Euthanasia is Not the Answer David Cundiff, 2012-12-06 Instances of euthanasia or mercy killing date back to antiquity However it is only recently that the unprecedented grassroots efforts to legalize euthanasia have begun building Terminal Illness Assistance with Dying a California ballot initiative for the November 1992 election might for the first time in modern history legalize euthanasia and assisted suicide by physicians Similar initiatives are planned in other states To vote intelligently citizens in California and throughout the United States need to learn who is likely to request euthanasia or assisted suicide and why How we care for the terminally ill eventually affects us all In over half of all deaths a chronic disease process such as cancer or congestive heart failure leads to a terminal phase that may last for days weeks or months Most people are more afraid of the suffering associated with this terminal phase than they are afraid of dying itself When polled most Americans tell us they would prefer to die at home surrounded by loved ones rather than in a hospital receiving high tech tests and treatments until the last Yet the majority of people even those with terminal illnesses die in the hospital What factors in our culture and health care system have led to this dichotomy Unrelieved suffering is also the primary reason for euthanasia requests

Assisted Death in Europe and America Guenter Lewy, 2011 Advances in medical treatment now enable physicians to prolong life to a previously unknown extent however in many instances these new techniques mean not the saving of life but prolonging the act of dying In the eyes of many medical technology has run out of control and contributes to unnecessary suffering Hence the demand has arisen that patients should be entitled to choose death when pain and physical and mental deterioration have destroyed the possibility of a dignified and meaningful life and that their doctors should help them to realize this endeavor At the present time there are seven jurisdictions in the world that with various restrictions have legalized the practice of assisted death physician assisted suicide and or voluntary euthanasia to wit the Netherlands Belgium Luxembourg Switzerland in Europe and the states of Oregon Washington and Montana in the United States Four of these regimes in the Netherlands Belgium Switzerland and the state of Oregon have been functioning for many years and we have for them a substantial body of data as well as much observational research This book is based upon this material The literature dealing with the moral legal and social aspects of assisted death is voluminous but there is a paucity of writing that provides a detailed account of the way these four regimes are actually working Many partisans on both sides of the issue cite existing data selectively or at times willfully distort the empirical evidence in order to strengthen their case Based on the documentary record and interviews with officials and scholars this book seeks to give the specialist as well as the general interested reader a reliable picture of the way assisted

What Kind of Death Govert den Hartogh, 2022-10-31 Many books have been published about physician assisted death This book offers a comprehensive and in depth examination of that subject but it also extends the discussion to a broader range of end of life decisions including suicide palliative care and sedation until death In every jurisdiction that has laws permitting some kind of physician assisted death a central point of controversy is whether such assistance should only be available to dying patients or to everyone who wants to end his life The right to determine the manner and time of one's own death however does not necessarily mean that physicians should be permitted to cooperate in ensuring a quick and peaceful death In this book Govert den Hartogh considers the fundamental and practical matters including concrete issues of legal regulation related to end of life decision making He proposes a two tiered system Everyone should have access to humane means of ending his life if his decision to end it is voluntary well considered and durable But doctors should only participate in a joint action of ending the patient's life on his request if they also are convinced of acting in the patient's best interests in particular by ending intolerable and unrelievable suffering And perhaps there is reason to restrict that second service to dying patients The whole argument however depends on the extent to which in both tiers of the system we can design legal safeguards that will enable us to trust judgments about the requesting person s request and about his suffering The book considers much new evidence in regard to this issue What Kind of Death will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in bioethics applied ethics philosophy of law and health law
