conference maintained a balance between theoretical issues and descriptions of case studies to promote synergy between theory and practice in the field of Text Mining Topics of interest included document processing and visualization techniques web mining text mining and knowledge management as well as user aspects and relations to official statistics The Jurists James Gordley, 2013-10 Jurists or legal scholars have had a profound impact on the development of the law Their emergence can be traced back to ancient Rome and traced through the centuries to today Since their inception jurists have worked in like minded schools united by the particular project they were pursuing The project can be described by the goal they sought and the methods they used to achieve it These projects were heavily influenced by their historical context and as such they pursued different goals by different methods This proved helpful to later jurists who used the writings of previous schools to learn from both their successes and their failures However there was one crucial element that all jurists throughout the ages have had in common their attempts to understand and explain the law This book is an intellectual history of the work of Western jurists from ancient Rome to the present It describes how the law has been reshaped by the work of these successive schools For each school the book introduces its emergence within its historical context the prevailing aims and methods of scholars working in it and its legacy for legal thought and scholarship Anaphora Resolution and Text Retrieval Helene Schmolz, 2015-03-30 This book covers anaphora resolution for the English language from a linguistic and computational point of view First a definition of anaphors that applies to linguistics as well as information technology is given On this foundation all types of anaphors and their characteristics for English are outlined To examine how frequent each type of anaphor is a corpus of different hypertexts has been established and analysed with regard to anaphors The most frequent type are non finite clause anaphors a type which has never been investigated so far Therefore the potential of non finite clause anaphors are further explored with respect to anaphora resolution After presenting the fundamentals of computational anaphora resolution and its application in text retrieval rules for resolving non finite clause anaphors are established Therefore this book shows that a truly interdisciplinary approach can achieve results which would not have been possible otherwise Open Access In July 2019 this volume was retroactively turned into an Open Access publication thanks to the support of the Fachinformationsdienst Linguistik <https://www.linguistik.de> Ethnography Paul Atkinson, 2007-06-26 Now in its third edition this leading introduction to ethnography has been thoroughly updated and substantially rewritten It offers a systematic introduction to ethnographic principles and practice New material covers the use of visual and virtual research methods hypermedia software and the issue of ethical regulation There is also a new prologue and epilogue The authors argue that ethnography is best understood as a reflexive process What this means is that we must recognize that social research is part of the world that it studies From an outline of the principle of reflexivity the authors go on to discuss and exemplify main features of ethnographic work including the selection and sampling of cases the problems of access observation and interviewing recording and filing data the process of data analysis and writing research reports Throughout the discussion draws on a wide range of illustrative material from classic and more recent studies within a global context The new edition of this popular textbook will be an indispensable resource for students and researchers utilizing social research methods in the social sciences and cultural studies Artificial Intelligence Sergei O. Kuznetsov,Aleksandr I.

Panov,Konstantin S. Yakovlev,2020-09-21 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 18th Russian Conference on Artificial Intelligence RCAI 2020 held in Moscow Russia in October 2020 The 27 full papers and 8 short papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 140 submissions The conference deals with a wide range of topics including data mining and knowledge discovery text mining reasoning decisionmaking natural language processing vision intelligent robotics multi agent systems machine learning AI in applied systems and ontology engineering Text-based intelligent Systems Paul S. Jacobs,2014-02-25 The symposium on which this volume was based brought together approximately fifty scientists from a variety of backgrounds to discuss the rapidly emerging set of competing technologies for exploiting a massive quantity of textual information This group was challenged to explore new ways to take advantage of the power of on line text A billion words of text can be more generally useful than a few hundred logical rules if advanced computation can extract useful information from streams of text and help find what is needed in the sea of available material While the extraction task is a hot topic for the field of natural language processing and the retrieval task is a solid aspect in the field of information retrieval these two disciplines came together at the symposium and have been cross breeding more than ever The book is organized in three parts The first group of papers describes the current set of natural language processing techniques used for interpreting and extracting information from quantities of text The second group gives some of the historical perspective methodology and current practice of information retrieval work the third covers both current and emerging applications of these techniques This collection of readings should give students and scientists alike a good idea of the current techniques as well as a general concept of how to go about developing and testing systems to handle volumes of text Allegoresis Longxi Zhang,2005 Zhang Longxi examines the rise and development of allegorical readings discussing them from a broad perspective that bridges the east west divide and looking at their social and political implications The Discourse of Blogs and Wikis Greg Myers,2010-01-11 An insightful analysis of the new discourse produced by blogs and wikis Database Computing for Scholarly Research Sandra R. Schloen,Miller C.

Prosser,2023-12-23 This book discusses in detail a series of examples drawn from scholarly projects that use the OCHRE database platform Online Cultural and Historical Research Environment These case studies illustrate the wide range of data that can be managed with this platform and the wide variety of problems solved by OCHRE s item based graph data model The unique features and design principles of the OCHRE platform are explained and justified helping readers to imagine how the system could be used for their own data Data generated by studies in the humanities and social sciences is often semi structured fragmented highly variable and subject to many interpretations making it difficult to represent adequately in a conventional database The authors examine commonly used methods of data management in the humanities and offer a compelling argument for a different approach that takes advantage of powerful computational techniques for organizing scholarly information This book is a challenge to scholars in the humanities and social sciences asking them to expect more from technology as they pursue their research goals Written jointly by a software engineer and a research scholar each with many years of experience in applying database methods to diverse kinds of scholarly data it shows how scholars can make the most of their existing data while going beyond the limitations of commonly used software tools to represent their objects of study in a more accurate nuanced and flexible way

New Empirical Perspectives on Translation and Interpreting Lore Vandevoorde, Joke Daems, Bart Defrancq, 2019-12-06 Drawing on work from both eminent and emerging scholars in translation and interpreting studies this collection offers a critical reflection on current methodological practices in these fields toward strengthening the theoretical and empirical ties between them Methodological and technological advances have pushed these respective areas of study forward in the last few decades but advanced tools such as eye tracking and keystroke logging and insights from their use have often remained in isolation and not shared across disciplines This volume explores empirical and theoretical challenges across these areas and the subsequent methodologies implemented to address them and how they might be mutually applied across translation and interpreting studies but also brought together toward a coherent empirical theory of translation and interpreting studies Organized around three key themes target text orientedness source text orientedness and translator interpreter orientedness the book takes stock of both studies of translation and interpreting corpora and processes in an effort to answer such key questions including how do written translation and interpreting relate to each other How do technological advances in these fields shape process and product What would an empirical theory of translation and interpreting studies look like Taken together the collection showcases the possibilities of further dialogue around methodological practices in translation and interpreting studies and will be of interest to students and scholars in these fields Using Software in Qualitative Research

Do You Not Remember? Bruce N. Fisk, 2001-06-01 The Liber Antiquitatum Biblicarum a rewritten Bible that follows the broad contours of Genesis to Samuel includes numerous secondary or out of sequence episodes and frequently juxtaposes unrelated biblical characters The subtlety and significance of these inner biblical linkages has up to now not been fully appreciated Building on recent studies in intertextuality Fisk shows how Pseudo Philo is often guided by intertextual links and themes present within the canonical precursor that he is heavily indebted to post biblical midrashic traditions and that secondary scripture is a strategic means by which Israel's traditions are reconfigured in this enigmatic text
