Darley, 1979 Effective Speech-language Pathology John R. Muma, 2014-03-05 This book is the first to summarize the voluminous literature on the development of cognitive codification language and expressive affective CCCE skills from a clinical standpoint Emphasizing the need to ground services in research and theory the author constructs three basic clinical models a conceptual model for understanding a descriptive model for formal assessment and a facilitative model for intervention These models have major implications for the work of all those who deal with CCCE problems in a professional capacity Behavioral Assessment and Rehabilitation of the Traumatically Brain-Damaged Barry A. Edelstein, Eugene T. Couture, 2013-11-22 This book developed out of the editors longstanding interest in the retraining of traumatically brain damaged adults and the management of their behavior by family members A search for relevant experimental evidence to support the clinical use of behavioral principles for retrain ing which began in 1977 turned up little empirical support Moreover the literature on retraining was dispersed among a variety of journals published in various countries Nowhere was there a compendium of literature that addressed issues of assessment and retraining There was no place to turn if one wanted to move from a standard neuropsychological evaluation to the retraining of skill deficits revealed in the evaluation We have attempted to edit a book that represents what we had hoped to find in the literature and could be used by professionals in clinical psychology clinical neuropsychology rehabilitation medicine physical therapy speech therapy and other disciplines that address rehabilitation of brain damaged adults a book that addresses assessment and rehabilitation issues and is sufficiently detailed to offer the reader a starting point in developing behavioral assessment and rehabilitation programs The book contains conceptual foundations reviews of research descriptions of successful rehabilitation programs and relatively detailed approaches to the retraining of specific skills A shift from an assessment based practice to one encompassing both prescriptive assessment and treatment has become a recognized transition in the neuropsychological literature and was best articulated in an article by Gerald Goldstein in March of 1979 Assessment of Aphasia Otfried Spreen, Anthony H. Risser, 2003 For the past twenty years Spreen and Risser have episodically reviewed the state of aphasia assessment in contemporary clinical practice This book represents their most thorough effort Taking a flexible assessment approach the authors present dozens of tests for traditional use in the diagnosis of aphasia and in functional communication childhood language development bilingual testing pragmatic aspects of language in everyday life and communication problems in individuals with head injury or with lesions of the right hemisphere The book is a thorough and practical resource for speech and language pathologists neuropsychologists and their students and trainees Speech and Language Norman J. Golden, Gerald Goldstein, Theresa M. Incagnoli, 2013-11-11 Clinical neuropsychology has become a field of major prominence during the past several years as well as a field of great complexity As a result of the extensive amount of activity that neuropsychology has experienced recently two major developments have emerged First several approaches have evolved regarding comprehensive neuro psychological assessment There are presently several standard test bat teries in common use as well as an approach to assessment that does not make use of standard batteries but rather fits the evaluation accom plished to the particular diagnostic problems presented by the indi vidual patient Second a great deal of specialization has emerged with assessment procedures developed for evaluation of specific types of neuropsychological deficit The purpose of this volume is to review these developments particularly with reference to their implications for application in clinical settings The history of this book s development is of particular interest Some years ago the Veterans Administration became concerned with developing an optimal method of neuropsychological assessment for its many health care related facilities Initially the problem was con ceptualized in terms of whether the VA should encourage wider use of the long established Halstead Reitan Neuropsychological Test Battery HRB or promote more extensive use of the recently developed Luria Nebraska Neuropsychological Test Battery LNNB A conference was funded to bring together authorities in clinical neuropsychology to dis cuss this matter and present a series of papers to invited psychologists from various VA facilities The Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders ,1984 Annual issue 1956 is the annual directory number of the American Speech and Hearing Association
