Thinking and Practising Christian Faith

DANIEL W. HARDY

'This is some of the richest theology to have been produced in Britain or America in recent decades. It faces one after another of the key questions and always illuminates them. It is rare to be able to unite such profound engagement with God and the fundamentals of Christian faith together with a sense of getting inside the critical and constructive contributions of a range of other disciplines.'

PROFESSOR DAVID F. FORD

'During the last few decades, Daniel Hardy has been a leading contributor to the revival of systematic theology in Britain. These papers provide a conspectus of the range and depth of his thinking, and will long continue to serve as sources of profound insight and understanding.'

Gods Ways With The World Thinking And Practicing Christian Faith:

God, Humanity and the Cosmos - 3rd Edition Christopher Southgate, 2011-12-15 The Life of Christian Doctrine Mike Higton, 2020-07-09 The lives of Christian churches are shaped by doctrinal theology That is they are shaped by practices in which ideas about God and God s ways with the world are developed discussed and deployed This book explores those practices and asks why they matter for communities seeking to follow Jesus Taking the example of the Church of England this book highlights the embodied affective and located reality of all doctrinal practices and the biases and exclusions that mar them It argues that doctrinal theology can in principle help the church know God better even though doctrinal theologians do not know God better than their fellow believers It claims that it can help the church to hear in Scripture challenges to its life including to its doctrinal theology It suggests that doctrinal disagreement is inevitable but that a better quality of doctrinal disagreement is possible And finally it argues that by encouraging attention to voices that have previously been ignored doctrinal theology can foster the ongoing discovery of God s surprising work Perspectives on Ecclesiology and Ethnography Pete Ward, 2012-03-15 Within the disciplines of religious studies systematic theology and practical theology there exists a divide between empirical and theological analyses of the church Each volume in the cross disciplinary series Studies in Ecclesiology and Ethnography attempts to address this gap by exploring the methodological and substantive issues that arise from both theological and empirical studies of the church s practices and social reality Perspectives on Ecclesiology and Ethnography the inaugural volume in the series proposes that if theology is to regain its relevance to the church today theologians must utilize ethnographical tools in order to provide more accurate disciplined research that is situated in real contexts Using ethnography in its broadest sense encompassing any form of qualitative research this volume proposes that the church is both theological and social cultural which implies the need for a methodological shift for researchers in theology Contributions from twelve scholar practitioners lead the way forward Contributors Luke Bretherton Paul S Fiddes Nicholas M Healy Mary McClintock Fulkerson Alister E McGrath Richard R Osmer Elizabeth Phillips Christian Scharen John Swinton Pete Ward Clare Watkins John Webster God Without Measure: Working Papers in Christian Theology John Webster, 2015-11-19 In this two volume collection of essays which forms a companion to The Domain of the Word John Webster brings together studies of a range of topics in dogmatic and moral theology This first volume God and the Works of God treats the themes of God s inner being and God s outer acts After an overall account of the relation between God in himself and the economy of God s external works there are studies of the divine aseity and of the theology of the eternal Son These are followed by a set of essays on creation out of nothing the relation between God and God s creatures the nature of providence the relation of soteriology and the doctrine of God and the place of teaching about justification in Christian theology Each of the essays explores the relation of theology proper to economy and together they pose an understanding of Christian doctrine in which all theological teaching flows from the doctrine of the immanent Trinity Explorations in Christian Theology and Ethics Michelle J. Bartel, 2016-04-22 Engaging variously with the legacy of Paul L. Lehmann these essays argue for a reorientation in Christian theology that better honours the formative power of the gospel to animate and shape doctrine and witness as well as ethical and political life. The authors explore key themes in Christian theology and ethics: forgiveness, discernment, responsibility, spirituality, the present day tasks of theology and the role of faith in public life, making plain the unabated importance of Lehmann's work at this juncture in contemporary theology. The internationally recognized contributors draw crucial connections between the gospel of reconciliation, the form of Christian theology and witness and the challenges of contemporary ethical and political reflection. This book demonstrates why this close friend of Dietrich Bonhoeffer and author of Ethics in a Christian Context and The Transfiguration of Politics continues to influence generations of theologians in both the English speaking world and beyond.

Reason, Truth, and Theology in Pragmatist Perspective Paul D. Murray, 2004 In this work Paul Murray explores which style of rationality is most appropriate to Christian theology in the contemporary pluralist, postfoundationalist, postmodern context. At its heart is a fresh consideration of the American pragmatist tradition focussing on the writings of Richard Rorty and Nicholas Rescher. Where Rorty correctly diagnoses the failures of foundationalist objectivism, Rescher's pragmatic idealism is presented as healing the ills in Rorty's own neo-pragmatism. The significant resonance between Rescher's view of rationality and Christian understanding of the Trinity is explored. In turn, Donald MacKinnon's influential writings are presented as exemplifying just such an approach to theology. Murray both articulates an enriched form of Christian postliberalism committed to receiving and learning from other traditions of thought and practice and probes the claim that the dynamics of human rationality can be expected to reflect the Trinitarian dynamics of God's being. Paul Murray presents us here with an exhaustive and insightful study of recent pragmatic theory in which he sets up rhythms of healing and completion as well as interrogation. Particularly remarkable is his exploration of Christianity as the deep and in some sense final interlocutor of pragmatic tradition. I strongly recommend this book. Olivier Davis, Professor of Christian Doctrine, King's College London. This is a mature, wide-ranging work that by uniting the intellectual and the practical carries both rational and ethical conviction. It does equal justice to the classic teachings of Christianity and to the challenges to rethink them in dialogue with modern and postmodern approaches. The result is a conception of Christianity both generously orthodox and deeply engaged with contemporary life and thought. It is especially good to see the profound contribution of Donald MacKinnon understood and developed with such perception and relevance. David F. Ford, Regius Professor of Divinity, University of Cambridge. Paul Murray is currently Lecturer in Systematic Theology within the Department of Theology at the University of Durham, England. He has previously held posts at St Cuthbert's Seminary, Ushaw College, Durham, and Newman College of Higher Education, Birmingham. Essays of his exploring issues in philosophical theology, science and theology and contemporary Roman Catholic theology have appeared in leading journals and edited collections. This is his first monograph.

