Hackney Downs The School That Dared To Fight:

Hackney Downs Maureen O'Connor, 1999 Covering the viewpoints of teachers parents and pupils this book tells the story of the closure of Hackney Downs School a boys comprehensive in London The authors believe that a grave injustice was done to all concerned Failing Boys? Debbie Epstein, 1998-11-16 Failing Boys Issues in Gender and Achievement challenges the widespread perception that all boys are underachieving at school It raises the more important and critical questions of which boys At what stage of education And according to what criteria The issues surrounding boys underachievement have been at the centre of public debate about education and the raising of standards in recent years Media and political responses to the problem of boys have tended to be simplistic partial and owe more to quick fixes than investigation and research Failing Boys provides a detailed and nuanced case study of the issues in the UK which will be of international relevance as the moral panic is a globalised one taking place in diverse countries The contributors to this book take seriously the issues of boys underachievement inside and outside school from a critical perspective which draws on the insights of previous feminist studies of education to illuminate the problems associated with the education of boys This will be a key text for educators policy makers students and teachers of education sociology gender studies and cultural studies and others interested in gender and achievement From Hackney, With Love Richard Yeboah, 2025-05-29 For so many decades

Hackney was the pinnacle of the dynamic multicultural spirit of modern Britain demonstrated by the borough's vibrant and energetic streets and often controversial political cultural and socio economic character But today the Hackney that long standing residents once treasured seems to be disappearing The borough's diverse working class communities who survived the run down council estates the overwhelming deprivation and the postcode wars are increasingly being pushed out by the middle classes who buy up their homes rename their shops and reshape their neighbourhoods How did Hackney go from being one of the poorest and most uninviting places in the country to being one of the most sought after locations In these pages lifelong resident Richard Yeboah uncovers the borough's lively history revealing the uncomfortable story of how gentrification has transformed Hackney for better or for worse Examining some of the most contested issues facing the borough today including housing and regeneration politics class race education youth violence culture and gender identity Yeboah amplifies the voices of Hackney's new existing and former communities and explores the relationship between gentrification and feelings of belonging and loss From Hackney With Love is both a unique love letter to one of the most vibrant parts of London and a warning that its very existence is in jeopardy The Politics of Race, Class and Special

Education Sally Tomlinson, 2014-05-09 In the World Library of Educationalists series international experts themselves compile career long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces extracts from books key articles salient research findings major theoretical and practical contributions so the world can read them in a single manageable volume Readers will be able to follow the themes and strands and see how their work contributes to the development of the field Professor Sally

Tomlinson brings together 12 of her key writings in one place including chapters from her best selling books and articles from leading journals In this landmark publication she reviews and recounts the history and development of her research and writing over 30 years that is concerned with the politics of education systems especially special education and the place of social classes and ethnic and racial minorities in the systems Social class race and gender have historically always been essential markers in deciding who would receive a minimum or inferior education and thus fail to obtain whatever were currently acceptable qualifications Definitions of the less able or ineducable were based on beliefs in the biological and cultural inferiority of lower social classes racial and immigrant groups Professor Tomlinson's aim in her work has always been to introduce sociological historical and political perspectives into an area dominated by psychological administrative and technical views and to explain how the individual problems were connected to wider social structures and policies This unique collection illustrates the development of Professor Tomlinson's thinking over the course of her long and esteemed career

The Politics of Public Education Helen M. Gunter, 2018-11-28 At a time when public education and reform agendas are changing the way we approach education this book critically examines the key issues facing the public with implications for education policy makers professionals and researchers Drawing on empirical evidence gathered over 20 years Helen Gunter confronts current issues about social justice and segregation She uses Arendtian ideas to help the reader to think politically about education and how and why public services education can be reimaged for the future

DisCrit Subini A. Annamma, 2016 In this groundbreaking volume scholars examine the achievement opportunity gaps from both historical and contemporary perspectives as well as the overrepresentation of minority students in special education and the school to prison pipeline Chapters also address school reform and the impact on students based on race class and disability and the capacity of law and policy to include and exclude

