have developed from the increasing body of research into the manifold forms of communicative action and interaction For classic linguistics there appears to be a need for a review of the state of the art which will provide a reference base for the rapid advances in research undertaken from a variety of theoretical standpoints while in the more recent branches of communication science the handbooks will give researchers both an verview and orientation To attain these objectives the series will aim for a standard comparable to that of the leading handbooks in other disciplines and to this end will strive for comprehensiveness theoretical explicitness reliable documentation of data and findings and up to date methodology The editors both of the series and of the individual volumes and the individual contributors are committed to this aim The languages of publication are English German and French The main aim of the series is to provide an appropriate account of the state of the art in the various areas of linguistics and communication science covered by each of the various handbooks however no inflexible pre set limits will be imposed on the scope of each volume The series is open ended and can thus take account of further developments in the field This conception coupled with the necessity of allowing adequate time for each volume to be prepared with the necessary care means that there is no set time table for the publication of the whole series Each volume will be a self contained work complete in itself The order in which the handbooks are published does not imply any rank ordering but is determined by the way in which the series is organized the editor of the whole series enlist a competent editor for each individual volume Once the principal editor for a volume has been found he or she then has a completely free hand in the choice of co editors and contributors The editors plan each volume independently of the others being governed only by general formal principles The series editor only intervene where questions of delineation between individual volumes are concerned It is felt that this modus operandi is best suited to achieving the objectives of the series namely to give a competent account of the present state of knowledge and of the perception of the problems in the area covered by each volume   Word of God, words of men Joanna Pietrzak-Thébault,Christopher B. Brown,Günter Frank,Bruce Gordon,Barbara Mahlmann-Bauer,Tarald Rasmussen,Violet Soen,Tóth Zsombor,Günther Wassilowsky,Siegrid Westphal,2019-01-21 The book presents many aspects of the phenomenon of translation and commentary work of the Bible in the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth in the 16th and 17th centuries It contains studies of eminent scholars as well as of some young adepts coming mainly from Poland but also from Lithuania and Czech Republic The texts present various aspects of the researches conducted on this phenomenon nowadays As it was an exceptional movement extremely varied and long time lasting it would be difficult to offer its complete synthesis in one volume Though the exhaustive presentation of the historical and linguistic contexts allows the reader to understand the phenomenon Intensified interest in translations of the Bible is closely connected with the interest in the Polish language its literary expression as well as its grammatical and orthographic standardisation that occurred just in the same time The intellectual activity related to the Bible contributed simultaneously to the development of the Polish literary language and even inspired the translations of the sacred texts of other religions present in the country Moreover contacts between different languages of Central and Eastern European area where many attempts of new translations appeared are very important A quick rise of the different Reformation movements contributed to a natural need for new translations and commentaries to be used by community members These new currents first easily accepted and spread in the country even when suppressed could not stop this activity and later new Catholic translations and commentaries of the post Trident period both in Polish and Lithuanian proved it Big part of study is also dedicated to particular typographical realizations of this activity and an interesting example of the musical expression directly inspired by the biblical translation is also provided
