Theologies of Language in English Renaissance Literature James S. Baumlin, 2012-05-30 James S. Baumlin s Theologies of Language in English Renaissance Literature offers a revisionist history of discourse taking Shakespeare Donne and Milton as its touchstones Their works mark stages in dieEntzauberung or disenchantment as Max Weber has termed it that is in the elimination of magic from the world Shakespeare s Hamlet questions the word magic associated with medieval Catholicism Donne s love lyrics ironize the sacramental gestures of their poetic priestly speakers more radical still Milton s major poems and polemical prose empty language of sacral power repudiating human persuasion entirely over matters of saving faith Baumlin describes four archetypes of historical rhetoric sophism skepticism incarnationism and transcendence Undergirding the age's competing theologies each makes unique assumptions regarding the powers of language both communicative and performative the nature of being including transcendent being or deity the structure of the psyche whether sin weakened or self sufficient and the capacities of human knowing whether certain knowledge is communicable or even possible Working within divergent theologies of language the poets here studied take theological controversies as explicit themes The crisis of Hamlet begins not in a king's murder simply but in his dying without benefit of the sacraments As if compensating for their loss young Hamlet minister's to Gertrude while acting as scourge to Claudius Alternating between soul cursing and soul curing Hamlet plays sorcerer and priest indiscriminately Appropriating the speech acts of Catholic sacramentalism Donne's lyrics describe a private religion of Love over which the poet lover presides as officiant Or rather some lyrics present him as Love's Priest there being as many personae as there are theologies of language Beyond Love's Priest Baumlin describes three such personae Love's Apostate Love's Atheist and Love's Reformer Focusing on Lycidas and De Doctrina Christiana Baumlin outlines Milton's plerophoristic rhetoric of certitude Such texts as these explore the problematic status of preaching Can human eloquence contribute to salvation They explore competing definitions Aristotelian vs Pauline of pistis meaning alternatively religious faith and rhetorical persuasion And they invoke conflicting typologies classical vs Hebraic of authorial ethos Baumlin's study ends with a glance at the Restoration and Royal Society's final disenchantment or secularization of discourse

John Donne's Performances Margret Fetzer, 2013-07-19 Ever since their rediscovery in the 1920s John Donne's writings have been praised for their energy vigour and drama yet so far no attempt has been made to approach and define systematically these major characteristics of his work Drawing on J L Austin's speech act theory Margret Fetzer's comparative reading of Donne's poetry and prose eschews questions of personal or religious sincerity and instead recreates an image of John Donne as a man of many performances No matter if engaged in the writing of a sermon or a piece of erotic poetry Donne placed enormous trust in what words could do Questions as to how saying something may actually bring about that very thing or how playing the part of someone else affects an actor's identity are central to Donne's oeuvre and moreover highly relevant in the cultural and theological contexts of the early modern period in general In treating both canonical and lesser known Donne texts John Donne's Performances hopes to make a significant contribution not only to Donne criticism and research into early modern culture by using concepts of performance and performativity as its major theoretical backdrop it aims to establish an interdisciplinary link with the field of performance studies

The Cambridge Companion to John Donne Achsah Guibbory, 2006-02-02 The Cambridge Companion to John Donne introduces students undergraduate and graduate to the range brilliance and complexity of John Donne Sixteen essays written by an international array of leading scholars and critics cover Donne's poetry erotic satirical devotional and his prose including his

Sermons and occasional letters Providing readings of his texts and also fully situating them in the historical and cultural context of early modern England these essays offer the most up to date scholarship and introduce students to the current thinking and debates about Donne while providing tools for students to read Donne with greater understanding and enjoyment Special features include a chronology a short biography essays on political and religious contexts an essay on the experience of reading his lyrics a meditation on Donne by the contemporary novelist A S Byatt and an extensive bibliography of editions and criticism

Co-Creative Communication in George Herbert and John Donne Sara Rogalski, 2025-03-17

