Hurworth,2008-01-01 Over the past two decades there has been a plethora of book for students about how to tackle Qualitative Research QR but absolutely nothing on how to teach it This book attempts to redress the imbalance by presenting a history of what is known about QR teaching as well as to bring alive current QR teaching and learning through a set of Australian and British case studies Courses visited were located within a variety of disciplines including Education Sociology Anthropology Nursing Psychology Communications and Evaluation were taught by both experienced and inexperienced lecturers were either presented alone or in pairs took place in a range of institutions lasted from seven weeks to a year and involved from 15 to over 100 students It emerged however that no matter what the context several common issues were raised such as Should you teach theory practice or both How do you determine a curriculum for a QR course What is the best way to manage student projects How should students of QR be assessed In what ways can the constraints of University structures be confronted and How can lecturer deficiencies in training and experience be overcome To answer such questions Professor Hurworth draws deftly from personal observations and rich conversations with both lecturers and students from all the courses described As a result many practical ideas for moving the teaching and learning of QR forward are suggested Qualitative Data Analysis Matthew B. The Essence of Research Methodology Jan Jonker, Bartjan Pennink, 2010-03-10 Methodology is the eld which is indisputably complex In the academic world it is often said to be important yet in everyday academic practice it is not always treated accordingly In teaching methodology is often a mandatory course Usually it consists of learning how to adopt several common approaches when doing research and how to conceive a research design often leading to a survey This usually leads to collecting data on a modest scale and when the opportunity arises analysing the data with the help of some statistics Ask the students of their opinion at the end of such a course and they tend to heave a deep sigh of relief and say I have got through it Then their real courses start again in which methodology often does not play a role at all We are of the opinion that writing off methodology in this way is a real pity It ignores the valuable role that methodology should play in academic teaching as a whole Here methodology is presented as a form of thinking and acting that while obviously entailing research work can also include the design and change of organisations This broad approach has been purposefully chosen as it is almost obvious from research and graduation projects that the students do not really have a clue what methodology involves and therefore wasting their time by producing work that has a little quality
