The Clash of Ideologies Mark L. Haas, 2012-04-20 How do ideologies shape international relations in general and Middle Eastern countries relations with the United States in particular The Clash of Ideologies by Mark L Haas explores this critical question Haas s central claim is that leaders ideological beliefs are likely to have profound effects on these individuals perceptions of international threats These threat perceptions in turn shape leaders core security policies including choices of allies and enemies and efforts to spread their ideological principles abroad as a key means of advancing their interests Two variables are particularly important in this process the degree of ideological differences dividing different groups of decision makers ideological distance and the number of prominent ideologies that are present in a particular system ideological polarity The argument is tested in four case studies of states foreign policies primarily since the end of the Cold War Iran Saudi Arabia Syria and Turkey As the argument predicts ideological differences in these cases were a key cause of international conflict and ideological similarities a source of cooperation Moreover different ideological groups in the same country at the same time often possessed very different understandings of their threat environments and thus very different foreign policy preferences These are findings that other prominent international relations theories particularly realism cannot explain The purposes of the book go beyond advancing theoretical debates in the international relations literature It also aims to provide policy guidance on key international security issues These prescriptions are designed to advance America s interests in the Middle East in particular namely how U S leaders should best respond to the ideological dynamics that exist in the region

The Market in Global International Society Barry Buzan, Robert Falkner, 2024-12-02 The Market in Global International Society tracks the idea and practice of the market through both modern and premodern times and its evolution as a primary institution in international relations over the past two centuries It develops a new approach to understanding the relationship between the market and other social and political institutions of global international society Buzan and Falkner view the market as a political ideology in support of a liberal system of governance and not just as an economic practice or economy wide structural feature In doing so they draw attention to the market s powerful impact on international order This historical grounding brings into close contact two areas of study that have for much too long stood back to back the English School of International Relations ES and International Political Economy IPE For the ES the book fills in the large economic gap in its understanding and portrayal of the primary institutions of international society Adding in the economic sector has a major impact on how the other primary institutions of international society both work in themselves and interact with each other For IPE the book opens up a new and usefully detailed view of the constant and wide ranging interaction of the market with the other social and political institutions of global international society The approach through primary institutions fills in the middle ground between the big picture classical approaches to IPE and the current focus on intergovernmental organisations and regimes