A Century of Education Richard Aldrich, 2002-11-01 Education is a country's biggest business and the most important shared experience of those who live in it A Century of Education provides an accessible authoritative and fascinating overview of the role and nature of education in the twentieth century Eminent historian of education Professor Richard Aldrich has assembled a team of contributors all noted experts in their respective fields to review the successes and failures of education in the last century and to look forward to the next A succinct overview of twentieth century social economic political and intellectual developments in the first chapter is followed by chapters on ten key topics Each chapter has four sections a review of the educational situation in 2000 a similar assessment in 1900 changes and continuities throughout the century and a conclusion reviewing the lessons for today and tomorrow This is a work of information interpretation and reference which demonstrates the strengths and weaknesses of education during the twentieth century and identifies educational priorities for the twenty first For anyone interested in what has become the most important Issue of our time this unique book is set to become a classic text

Education, Reform and the State John Furlong, Robert Phillips, 2002-11 This book supplies the definitive contemporary history of education policy in the late twentieth century Some of the leading educationalists reflect on the major legislative and structural changes in the field over the last 25 years

Ideology and the Politics of (in)exclusion Linda P. Ware, 2005 Ideology and the Politics of In Exclusion provides an international analysis of the politics of research and practice in special education The contributors to this volume establish purposeful connections to the micropolitics of disability identification and the macropolitics of social structure and describe various geographic locales recount multiple historical contexts rely upon differing sources of evidence and as a consequence relate a more complex and richly layered analysis of educational inclusion Ideology and the Politics of In Exclusion breaks away from the prevailing discourse on educational inclusion as that which occurs in a vacuum separate from social inclusion by providing a close analysis of the narrow frameworks historic influence and research tensions that underwrite current special education practice

School Effectiveness for Whom? Roger Slee, Sally Tomlinson, Gaby Weiner, 2003-05-20 School effectiveness research together with what is now described as the school improvement movement Barber 1996 has captured both the Conservative and New Labour imaginations as a basis for educational planning and policy making in the UK Internationally school effectiveness enjoys an expanding and enthusiastic audience This book provides a critique of this research genre particularly in the light of the recent calls for teaching to go back to the basics The editors argue that this school effectiveness research is simplistic in its analysis of educational problems Far from getting to the bottom of the problem of failing students and schools they argue these movements are merely scratching at the surface of the problems and coming up with notions for superficial improvements

School Leadership - Heads on the Block? Pat Thomson, 2009-05-07 Most teachers become heads for idealistic reasons but heads are leaving work and there is a shortage of applicants for school leadership roles Arguing that pressure needs to be lifted from heads if this is to be redressed this book considers initial moves that could precipitate such change

Reclaiming Education James Tooley, 2005-03-01 What is wrong with education Why do educational reforms always miss their target How can we create a better education system And what can we learn from other countries Reclaiming Education tackles the challenges facing education that really matter the ones that academics often ignore parents demand solution to and politicians need to confront Drawing on his global research James Tooley shows that there is an alternative to poor quality and wasteful inefficiency in education and that education can be radically transformed to guarantee freedom and higher standards Tooley radically challenges any complacency we may have about education in the 21st century Sir Bob Salisbury Tooley is an extremist some of his ideas are outrageous Professor Geoffrey Walford University of Oxford This is truly a radical book It should be read by everyone who thinks deeply about education Sir Christopher Ball

