Gramophone, Film, Typewriter Friedrich A. Kittler, 1999 On history of communication Gramophone, Film, Typewriter Friedrich A. Kittler, 1999 Horror Video Games Bernard Perron, 2014-01-10 In this in depth critical and theoretical analysis of the horror genre in video games 14 essays explore the cultural underpinnings of horror s allure for gamers and the evolution of survival themes The techniques and story effects of specific games such as Resident Evil Call of Cthulhu and Silent Hill are examined individually Culture and Medicine Rishi Goyal, Arden Hegele, 2022-10-20 Charting shared advances across the emerging fields of medical humanities and health humanities this book engages with the question of how biomedical knowledge is constructed negotiated and circulated as a cultural practice The volume is composed of a series of pathbreaking inter disciplinary essays that bring sociocultural habits of mind and modes of thought to the study of medicine health and patients These juxtapositions create new forms of knowledge while emphasizing the vulnerability of human bodies anti essentialist approaches to biology a sensitivity to language and rhetoric and an attention to social justice These essays dissect the ways that cultural practices define the limits of health and the body from the body s place and trajectory in the world to how bodies relate to one another from questions about ageing and sex to what counts as health and illness Considering how these and other concepts are shaped by a negotiation between medico scientific knowledge and ways of knowing derived from other domains this book provides important new insights into how biomedical frameworks become settled forms for broader cultural understanding Compact Cinematics Pepita Hesselberth, Maria Poulaki, 2017-01-26 Compact Cinematics challenges the dominant understanding of cinema to focus on the various compact short miniature pocket sized forms of cinematics that have existed from even before its standardization in theatrical form and in recent years have multiplied and proliferated taking up an increasingly important part of our everyday multimedia environment Short films or micro narratives cinematic pieces or units re assembled into image archives and looping themes challenge the concepts that have traditionally been used to understand cinematic experience like linear causality sequentiality and closure and call attention to complex and modular forms of cinematic expression and perception Such forms in turn seem to meet the requirements of digital convergence which has pushed the development of more compact and mobile hardware for the display and use of audiovisual content on laptops smartphones and tablets Meanwhile contemporary economies of digital content acquisition filing and sharing equally require the shrinking of cinematic content for it to be recorded played projected distributed and installed with ease and speed In this process cinematic experience is shortened and condensed as well so as to fit the late capitalist attention economy The essays in this volume ask what this changed technical socio economic and political situation entails for the aesthetics and experience of contemporary cinematics and call attention to different concepts theories and tools at our disposal to analyze these changes The Cambridge Companion to the Lied James Parsons, 2004-07 Beginning several generations before Schubert the Lied first appears as domestic entertainment In the century that follows it becomes one of the primary modes of music making By the time German song comes to its presumed conclusion with Richard Strauss's 1948 Vier letzte Lieder this rich repertoire has moved beyond the home and keyboard accompaniment to the symphony hall This is a 2004 introductory chronicle of this fascinating genre In essays by eminent scholars this Companion places the Lied in its full context at once musical literary and cultural with chapters devoted to focal composers as well as important issues such as the way in which the Lied influenced other musical genres its use as a musical commodity and issues of performance The volume is framed by a detailed chronology of German music and poetry from the late 1730s to the present and also contains a comprehensive bibliography

Sounding the Virtual: Gilles Deleuze and the Theory and Philosophy of Music Nick Nesbitt, 2016-04-01 It is the contention of the editors and contributors of this volume that the work carried out by Gilles Deleuze where rigorously applied has the potential to cut through much of the intellectual sedimentation that has settled in the fields of music studies Deleuze is a vigorous critic of the Western intellectual tradition calling for a philosophy of difference and despite its ambitions he is convinced that Western philosophy fails to truly grasp or think difference as such It is argued that longstanding methods of conceptualizing music are vulnerable to Deleuze's critique But as Deleuze himself stresses more important than merely critiquing established paradigms is developing ways to overcome them and by using Deleuze's own concepts this collection aims to explore that possibility

The Hyperorchestra Sergi Casanellas, 2024-12-19 This book studies the hyperorchestra as used in music for the screen and draws from the intersection of practice and theory The term hyperorchestra derives from hyperreality a postmodern philosophical concept coined by Jean Baudrillard The hyperorchestra is a virtual ensemble that inhabits hyperreality It approaches music spectrally with the aim of becoming a more effective vessel for meaning generation The book is informed by concepts from postmodern philosophy such as hyperreality and Marshall McLuhan's theory of media The book is also informed by the author's own compositional practice it describes contemporary processes current software tools orchestration and instrumentation principles and contemporary approaches to music composition such as spectral music In doing so the book proposes a new perspective for analyzing contemporary film music that pinpoints the importance of the relationship between timbre meaning and the different narrative levels within an audiovisual piece

