The Local History Project

The Local History Project is a teacher-directed collaborative student project in which students research the history of their communities and share their findings with their global peers. The LHP enables the youth and teachers to collaborate locally and globally using ICT technologies to enhance learning and make a difference in their own communities and around the world.

Possible project/classroom activities

Possible project/classroom activities:
 e-mail exchange, forum discussions, essay writing, sharing pictures and art, live sessions via Skype or Blackboard (Jlluminate) to share culture, traditions, country customs and folklore and of course we value the thoughts of all project participants.

The goals of the project

The goal of the project

To teach the students to care about the place they live, appreciate historical and cultural environment, to care and respect older generations, to understand and appreciate a historical heritage of the past and the present.

To enhance awareness of the significance of local history to students' present lives and to appreciate cultural diversity.

To develop research skills.

To form and develop academic skills, thinking, reasoning, teamwork skills and to enhance cross cultural dialogue.

To form and develop key foreign language competences and skills.

To develop ICT skills.

Group Projects In Local History:

Encyclopedia of Local History Carol Kammen, Amy H. Wilson, 2012-10-12 The Encyclopedia of Local History addresses nearly every aspect of local history including everyday issues theoretical approaches and trends in the field The second edition highlights local history practice in each U S state and Canadian province New Directions in Local History Since Hoskins Christopher Dyer, Andrew Hopper, Evelyn Lord, 2011-10 Utilizing the techniques developed by renowned local historian W G Hoskins in his landmark study published 50 years ago Local History in England this book demonstrates how local history has evolved as a discipline over the last half century Fifteen historians write about a variety of local history subjects that are significant in their own right but which also point to current trends in the field They show how local historians use their sources systematically from the nonverbal evidence of buildings to various types of electronic sources All periods between the middle ages and the early twenty first century are explored covering many parts of England from Skye to the Kent coast and discussing topics that include social economic religious legal intellectual and cultural history Local History in England W. G. Hoskins, David Hey, 2014-01-14 Considered to be the classic introduction to the subject this third edition has been carefully revised and updated to take account of the developments in the subject and includes an extensive newly compiled bibliography and twice the number of illustrations as in previous editions Sources for English Local History W. B. Stephens, 1981-09-10 English local and regional history has attracted widespread attention in the last twenty five to thirty years Its study has expanded at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in universities polytechnics and at other institutions of higher education and it has long retained its popularity as a subject for adult education classes In schools the teaching of local history in its own right and as an ingredient of general history environmental studies and local and social studies is well established and commonly involves the use of original sources The expansion of genealogical studies into the wider area of family history has involved many individuals and groups in the investigation of the local conditions which existed where former generations lived and in this pursuit increasing use of local records has been made Many who seek to involve themselves in this work however find that they are ill equipped in the knowledge of what sources exist where they are to be found or what techniques are suitable in making the best use of them The Voice of the Past Paul Thompson, Joanna Bornat, 2017 Oral history gives history back to the people in their own words And in giving a past it also helps them towards a future of their own making Oral history and life stories help to create a truer picture of the past and the changing present documenting the lives and feelings of all kinds of people many otherwise hidden from history It explores personal and family relationships and uncovers the secret cultures of work It connects public and private experience and it highlights the experiences of migrating between cultures At the same time it can bring courage to the old meaning to communities and contact between generations Sometimes it can offer a path for healing divided communities and those with traumatic memories Without it the history and sociology of our time would be poor and narrow In this fourth edition of his pioneering work fully revised with Joanna Bornat Paul Thompson challenges the accepted myths of historical scholarship He discusses the reliability of oral evidence in comparison with other sources and considers the social context of its development He looks at the relationship between memory the self and identity He traces oral history through its own past and weighs up the recent achievements of a movement which has become international with notably strong developments in North America Europe Australia Latin America South Africa and the Far East despite resistance from more conservative academics This new edition combines the classic text of The Voice of the Past with many new sections including especially the worldwide development of different forms of oral history and the parallel memory boom as well as discussions of theory in oral history and of memory trauma and reconciliation It offers a deep social and historical interpretation along with succinct practical advice on designing and carrying out a project The Voice of the Past remains an invaluable tool for anyone setting out to use oral history and life stories to construct a more authentic and balanced record of the past and the present

The Pursuit of Local History Carol Kammen, American Association for State and Local History, 1996 In this work readers can discover the role local historians play find out what the experts see as the values of the local history while exploring their theories and see how local history has been practised by those who have dedicated their lives to it