Education and the Labour Government Geoffrey Walford, 2013-09-13 This book presents a valuable and authoritative evaluation of the real impact Labour's two terms have had on the British education system On the 1st May 1997 the British electorate witnessed a watershed moment After an eighteen year Conservative rule a New Labour government took office When asked what his top three priorities were for the first term Tony Blair stated that they would be education education education This book questions the extent to which the policy has met the rhetoric examining Labour's education policy practice and achievements during Blair's two terms in office This selection of writings by highly respected academics in this field charts and evaluates the effects of policy changes on the various sectors of the educational system and on the major indicators of inequality This book was previously published as a special issue of the Oxford Review of Education Education in a Post-Welfare Society Sally Tomlinson, 2005-11-16 Reviews of the first edition This book must become the classic text for students of education social and welfare policies Sally Tomlinson doyenne of policy orientated education and social research has written with commendable clarity and comprehensiveness a superb book on British education Journal of Social Policy This book provides a context for understanding education policy which is currently missing from education and social policy courses It should be compulsory reading Len Barton Institute of Education University of London The persistence and reinforcement of class advantage through English education policy is a key theme this book does a superb job of both highlighting the key social justice concerns and controversies over the last fifty years and providing an overview of education policy developments over the same period British Journal of Sociology of Education Highly commended S E S Book Prize 2002 The acclaimed first edition of Education in a Post Welfare Society provided a critical overview of education policy since 1945 It demonstrated how a relatively decentralised education system became a system in which funding teaching and curriculum are centrally controlled and privatisation encouraged with education becoming a prop for global market economy rather than a pillar of the welfare state The second edition continues the policy story up to 2005 covering two terms of a New Labour government and their plans for a third term It also continues an examination of the relationship of education policy to social class race gender and the economy paying attention to the educational disadvantages of some ethnic groups and refugee children The book includes chronologies of education acts reports and initiatives and summaries of major legislation This is an invaluable resource for all those concerned with social policy and education including educational researchers professionals and politicians Inspection James Learmonth, 2020-11-25 This text traces the development of different forms of inspection It draws on a range of sources such as rigorous and informed research and inspection evidence writing by key figures teachers own experiences newspaper headlines and other comments whilst remaining jargon free This topical book includes summary questions and other signposts for the reader as well as a fully annotated bibliography It also pays attention to other types of school self evaluation James Learmonth explores the impact of inspection on schools in difficulties and outlines the ways in which research and other evidence suggests that schools do improve National and Transnational Elite Influences on Education Romuald Normand, Leif Moos, Luís Miguel Carvalho, 2025-06-28 This collection focuses on transformations in the governance of education paying attention to the trans nationalisation of educational policies and the emergence of new actors in education It focuses on the knowledge and instruments of government that shape education systems at different scales of governance The book is a contribution to this field of research focusing on the new roles and responsibilities of elites inside and outside the education state It offers in depth case studies based on an international comparison examining the dynamics at work in the production and circulation of knowledge the interplay of interests and power and the ability of elites to define and lead public action programmes The research and reflections presented in this book will help students researchers practitioners and policy makers to better understand the transformations in decision making at a time of globalisation and nationalism in education

Improving School Governance Nigel Gann,2015-10-15 About the first edition School governors will find this a sound and practical guide to the nature of their responsibilities and the process of managing their workload It is well researched based on vast experience illustrated from the best practice free from jargon and always interesting Joan Sallis Described by the National Association of Governors and Managers as definitely a must for your bookshelf reviewed in the Times Educational Supplement as an essential guide to help governors This book is about governing schools about how a governing board made up largely of ordinary people with no professional educational experience working in partnership with professional leaders can help to make schools better It is intended for governors in schools in England and Wales in other parts of the world where lay people engage in school leadership and for people who work with governors Improving School Governance examines How school governors got to be where they are today How governing boards do their jobs How individual governors can best contribute to their schools Governors accountability The nature of governors meetings The rights that governors have The relationships between governors and the headteacher The role of governing boards in school inspection Governors relationships with parents and the wider community How to evaluate the performance and impact of governing boards What the future might hold for state funded schools and their governance What national strategic issues will need to be addressed by governing boards in the next five to ten years Education, Policy and Ethics Mike Bottery,2001-01-01 Across the world a number of long term trends globalization marketization managerialism are now impacting on national education policies Here Mike Bottery shows how paradoxically these forces are making education both more centralized and more fragmented In this magisterial study of educational policy and practice he shows the dangers this creates and in response how to create a more humane and democratic education system

Special Education and Globalisation Sheila Riddell,2018-10-16 Special Education and Globalization illustrates the way in which inclusive education has become the dominant discourse across Europe and the wider international context Contributions to this book highlight the tensions evident within each jurisdiction related to the construction of disability within specific historical and cultural antecedents These tensions often involve the relationship between official policy discourses and grassroots practices based on the assumptions of classroom practitioners who may have strong views on individual deficits Parents and voluntary organisations may also have an interest in asserting the specialness of specific conditions which require provision outside the mainstream Finally the emergence of new bureaucratic structures in an era of heightened national and individual competition often run counter to the ethos of co operation which informs inclusive practice This book was originally published as a special issue of Discourse Studies in the Cultural Politics of Education Education and Race from Empire to Brexit Sally Tomlinson, 2019-03-27 Covering the period from the height of Empire to Brexit and beyond this book shows how the vote to leave the European Union increased hostilities towards racial and ethnic minorities and migrants Concentrating on the education system it asks whether populist views that there should be a British identity or a Scottish Irish or Welsh one will prevail Alternatively arguments based on equality human rights and economic needs may prove more powerful It covers events in politics and education that have left most white British people ignorant of the Empire the often brutal de colonisation and the arrival of immigrants from post colonial and European countries It discusses politics and practices in education race religion and migration that have left schools and universities failing to engage with a multiracial and multicultural society
