Waltke, Michael Patrick O'Connor, 1990 Meeting the need for a textbook for classroom use after first year Hebrew grammar Waltke and O

Connor integrate the results of modern linguistic study of Hebrew and years of experience teaching the subject in this book. In addition to functioning as a teaching grammar, this work will also be widely used for reference and self-guided instruction in Hebrew beyond the first formal year. Extensive discussion and explanation of grammatical points help to sort out points blurred in introductory books. More than 3,500 Biblical Hebrew examples illustrate the points of grammar under discussion. Four indexes, Scripture Authorities, cited Hebrew words, and Topics provide ready access to the vast array of information found in the 40 chapters. Destined to become a classic work, this long-awaited book fills a major gap among modern publications on Biblical Hebrew.

A Cumulative Index to the Grammar and Syntax of Biblical Hebrew, 1996. Davidson, 1924. An Introductory Hebrew Grammar, Andrew Bruce Davidson, 1919. The Syntax of Volitives in Biblical Hebrew and Amarna Canaanite Prose, Hélène M. Dallaire, 2014-10-30. During the past century, numerous books and articles have appeared on the verbal system of Semitic languages. Thanks to the discovery of Ugaritic texts, Akkadian tablets, Canaanite letters found at Tell el-Amarna in Egypt, Hebrew and Aramaic inscriptions, and the Dead Sea Scrolls, our understanding of the phonology, morphology, and syntax of the Semitic languages has increased substantially. Dallaire focuses primarily on prose texts in Biblical Hebrew and Amarna Canaanite, in which the verbal system morphemes, syntax, expresses nuances of wishes, desires, requests, and commands. According to her, volitional concepts are found in every language and are expressed through verbal morphemes, syntagmas, intonation, syntax, and other linguistic means. The Syntax of Volitives in Biblical Hebrew and Amarna Canaanite Prose attempts to answer the following questions: Do volitives function in a similar way in Biblical Hebrew and Amarna Canaanite? Where and why is there overlap in morphology and syntax between these two languages? What morphological and syntactical differences exist between the volitional expressions of the languages? In attempting to answer these questions, the author bears in mind the fact that within each of these two languages, scribes from different areas used specific dialectal and scribal traditions, for example, northern versus southern, peripheral versus central.
