Face Value Christopher Rivers,1994 This book explores ideas about human physical appearance expressed in French novels of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as well as the pseudoscience of physiognomy that influenced them Physiognomy which purports to read the body as an index to spiritual intellectual or moral qualities had its greatest proponent in the eighteenth century Swiss theoretician Johann Caspar Lavater In addition to closely reading the fictional narratives of Marivaux Balzac Gautier and Zola the author offers a critical reading of Lavater s work He looks at some of the most compelling and explicit literary treatments of physiognomy in the French canon suggesting that the ways authors use physiognomical ideas to render the world hyper significant poses fundamental questions about the nature of narrative itself He also shows how physiognomy serves almost invariably as a tool of sexism as it attempts to ascribe intellectual or moral qualities on the basis of corporal features Linked by more than their physiognomical themes these novels share similar dynamics of reading rhetoric and representation

La Morale Anarchiste - Le Loi et l'Autorité , Rococo Fiction in France, 1600-1715 Allison Stedman,2013 Rococo Fiction in France reconfigures the history of the long eighteenth century by revealing the rococo as a literary phenomenon that characterized a range of experimental texts from the end of the French Renaissance to the eve of the French Revolution Tracing the literary rococo s evolution from the late 1500s to the early 1700s and exploring its radicalization during the 1670s 80s and 90s Allison Stedman unearths the seventeenth century rococo s counter vision for the trajectory of the French monarchy and the dawn of the French Enlightenment The first part of the study investigates the relationship between Montaigne's philosophy of literary production and those of early seventeenth century table talk novelists libertine writers and playwrights involved in the quarrel over Corneille's play Le Cid. She thus establishes the existence of a rococo philosophy of literary production whose goal was to innovate to bring pleasure and to create communities. The second part of the study explores the impact that the Duchess de Montpensier's literary portrait galleries, Jean Donneau de Visy's periodical the Mercure Galant and other forms of rococo literary production by such authors as Charles Sorel, Alcide de Saint Maurice, J. N. de Parvial and Jean de Préchac had in the creation of a textually mediated social sphere that served as the foundation of the publicly critical culture of the French Enlightenment. The study concludes with an investigation of the influx of salon sociability into the textually mediated social sphere during the 1690s. Stedman examines the role of interpolated literary fairy tales, proverb plays and other rococo publication strategies in such late seventeenth century women writers as d'Aulnoy, Lheritier Murat and Durand in transfiguring the salon from an exclusive social circle mediated by physical presence to an inclusive social diaspora mediated by texts. Rococo Fiction in France challenges established views of early modern French literary history and discusses a range of little known works in a generous and engaging manner.
