Collaborative Evaluations in Practice Liliana Rodríguez-Campos, 2015-04-01 One of the reasons some groups are more effective than others is collaboration people implement evaluative decisions more willingly if they have collaborated on those decisions This book introduces real world applications of the Model for Collaborative Evaluations MCE in business nonprofit and education to make collaborative evaluations more accessible to you The MCE is a systematic framework that revolves around a set of six interactive components specific to conducting a collaborative evaluation It represents a practical attempt to capture the essence of collaborative evaluation from various perspectives in order to offer a valuable understanding of different stances that often arise when using this type of approach A multidisciplinary team of authors enriches the diverse perspectives of this book with their international and cross cultural expertise The intention is to share a deeper understanding of how this approach is applied to build collaborative relationships within an evaluation recognizing the level of collaboration will vary in each situation

Credibility, Validity, and Assumptions in Program Evaluation Methodology Apollo M.

Nkwake, 2023-12-13 This book focuses on methods of choice in program evaluation Credible methods choice lies in the assumptions we make about the appropriateness and validity of selected methods and the validity of those assumptions As evaluators make methodological decisions in various stages of the evaluation process a number of validity questions arise Yet unexamined assumptions are a risk to useful evaluation The first edition of this book discussed the formulation of credible methodological arguments and methods of examining validity assumptions However previous publications suggest advantages and disadvantages of using various methods and when to use them Instead this book analyzes assumptions underlying actual methodological choices in evaluation studies and how these influence evaluation quality This analysis is the basis of suggested tools The second edition extends the review of methodological assumptions to the evaluation of humanitarian assistance While evaluators of humanitarian action apply conventional research methods and standards they have to adapt these methods to the challenges and constraints of crisis contexts For example the urgency and chaos of humanitarian emergencies makes it hard to obtain program documentation objectives may be unclear and early plans may quickly become outdated as the context changes or is clarified The lack of up to date baseline data is not uncommon Neither is staff turnover Differences in perspective may intensify and undermine trust The deviation from ideal circumstances challenges evaluation and calls for methodological innovation And how do evaluators work with assumptions in non ideal settings What tools are most relevant and effective This revised edition reviews major evaluations of humanitarian action and discusses strategies for working with evaluation assumptions in crises and stable program settings

Program Evaluation Apollo M. Nkwake, 2019-11-27 This book discusses the crucial place that assumptions hold in conceptualizing implementing and evaluating development programs It suggests simple ways for stakeholders and evaluators to 1 examine their assumptions about program theory and environmental conditions and 2 develop and carry out effective program monitoring and evaluation in light of those assumptions A survey of evaluators from an international development agency reviewed the state of practice on assumptions aware evaluation This 2nd edition has been updated with further illustrations case studies and frameworks that have been researched and tested in the years since the first edition Regardless of geography or goal development programs and policies are fueled by a complex network of implicit ideas Stakeholders may hold assumptions about purposes outcomes methodology and the value of project evaluation and evaluators which may or may not be shared by the evaluators A major barrier to viable program evaluations is that development programs are based on assumptions that often are not well articulated In designing programs stakeholders often lack clear outlines for how implemented interventions will bring desired changes This lack of clarity masks critical risks to program success and makes it challenging to evaluate such programs Methods that have attempted to address this dilemma have been popularized as theory of change or other theory based approaches Often however theory based methods do not sufficiently clarify how program managers or evaluators should work with the assumptions inherent in the connections between the steps The critical examination of assumptions in evaluation is essential for effective evaluations and evaluative thinking How does one think evaluatively It all begins with assumptions Systematically articulating examining and testing assumptions is the foundation of evaluative thinking This book more than any other explains how to build a strong foundation for effective interventions and useful evaluation by rigorously working with assumptions Michael Quinn Patton PhD Author of Utilization Focused Evaluation and co editor of THOUGHTWORK Thinking Action and the Fate of the World USA This updated edition presents us with a new opportunity to delve into both the theoretical and practical aspects of paradigmatic prescriptive and causal assumptions We need to learn and apply these insights with the deep attention they deserve Zenda Ofir PhD Independent Evaluator Richard von Weizsäcker Fellow Robert Bosch Academy Berlin Germany Honorary Professor School of Public Leadership Stellenbosch University South Africa This thought provoking book explains why assumptions are an essential condition within the theories and methodologies of evaluation and how assumptions influence the ways that evaluators approach their work It will enrich the ways that evaluators develop their models devise their methodologies interpret their data and interact with their stakeholders Jonny Morell Ph D President 4 669 Evaluation and Planning Editor Emeritus Evaluation and Program Planning