This study examines the co creative relationship between speakers hearers and God in poetry and prose by George Herbert and John Donne Through analyses of communicative situations communicative interactions and reflections on communication models of communication are established that underlie the texts selected In particular the activity of hearing is shown to be considered essential to the constitution of a meaningful utterance In this way a key function of communication becomes apparent it can yield a range of creative products from the conversation itself to a literary artefact and its extratextual effects This study thus offers a new reading of the texts of George Herbert and John Donne and provides a clear perspective on how early modern religious texts regarded communication and co creativity as connected concepts

John Donne's Lyrics Arnold Sidney Stein, 1962-01-01

John Donne s Lyrics was first published in 1962 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions Combining modern insight with historical perspective Professor Stein offers a fresh interpretation of Donne s lyric poems His method is cumulative it includes cross references to the religious writing analysis of individual poems and their relationship to larger patterns which reflect Donne s poetic mind Among the specific problems he deals with are those which concern metaphor symbol myth wit fictions negative theology consciousness and simplicity binary and ternary form in poetry meter and meaning rationalism and affective language the visual and the auditory Professor Stein demonstrates that to gain insight into the integrity of Donne s poetic mind it is necessary to take seriously two propositions that Donne is a poetic logician endowed with a talent and love for the unity of imaginative form and that Donne s poetry though it is not simple nevertheless deeply and persistently engages important problems which concern simplicity In one of his sermons Donne wrote The eloquence of inferiours is in words the eloquence of superiours is in action Professor Stein maintains that in his best poems Donne aspires to the eloquence of action and never to the eloquence of words Although the study is focused on Donne s lyrics the interpretation is based on a long study of all the poems and the prose and on background and foreground materials In a postscript the author discusses Donne s modern career development outline the 17th century textual history of the poems and sketch the treatment of the text by modern editors A detailed textual apparatus presents variants collated from many sources and traces the lines of textual transmission Provided by publisher

The Variorum Edition of the Poetry of John Donne, Volume 6 John Donne, 1995

John Donne David Edwards, 2001-05-21 Donne is best known as a poet of love never describing physical beauty in detail but brilliantly able to recreate a man's experience of love's emotions and realities but he is much else besides He is a poet of the spiritual journey who in his power speaks to others in travail a great preacher who soars into word music and encapsulates complex theology in illuminating epigrams David Edwards ranges across all Donne's writings including the critically neglected sermons to produce a new and compelling portrait of this tortured and contradictory figure As the tree's sap doth seek the root below In winter in my winter now I go Where none but thee the Eternal root Of true Love I may know

JOHN DONNE Shakespeare's Metrical Art George T. Wright, 1988 This is a wide ranging poetic analysis of the great English poetic line iambic pentameter as used by Chaucer Sidney Milton and particularly by Shakespeare George T Wright offers a detailed survey of Shakespeare's brilliantly varied metrical keyboard and shows how it augments the expressiveness of his characters stage language

Confessions of Faith in Early Modern England Brooke Conti, 2014-01-18 As seventeenth century England wrestled with the aftereffects of the Reformation the personal frequently conflicted with the political In speeches political pamphlets and other works of religious controversy writers from the reign of James I to that of James II unexpectedly erupt into autobiography John Milton famously interrupts his arguments against episcopacy with autobiographical accounts of his poetic hopes and dreams while John Donne's attempts to describe his conversion from Catholicism wind up obscuring rather than explaining Similar moments appear in the works of Thomas Browne John Bunyan and the two King Jameses themselves These autobiographies are familiar enough that their peculiarities have frequently been overlooked in scholarship but as Brooke Conti notes they sit uneasily within their surrounding material as well as within the conventions of confessional literature that preceded them Confessions of Faith in Early Modern England positions works such as Milton's political tracts Donne's polemical and devotional prose Browne's Religio Medici and Bunyan's Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners as products of the era's tense political climate illuminating how the pressures of public self declaration and allegiance led to autobiographical writings that often concealed more than they revealed For these authors autobiography was less a genre than a device to negotiate competing political personal and psychological demands The complex works Conti explores provide a privileged window into the pressures placed on early modern religious identity underscoring that it was no simple matter for these authors to tell the truth of their interior life even to themselves
