Carter, 1989 Sir Charles Grandison Sylvia Kasey Marks, 1986 The first book length monograph to examine Samuel Richardson's last and least known work Marks considers this novel a natural outgrowth and culmination of the conduct book form indeed the finest example of the genre Text W. Women Novelists Before Jane Austen Brian Corman,2009-06-04 By the time Ian Watt published The Rise of the Novel in 1957 it was clear that many women novelists before Jane Austen had been overlooked in critical studies of literature and that some of them had been completely forgotten by the reading public In this book Brian Corman explores the question of how and why this came about Corman provides a systematic survey of the reputations of early women novelists as canons of the novel developed over a period of roughly two hundred years and in so doing suggests reasons for their frequent exclusion Women Novelists before Jane Austen challenges the view that exclusion from the canon was a simple function of gender and goes deeper to examine potential reasons why certain women writers were overlooked In the process it provides an overview of histories of the British novel from the beginning through to the mid twentieth century ending with the publication of Watt s famous text Further Corman offers a prolegomenon to the important recovery work of the late twentieth century in which many revised accounts of the history of the novel appeared essentially improving the scope covered by Watt This study historicizes the place of early women novelists in the British canon in order to provide an informed context for current views

The English Novel, 1700-1740 Robert Letellier,2003-02-28 The English novel written between 1700 and 1740 remains a comparatively neglected area In addition to Daniel Defoe whose Robinson Crusoe and Moll Flanders are landmarks in the history of English fiction many other authors were at work These included such women as Penelope Aubin Jane Barker Mary Davys and Eliza Haywood who made a considerable contribution to widening the range of emotional responses in fiction These authors and many others continued writing in the genres inherited from the previous century such as criminal biographies the Utopian novel the science fictional voyage and the epistolary novel This annotated bibliography includes entries for these works and for critical materials pertinent to them The volume first seeks to establish the existing studies of the era along with anthologies It then provides entries for a wide ranging selection of works which cover fictional theoretical historical political and cultural topics to provide a comprehensive background to the unfolding and understanding of prose fiction in the early 18th century This is followed by an alphabetical listing of novels their editions and any critical material available on each The next section provides a chronological record of significant and enduring works of fiction composed or translated in this period The volume concludes with extensive indexes
