Exiled Intellectuals: Encounters, Conflicts, and Experiences in Transnational Context Latife Akyüz, Hakan Altun, Eylem Çamuroğlu Çığ, Melehat Kutun, 2024-11-04 Right after the Gezi Resistance a new tendency of authoritarianism rapidly emerged in Turkey and AKP government started targeting anyone it perceives as a threat to its rule especially academics journalists politicians actors directors i e the intellectuals who produce oppositional art and critical knowledge criminalizing them as enemies of the state The authoritarian regime has permeated every aspect of economic social cultural and political life institutionalized primarily through the ongoing state of emergency declared in the wake of the July 15 2016 coup attempt one might also consider this as a controlled and manipulated toxoid coup This new climate has started to limit the opportunities of production and reproduction for the intellectuals and artists and even holding a dissident stance became a source of risk on its own The Republic of Turkey limited oppressed and punished the means of expression by giving one of the harshest and maybe the most violent reactions of its history against critical thought and opposition The culture of democracy which was almost already non existent has been completely abolished through the suspension of democracy on the ostensible level This ongoing period is one in which producers of critical knowledge and opposing artists are being faced with immense oppression and penal sanctions One of the outcomes of this process is a kind of new nomadism that we can sketch out as leaving behind And one of the forms of this leaving is voluntary or involuntary exile The majority of those whom we call new exile intellectuals today have relocated generally to Western Europe Great Britain the United States and especially to Germany This new wave of political forced migration which started in the aftermath of the Gezi uprisings and gained momentum following the coup attempt has been defined by the editors of the book as new exile in order to draw a framework as it has some unique characteristics different from the previous waves The fundamental property of this experience is the simultaneous mobilization of intellectual capital and bi polar opposition This oppositional stance is both against the dominant global order and against German style authoritarianism as well as Turkish style fascism It is bi polar in the context of exile The form of the opposition in question has the ability to take root in the lands it arrives at It does not point towards a single direction forward or backward and a single place the place it was ruptured it is here now and multidirectional This state of new exile bears the efforts of existing critical knowledge and art producers in the heim to which they have relocated as critical knowledge and art producers are opposed to the dominant world system as well as to fascism in Turkey As political subjects of the resistance against authoritarianism they are continuously and collectively fighting against the structural fate of displacement As both subjects and researchers of this current state of new exile it is our primary responsibility to understand and produce knowledge of these intellectuals responses in this new life to monitor the creation processes of the new mechanisms to cope with the challenges and to understand investigate the effects of all these on the transnational social space We have tried to determine the content of this book based on our own experiences as new exiled intellectuals We believe that in this period of new exile we are subjects and witnesses of a historic period due to our individual struggle for existence as well as our modes of organization and solidarity as a group of new exiled intellectuals On one hand we know that while transforming ourselves we pave the way for mutual interaction and the transformation of the structures in which we relate This is precisely why the motivation behind the idea of compiling this book lies not only in academic concerns such as analyzing the process and contributing to the literature on new exile but also in keeping a record of our own stories creating memories of our new exilic lives strategies of existence solidarity and experiences of activism and in sharing them with intellectuals around the globe who face the same fate We believe that this book with academic analyses and personal stories of new exile intellectuals from different professions will also serve as a guide for the steps towards transnational collaborations

Phenomenology of Broken Habits Line Ryberg Ingerslev, Karl Mertens, 2024-07-12 This volume explores the phenomenology of broken habits and their affective social and involuntary dimensions It shows how disruptive experiences impact self understanding and social embeddedness The chapters in this volume investigate the epistemic and existential relevance of breakdown of habits and the corresponding kinds of self understanding available to the agent The first part focuses on the double sidedness of habitual life On the one hand habits allow us to arrange and navigate in a familiar home world on the other hand habits can take hold of us in such a way that we lose our sense of autonomy The contributors argue that habitual agency is structurally carried by a dynamic that entails both freedom and necessity As habits enable us to inhabit and thus acquire a world they also affectively provide a texture and a background for our feeling at home in the world The chapters in Part 2 focus on the breakdowns of our habitual social and technological life forms and the phenomenology of their affective texture History and habitual learning are sedimented in our body memory and in our language and these sedimented layers are partly out of our direct control Part 3 focuses on the structural openness of habits in relating to one's past and one's traumatic experiences Part 4 reflects on the ways in which we might become aware of and thus transform or appropriate our culturally given habits Phenomenology of Broken Habits will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in phenomenology philosophy of mind and philosophy of psychology

Writings of Exile in the English Revolution and Restoration Philip Major, 2016-02-11 Writings of Exile in the English Revolution and Restoration opens a window onto exile in the years 1640 1680 as it is experienced across a broad spectrum of political and religious allegiances and communicated through a rich variety of genres Examining previously undiscovered and understudied as well as canonical writings it challenges conventional paradigms which assume a neat demarcation of chronology geography and allegiance in this seminal period of British and American history Crossing disciplinary lines it casts new light on how the ruptures and in some cases liberation of exile in these years both reflected and informed events in the public sphere It also lays bare the personal psychological and familial repercussions of exile and their attendant literary modes in terms of both inner mental withdrawal and physical displacement

Mythologies of Internal Exile in Elizabethan Verse A.D. Cousins, 2018-10-26 Writers of the English Renaissance like their European contemporaries frequently reflect on the phenomenon of exile an experience that forces the individual to establish a new personal identity in an alien environment Although there has been much commentary on this phenomenon as represented in English Renaissance literature there has been nothing written at length about its counterpart namely internal exile marginalization or estrangement within the homeland This volume considers internal exile as a simultaneously twofold experience It studies estrangement from one's society and correlatively from one's normative sense of self In doing so it focuses initially on the sonnet sequences by Sidney Spenser and Shakespeare which is to say the problematics of romance then it examines the verse satires of Donne Hall and Marston likewise the problematics of anti romance This book argues that the authors of these major texts create mythologies via the myths of and accumulated mythographies about Cupid satyrs and Proteus through which to reflect on the doubleness of exile within one's own community These mythologies at times accompanied by theologies of alienation suggest that internal exile is a fluid and complex experience demanding multifarious reinterpretation of the incongruously expatriate self The monograph thus establishes a new framework for understanding texts at once diverse yet central to the Elizabethan literary achievement
