Labelling In Development Policy:

The Power of Labelling Rosalind Eyben, Joy Moncrieffe, 2013-09-05 The Power of Labelling illuminates a fundamental and intriguing dimension of social and political life Striking cases from a range of policy contexts generate eyeopening analyses of labelling s causes and consequences uses and abuses and of alternatives in thinking and relating DES GASPER INSTITUTE OF SOCIAL STUDIES THE HAGUE The authors convincingly and often vividly explain how the unavoidable framings and labellings of the objects of policy secrete relations of power which can obscure as much as they reveal and often lead in policy itself to perverse outcomes Their detail is riveting their analyses persuasive what they suggest realistic and deeply sensible This immensely readable collection is indispensable for anyone who wants to think about how they think about development and should be forced on all who don t GEOFFREY HAWTHORN PROFESSOR OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE This is an essential book not only for those interested in understanding the development industry but also for development practitioners It discusses key questions concerning the ways in which knowledge is generated by development agencies and reaffirms the importance of understanding who categorizes people why and how R L STIRRAT PROFESSOR OF SOCIAL ANTHROPOLOGY UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX Very important Martin Kalungu Banda Oxfam GB What does it mean to be part of the mass known as The Poor What visions are conjured up in our minds when someone is labelled Muslim What assumptions do we make about their needs values and politics How do we react individually and as a society Who develops the labels what power do they carry and how do such labels affect how people are treated This timely book tackles the critical and controversial issue of how people are labelled and categorized and how their problems are framed and dealt with Drawing on vast international experience and current theory the authors examine how labels are constituted and applied by a variety of actors including development policy makers practitioners and researchers The book exposes the intense and complex politics involved in processes of labelling and highlights how the outcomes of labelling can undermine stated development goals Importantly one of the book s principal objectives is to suggest how policy makers and professionals can tackle negative forms of labelling and encourage processes of counter labelling to enhance poverty reduction and human rights and to tackle issues of race relations and global security The Afterword encapsulates these ideas and provides a good basis for reflection further debate and action

Labelling in Development Policy Geoff Wood, 1985-10 Labelling in Development Policy reveals how labelling is perceived as natural and objective by sheltering behind an ideology of rationality In reality labelling is an instrument of power through which the relationships between class interests and institutional processes are constructed and sustained The book focuses on labels which arise in development policy areas as an aspect of the donative political discourse associated with the development agendas of poor countries It refers to the process by which people conceived of as objects of policy are defined in convenient images

theory and social scientific research on migration to analyse the impact of mass displacements and imperial power on Israelite and Judahite identity in the sixth century BCE Crouch argues that the trauma of deportation affected Israelite identity differently depending on resettlement context Deportees resettled in rural Babylonia took an isolationist approach to Israelite identity whereas deportees resettled in urban contexts took a more integrationist approach Crouch also emphasises the impact of mass displacement on identity concerns in the homeland demonstrating that displacement and the experience of Babylonian imperial rule together facilitated major developments in Judahite identity The diverse experiences of this period produced bitter conflict between Israelites and Judahites as well as diverse attempts to resolve this conflict Inspired by studies of forced migration and by postcolonial analyses of imperial domination Crouch s book highlights the crucial contribution of this era to the story of Israel and Judah

Innovation Development for Highly Energy-efficient Housing Erwin Mlecnik,2013 In previous years we have seen a recognition of the significant potential that exists for reducing energy use through innovation in residential buildings This study investigates innovation challenges and identifies opportunities that could lead to a rapid increase in the adoption of highly energy efficient housing concepts particularly that of the passive house To this end it exemplifies interprets and develops the innovation adoption theory through an investigation of views and experiences on the supply side the demand side and the policy side It highlights successful innovation trajectories and barriers experienced by businesses It addresses both problems and positive experiences from the perspective of the end user and investigates different policy approaches As such the research reveals important features of innovation adoption strategies in the building sector It shows how multi player enterprise collaboration plays a key role and the study also recommends the development of quality assurance schemes It makes a valuable contribution to discussions about how active the role of government policymakers and enterprise networks should be
