chronicles R.J. Guyer, 2013-03-19 Douglas County Oregon stretches west from Crater Lake and the forested peaks of the Cascades until it reaches the shores of the Pacific in a tumult of rolling sand dunes In this account author R J Guyer recalls the frontier spirit and creative industry that shaped this land of one hundred valleys Enjoy stories of Lookingglass s two horse parking meter and Boswell Springs cure all mineral waters Celebrate Reedsport s Olympic gold medalist and Oakland s one time claim as turkey capital of the world Remember the devastation of the Roseburg blast and the triumph of the Drain Black Sox s win in the National Baseball Conference World Series From the establishment of the county to the preservation of historic landmarks Guyer shares the rich heritage of Douglas County s communities Breaking Blue Timothy Egan, 2011-11-16 No one who enjoys mystery can fail to savor this study of a classic case of detection TONY HILLERMAN On the night of September 14 1935 George Conniff a town marshal in Pend Oreille County in the state of Washington was shot to death A lawman had been killed yet there seemed to be no uproar no major investigation No suspect was brought to trial More than fifty years later the sheriff of Pend Oreille County Tony Bamonte in pursuit of both justice and a master s degree in history dug into the files of the Conniff case by then the oldest open murder case in the United States Gradually what started out as an intellectual exercise became an obsession as Bamonte asked questions that unfolded layer upon layer of unsavory detail In Timothy Egan s vivid account which reads like a thriller we follow Bamonte as his investigation plunges him back in time to the Depression era of rampant black market crime and police corruption We see how the suppressed reports he uncovers and the ambiguous answers his questions evoke lead him to the murder weapon missing for half a century and then to the man an ex cop he is convinced was the murderer Bamonte himself a logger s son and a Vietnam veteran had joined the Spokane police force in the late 1960s a time when increasingly enlightened and educated police departments across the country were shaking off the dirty cop stigma But as he got closer to actually solving the crime questioning elderly retired members of the force he found himself more and more isolated shut out by tight lipped hostility and made dramatically aware of the fraternal sin he had committed breaking the blue code Breaking Blue is a gripping story of cop against cop But it also describes a collision between two generations of lawmen and two very different moments in our nation s history