The Holy Spirit and Worship Elizabeth Welch, 2022-06-30 The Holy Spirit has become an object of greater attention in Trinitarian theology and indeed in the broader life of the Church since the rise of Pentecostalism at the beginning of the twentieth century. Different understandings of the Holy Spirit have had different impacts on worship here Elizabeth Welch examines four surprising overlaps in the thought of two radically different traditions of the church about the relationship between the Holy Spirit and worship. These traditions are represented by John Owen from seventeenth century England and John Zizioulas from contemporary Greece. Welch explores in turn the common themes of the personal and relational nature of the triune God, the immediacy of the encounter with God through the Holy Spirit in worship, the role of the Holy Spirit in leading people into truth and the transformative nature of worship that draws people into sharing God's purpose for the world. In each the insights of Owen and Zizioulas shed new light on the ongoing debate in the Church today. God's Church-Community David Emerton, 2020-07-09 David Emerton argues that Dietrich Bonhoeffer's ecclesial thought breaks open a necessary third way in ecclesiological description between the Scylla of ethnographic ecclesiology and the Charybdis of dogmatic ecclesiology. Building on a rigorous and provocative discussion of Bonhoeffer's thought, Emerton establishes a programmatic theological grammar for any speech about the church. Emerton argues that Bonhoeffer understands the church as a pneumatological and eschatological community in space and time and that his understanding is built on eschatological and pneumatological foundations. These foundations in turn give rise to a unique methodological approach to ecclesiological description, an approach that enables Bonhoeffer to proffer a genuinely theological account of the church in which both divine and human agency are held together through an account of God, the Holy Spirit. Emerton proposes that this approach is the perfect remedy for an endemic problem in contemporary accounts of the church: that of attending either to the human empirical church community ethnographically or to the life of God dogmatically and to each problematically at the expense of the other. This book will act as a clarion call towards genuinely theological ecclesiological speech which is allied to real ecclesial action. The Reflective Disciple Roger Walton, 2014-07-24 Helps readers to explore the concept of discipleship beginning with the New Testament and through examining snapshots of various patterns of discipleship as well as reflecting on discipleship in our contemporary context and setting. God's Ways with the World Daniel Hardy, 2005-01-01 This book is devoted to recovering the truth and vitality of Christian faith by attempting to trace the ways of God with the modern world. Professor Hardy contends that the profundity of God's interaction with the world, despite centuries of valuable contemplation, can best be understood by addressing those aspects of human thought which often give modern life its vitality. These are the very features with which theology has tended to lose touch but which here are explored as areas in which the character and purposes of God may be manifest. Following the example of the great eras of theological understanding in the past, this book seeks a new and deeper synthesis of faith, theology, and other disciplined forms of life and thought to recover the dynamic of God's life and work in and from them. As it does so, it concentrates on the heartlands of Christian faith: worship, the Triune God.

Thought Christina Smerick, 2017-12-06 Jean Luc Nancy and Christian Thought explores Nancy's deconstruction of Christianity via the various bodies of Christ that accumulate in Christian doctrine specifically the incarnated body the resurrected body and the body of Christ the church The work ties Nancy's deconstruction to the writings of the early church demonstrating that the seeds of auto deconstruction are indeed sown in the doctrines of Western Christianity It then provides brief sketches of current theological works that touch upon similar deconstructive themes Thus the work aims to flesh out Nancy's deconstruction for the non theologian tying his complex scans of Christian thought to early patristics and also aims to help theologians unfamiliar with deconstruction or with Nancy's work recognize the value of the deconstructive method for unpacking Christian doctrine and practice This book will be of interest to philosophers of religion hermeneutics and post Frankfurt School critical theory and theologians interested in current French philosophy of religion The True Church and the Poor Jon Sobrino, 2004-10-29 Of Jon Sobrino's first book Christology at the Crossroads the Church Times wrote It is radical without being reductionist It is relentless in its refusal to let us avoid the challenge of Jesus by sliding into theological or cultic abstractions It will stimulate illuminate and infuriate those whose minds are jaded by the current state of British theology And like all great theology it will bring you uncomfortably close to the living Jesus This second book also written out of the hell of El Salvador is if anything even more powerful and uncomfortable Dedicated To all men and women of El Salvador who have given their lives for the kingdom of God it took shape while Bishop Romero his priests Christian peasant leaders and catechists lived and died Doing theology in this situation requires that theology not only follows a specific method but that it also has a specific character Theology in this situation becomes responsible Theologians do not arbitrarily decide to study this or that theme the theme is forced upon them by reality Theology becomes practical because its motivating concern is not pure thought nor even pure truth but rather the building of the kingdom of God and of a church that will be at the service of this kingdom Theology becomes evangelical in the true sense of that word it is done with pleasure in the Good News and with joy that there is salvation for the poor Finally theology becomes a response of gratitude because its starting point is the primordial Christian experience that something has been given to us What has been given to us is the mystery of God present in Jesus and in a church that is poor and is of the poor Are You Practicing Christianity?