The Cultural Work of Corporations M. Brown, 2009-09-28 The Cultural Work of Corporations argues that corporate culture the values customs and conventions of a business organization has altered how workers conduct themselves both inside and outside the workplace Brown demonstrates that corporate culture an idea celebrated by business magazines and books human resources departments executives and management theorists is really a means of extending and strengthening work's presence in all aspects of workers' lives even aspects generally categorized as private Innovative in its execution this book draws together a range of literature and information including popular advice books organizational theory fiction corporate mission statements business histories and economic histories Modelling the Future Martin Lawn,2009-05-11 The role of World Exhibitions in the 19th and early 20th centuries was to confirm a relation between the nation state and modernity As a display about industries inventions and identities the Exhibition in a sense put entire nations into an elevated viewable space It is a significant element in modernity as comparisons can be made progress is assumed and the future can be made manageable The Exhibition links the national and local with the international and global Nationalism and internationalism are in tension in the space and so is the relation between government business and media The educational dimension of Exhibitions is an area of research rich in possibilities for historians of education It is a dimension of comparative education which illuminates classifications and genealogies networks and audiences cross border industries of education and the factors which shape discursive and technical exchanges Displays of education objects can be read as demonstrations of modernity in education and schooling They were catalogues of the future Representing Sound Jay Hodgson,Steve MacLeod,2014-05-28 The first title in the Laurier Digital series Representing Sound elucidates the base technical ontology the machine essence of every recorded musical communication In so doing it suggests the broad contours of an unprecedented theoretical basis for considering recording practice that posits no fundamental relationship between it and live performance Representing Sound thus complicates common conceptions of sound to include different ontological states This seemingly simple notion that the acoustic phenomena we encounter in concert are by nature different from those we encounter when we listen to records should have profound consequences for the way everyone from musicologists to rock stars considers recording practice In the tradition of books like Marshall McLuhan s and Quentin Fiore s The Medium Is The Massage 1968 Representing Sound sets its text within more than one hundred original visual artworks each designed to reinforce the essay s broader creative resonances This allows readers to approach the larger ontological argument either atomistically i e on a frame by frame basis or holistically depending on their creative or analytic needs In this way Representing Sound provides a possible model for creative scholarly work in the impending post book era Media Technologies and Posthuman Intimacy Jan Stasienko,2021-12-16 Constructing a theory of intimacy describing processes occurring between a human subject and information creations Jan Stasienko shows in what way and in what phases that relationship is built and what its nature is He discusses technologies and genres related to the construction of a new television message teleprompter interactive television forms appearing both in the analogue and digital eras composition of the film image and specificity of cinematic technologies peep show hybrid animation digital visual effects Also new media technologies and genres will be discussed for example aspects relating to computer games and Web portals making video materials available This diversity is prompted by the desire to show that the building of intimacy protocols is not the domain of the digital era and on the other hand that the posthumanism of media apparatus is a wide ranging problem i e the area encompasses various vehicles findable throughout various historical periods The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Science Steven Meyer,2018-05-03 This Companion shows how literature and science inform one another and that they are more closely aligned than they typically appear Edinburgh Companion to T. S. Eliot and the Arts Frances Dickey,2016-08-16 From his early Curtain Raiser to the late Four Quartets T S Eliot took an interest in all the arts drawing on them for poetic inspiration and for analysis in his prose T S Eliot and the Arts provides extensive high quality research about his many sided engagement with painting sculpture museum artefacts architecture music drama music hall opera and dance as well as the emerging media of recorded sound film and radio Building on the newly published editions of Eliot's prose and poetry this contemporary research collection opens avenues for understanding Eliot both in his own right as a poet and critic and as a foremost exemplar of interarts modernism concepts Bernd Herzogenrath,2022-12-01 This book foregrounds that English monolingualism reduces both our linguistic and conceptual resources presenting concepts from the