Pathways and Patterns in History Peter J. Morden, 2020-10-06 Professor David Bebbington is a highly regarded historian He holds a chair at the University of Stirling has been President of the Ecclesiastical History Society and has delivered numerous endowed lecture series as well as being deeply involved in the Dr Williams s Dissenting Academies Project He is both a popular and influential academic historian whose writings have significantly shaped our thinking about the history of evangelicalism Baptist life and political developments In Pathways and Patterns colleagues former research students and friends who are indebted to Professor Bebbington and value his contribution to scholarship join together to pay tribute to his outstanding work Not only has he stimulated academic endeavour he has also given much personal support not least to those in the Baptist Historical Society and in Colleges among them Spurgeon s College and Baylor University USA where he is a Distinguished Visiting Professor This volume reflects his wide involvements and the grateful esteem in which he is held Among Professor Bebbington s achievements has been both instituting and masterminding the very important International Conference on Baptist Studies ICOBS held every three years in different parts of the world It is appropriate then that this volume was presented to him at the Seventh ICOBS Conference held in Manchester July 2015

People's History and Socialist Theory (Routledge Revivals) Raphael Samuel, 2016-05-12 First published in 1981 this book brings together different types of work by numerous fragmented groups in the field of Marxist history and puts them in dialogue with each other It takes stock of then recent work explores the main new lines and looks at the political and ideological circumstances shaping the direction of historical work past and present The scope of the book is international with contributions on African history fascism and anti fascism French labour history and the transition from feudalism to capitalism It also incorporates feminist history and gives attention to some of the leading questions raised for social history by the women's movement

Heritage and Community

Engagement Emma Waterton, Steve Watson, 2013-09-13 This book is about the way that professionals in archaeology and in other sectors of heritage interact with a range of stakeholder groups, communities and the wider public. Whilst these issues have been researched and discussed over many years and in many geographical contexts, the debate seems to have settled into a comfortable stasis wherein it is assumed that all that can be done by way of engagement has been done and there is little left to achieve. In some cases, such engagement is built on legislation or codes of ethics and there can be little doubt that it is an important and significant aspect of heritage policy. This book is different, however, because it questions not so much the motivations of heritage professionals but the nature of the engagement itself: the extent to which this is collaborative or contested and the implications this has for the communities concerned. Furthermore, in exploring these issues in a variety of contexts around the world, it recognises that heritage provides a source of engagement within communities that is separate from professional discourse and can thus enable them to find voices of their own in the political processes that concern them and affect their development, identity and well-being. This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Heritage Studies.

British Librarianship and Information Work 2001-2005 J.H. Bowman, 2016-04-15 This important reference volume covers developments in aspects of British library and information work during the five-year period 2001-2005. Over forty contributors, all of whom are experts in their subject, provide an overview of their field along with extensive further references which act as a starting point for further research. The book provides a comprehensive record of library and information management during the past five years and will be essential reading for all scholars, library professionals and students.

The Remaking of Archival Values Victoria Hoyle, 2022-10-07 The Remaking of Archival Values posits that archival theory and practice are fields in flux and that recent critical archival discourse that addresses neoliberalism, racism and the legacies of colonialism and patriarchy represents a disruption not only to established principles but also to the values that underpin them. Using critical discourse analysis and comparing theory and practice from the UK and the Anglophone world, Hoyle explores the challenges faced by scholars, institutions, organisations and practitioners in embedding new values. She demonstrates how persistent underlying discursive structures about archives have manifested from the late nineteenth century to the present day. Qualitative and participatory research in the UK shows how conceptions of archival value arise, are expressed and become authorised in practice at international, national and local levels. Considering what might be learnt from similar debates in public history and cultural heritage studies, the book asks if and how dominant epistemologies of the archive can be dismantled amidst systems of power that resist change. The Remaking of Archival Values is relevant to researchers and students in the field of archival and information studies as well as practitioners who work with archives around the world. It will also speak to the interests of those working in the fields of cultural heritage, archaeology, museum studies, public history and gender and race studies.

British librarianship and information work 2011-2015 J. H.

