Conradie,2025-02-26 This monograph may be read as a constructive supplement to Volume 4 of the series entitled An Earthed Faith Telling the Story amid the Anthropocene Volume 4 of this series is on the Christian doctrine of providence and is entitled Making Room for the Story to Continue In addition to an extended introduction on the state of the debate in the field this monograph includes three constructive essays on the doctrine of providence employing the traditional Reformed distinction between conservatio gubernatio and concursus as aspects of God s providence as well as a concluding essay provocatively entitled Who Cares a Damn The argument of this contribution may be captured in the following way 1 That God s providence is best understood in terms of the deeply held Christian conviction that God cares for every creature and not in terms of Greek assumptions around a pervading rational world order 2 That conservatio and gubernatio have found rough secular equivalents in global debates on sustainability mitigation and adaptation in the context of climate change 3 That conservatio and gubernatio are typically in tension with each other when it comes to the question whether God maintains order in nature and society or whether God transforms unjust orders the call for ecojustice 4 That concursus is not only an implication of conservatio and gubernatio but also captures the heart of the problem posed by the advent of the Anthropocene namely that some humans have become a geological force of nature while God s agency has become sidelined or usurped by the Promethean quest to become divine In each of these essays a highly constructive contribution is offered that advances the debate in eco theology by placing providence in the context of the shift from the Holocene to the Anthropocene The method adopted is a constructive argument based on a critical review of the available literature This monograph is scholarly and is addressed to other scholars in the fields of eco theology systematic theology and Reformed theology taken by the teenager John Pynchon this volume transports the reader virtually back to Sundays in the seventeenth century when the community gathered to listen to the Rev George Moxon The setting was Springfield Massachusetts founded in 1636 by John s father William Pynchon As a note taker John recorded just what he heard in this rare resource which allows the reader to listen in on the weekly sermons he documented in the 1640s This symbol by symbol transcription into a word for word text preserves the character of the minister s original remarks and reveals Moxon as an able engaging speaker who offered encouragement and challenge to the growing plantation he faithfully served through its earliest years on the edge of a wilderness Not only do the sermons in this collection provide snippets of popular theological discourse at particular moments in the 1600s they also point to issues of the day and they help us get inside the thoughts and word patterns of that era