cultures of 4 continents and 26 languages Concepts seem to work best when created in the interspace between theory and praxis and between philosophy art and science Deleuze himself had generated many concepts in this encounter between philosophy and non philosophy including his ideas of affects and percepts of becoming the stutter the rhizome movement image and time image the rhizome What happens if instead of other disciplines we take other cultures other languages other philosophies Does not the focus on English as a hegemonic language of academic discourse deny us a plethora of possibilities of possible Denkfiguren of possible concepts Each contributor explores ideas that are key to thinking in their language about sound and silence voice and image living and thinking the self and the world while simultaneously addressing the issue of translation Each chapter demonstrates that translation itself is a way of invention rather than just a rendering of concepts from one system in terms of another This collection acts as a travelogue The journey does not follow a particular trajectory some countries are not on the map some are visited twice So there is no claim to completeness involved here it is rather an invitation to answer to the call

Memory Bytes Lauren Rabinovitz,Abraham Geil,2004-01-12 Essays on digital culture what it is its historical context and its uses in the media the film industry and the sciences A New Companion to Digital Humanities Susan Schreibman,Ray Siemens,John Unsworth,2016-01-26 This highly anticipated volume has been extensively revised to reflect changes in technology digital humanities methods and practices and institutional culture surrounding the valuation and publication of digital scholarship A fully revised edition of a celebrated reference work offering the most comprehensive and up to date collection of research currently available in this rapidly evolving discipline Includes new articles addressing topical and provocative issues and ideas such as retro computing desktop fabrication gender dynamics and globalization Brings together a global team of authors who are pioneers of innovative research in the digital humanities Accessibly structured into five sections exploring infrastructures creation analysis dissemination and the future of digital humanities Surveys the past present and future of the field offering essential research for anyone interested in better understanding the theory methods and application of the digital humanities From Energy to Information Bruce Clarke, Linda Dalrymple Henderson, 2002 This book offers an innovative examination of the interactions of science and technology art and literature in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Scholars in the history of art literature architecture computer science and media studies focus on five historical themes in the transition from energy to information thermodynamics electromagnetism inscription information theory and virtuality Different disciplines are grouped around specific moments in the history of science and technology in order to sample the modes of representation invented or adapted by each field in response to newly developed scientific concepts and models By placing literary fictions and the plastic arts in relation to the transition from the era of energy to the information age this collection of essays discovers unexpected resonances among concepts and materials not previously brought into juxtaposition In particular it demonstrates the crucial centrality of the theme of energy in modernist discourse Overall the volume develops the scientific and technological side of the shift from modernism to postmodernism in terms of the conceptual crossover from energy to information The contributors are Christoph Asendorf Ian F A Bell Robert Brain Bruce Clarke Charlotte Douglas N Katherine Hayes Linda Dalrymple Henderson Bruce J Hunt Douglas Kahn Timothy Lenoir W J T Mitchell Marcos Novak Edward Shanken Richard Schiff David Tomas Sha Xin Wei and Norton Wise Shifting Practices Giovan Francesco Lanzara, 2016-03-18 How disruptions and discontinuities caused by the introduction of new technologies often reveal aspects of practice not previously observed What happens in an established practice or work setting when a novel artifact or tool for doing work changes the familiar work routines Any unexpected event or change or technological innovation creates a discontinuity organizations and individuals must reframe taken for granted assumptions and practices and reposition themselves To study innovation as a phenomenon then we must search for situations of discontinuity and rupture and explore them in depth In Shifting Practices Giovan Francesco Lanzara does just that and discovers that disruptions and discontinuities caused by the introduction of new technologies often reveal aspects of practice not previously observed After discussing methodological and research issues Lanzara presents two in depth studies focusing on processes of design and innovation in two different practice settings music education and criminal justice In the first he works with the music department of a major American university to develop Music LOGO a computer system that allows students to explore musical structures with simple composition like exercises and experiments In the second he works with the Italian court system in the design and use of video technology for criminal trials In both cases drawing on anecdotes and examples as well as theory and analysis he traces the new systems from design through implementation and adoption Finally Lanzara considers the researcher's role and the relationship encompassing empathy vulnerability and temporality between the reflective researcher and actors in the practice setting