Bowman,2017-01-24 This is the latest in an important series of reviews going back to 1928 The book contains 28 chapters written by experts in their field and reviews developments in the principal aspects of British librarianship and information work in the years 2011 2015      The Local Historian ,1994 Issues for autumn 1961 include the Standing Conference for Local History Bulletin      Public History in Global Perspective Georgina Laragy,Richard Legay,Ciaran O'Neill,Hannah K. Smyth,2025-07-21 Where should public history sit within the matrix of global international trans national and more local histories Since its emergence in the 1970s Public History has typically been read as community oriented and more local in its applications The academic field in particular has developed along national lines and indeed we see in the many monographs edited books and journals that have emerged a distinct tendency to consider public history as understandable mostly in its relation to the nation state and its attendant mythologies The meta narratives that public history pushes against are the building blocks of national histories political military and heroic histories Conceiving of a global public history seems to have more radical potential than an international public history which arguably simply collects these national histories What would a global public history look like and how can it disrupt the field if interpreted radically This book will centre the work of scholars and professionals in the field of Public History It will offer novel reflections on postgraduate Public History learning work experience and application from recent graduates and partnered institutions A mix of theory and practice traditional and creative methodologies it demonstrates the value of integrating work experience practitioner workshops and close collaboration in Public History training      Master Register of Bicentennial Projects, February 1976 American Revolution Bicentennial Administration,1976      Recording Oral History Valerie Raleigh Yow,2014-12-05 Recording Oral History now available in its third edition provides a comprehensive guide to oral history for researchers and students in diverse fields including history sociology anthropology education psychology social work and ethnographic methods Writing in a clear accessible style Valerie Yow builds on the foundations laid in prior editions of her widely used and highly regarded text to tackle not just the practicalities of interviewing but also the varied ethical legal and philosophical questions that can arise The text now twelve chapters allows for dedicated discussion of both legalities and ethics Other new material include recent research on how brain functions affect memory more comprehensive demonstration of how to analyze an interview and details on making the most of technology both old and new Each chapter concludes with updated and annotated Recommended Readings and tailored appendixes address new developments such as institutional review boards and the Oral History Association's new Principles and Best Practices      Developing a Critical Border Dialogism Timothy G. Cashman,2015-05-01 This book is based upon research conducted both before and after a visit to Kota Kinabalu Malaysia in March 2003 During this time period United States US bombs fell on Baghdad Iraq An invasion of US and British ground forces in Baghdad and other Iraqi cities followed the initial bombing Events during the onset of the war became a catalyst for gaining insight on how the US invasion of Iraq impacted the lives of teachers and their students in Malaysia In June and July of 2003 the researcher returned to interview educators in Sabah Malaysia Follow up electronic communications with educators were conducted through the remainder of 2003 After the research in Malaysia the researcher conducted studies of educators perspectives in Mexico Canada and the US The key objective of the investigations in all four countries was to uncover attitudes and pedagogical comparisons of educators and their students regarding US policies including war and counter terrorism policies Studies in the US took place in close proximity to the US Mexico international border Studies were analyzed through the lenses of place based pedagogy border pedagogy and issues centered approaches that provided baseline information for transnational comparisons and cross comparative case studies In this manner the researcher contemplated the intersection of a critical pedagogy of place and border pedagogy From these studies emerged new understandings and the development of a critical border dialogism This critical border dialogism is based on following principles heteroglossia meliorism critical cosmopolitanism nepantla dialogism feminism and pragmatic hope By its nature critical border dialogism engages us in multidirectional discourses that allow us to tackle issues and work toward enduring conflict resolutions When applied in classroom settings critical border dialogism moves educators students and cultural workers in the direction of a critical border praxis

Handbook for History Teachers W. Burston dec'd,Cyril Green,E Nicholas,A Dickinson,D Thompson,2021-12-24 First published in 1972 Handbook for History Teachers is intended to be a general and comprehensive work of reference for teachers of history in primary and secondary schools of all kinds The book covers all aspects of teaching history among them are the use of sources world history art and history principles of constructing a syllabus and the psychological aspects of history teaching The bibliographical sections are arranged on three parts school textbooks a section on audio visual aids and finally books for the teacher and possibly for the sixth form It thoroughly investigates and critiques the various methods employed in teaching history within classrooms and suggests alternatives wherever applicable Diligently curated by the Standing Sub Committee in History University of London Institute of Education the book still holds immense value in the understanding of pedagogy

Local History and War Memories in Hokkaido Philip A. Seaton, 2015-07-24 Hokkaido the northernmost island of Japan barely features in most histories of the Second World War However the combination of distinctive war experiences a vibrant set of local historian groups and powerful media organizations disseminating local war history has generated an identifiable set of local collective memories Hokkaido s status as an early colonial acquisition also makes the island an important vantage point from which to reassess the course and nature of the Japanese Empire This book argues that Hokkaido s experiences of war and its militarized post war constitutes a local case study with a much greater national and international significance on both theoretical and empirical grounds than first impressions might suggest Using Japanese language sources presented for the first time in English and a number of detailed local history case studies it offers a fascinating and hitherto little known perspective on the Second World War It also combines a comprehensive theory of how war memories operate at the local level within a broad historical context that explains Hokkaido s pivotal role within Japanese imperial history Demonstrating that understanding local history and memories is essential for a nuanced understanding of national history and memories the book will be highly valuable to students and scholars of Japanese history Second World War history and Asian history
