Annual Circular of the Illinois Industrial University University of Illinois (Urbana-Champaign campus),1928 Animals in Irish Society Corey Lee Wrenn,2021-07-01 The first exploration of vegan Irish epistemology one that can be traced along its history of animism agrarianism ascendancy adaptation and activism Irish vegan studies are poised for increasing relevance as climate change threatens the legitimacy and longevity of animal agriculture and widespread health problems related to animal product consumption disrupt long held nutritional ideologies Already a top producer of greenhouse gas emissions in the European Union Ireland has committed to expanding animal agriculture despite impending crisis The nexus of climate change public health and animal welfare present a challenge to the hegemony of the Irish state and neoliberal European governance Efforts to resist animal rights and environmentalism highlight the struggle to sustain economic structures of inequality in a society caught between a colonialist past and a globalized future Animals in Irish Society explores the vegan Irish epistemology one that can be traced along its history of animism agrarianism ascendancy adaptation and activism From its zoomorphic pagan roots to its legacy of vegetarianism Ireland has been more receptive to the interests of other animals than is currently acknowledged More than a land of meat and potatoes Ireland is a relevant if overlooked contributor to Western vegan thought Ireland R. W. G. Carter,A. J. Parker,2020-10-28 This book looks at Ireland s problems from geographic and environmental perspectives placing them within their regional national and international context It is invaluable to students decision makers and all those interested in the current situation in Ireland and its future

Ireland and Medicine in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries James Kelly,2016-05-06 The story of early modern medicine with its extremes of scientific brilliance and barbaric practice has long held a fascination for scholars The great discoveries of Harvey and Jenner sit incongruously with the persistence of Galenic theory superstition and blood letting Yet despite continued research into the period as a whole most work has focussed on the metropolitan centres of England Scotland and France ignoring the huge range of national and regional practice This collection aims to go some way to rectifying this situation providing an exploration of the changes and developments in medicine as practised in Ireland and by Irish physicians studying and working abroad during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Bringing together research undertaken into the neglected area of Irish medical and social history across a variety of disciplines including history of medicine Colonial Latin American history Irish and French history it builds upon ground breaking work recently published by several of the contributors thereby augmenting our understanding of the role of medicine within early modern Irish society and its broader scientific and intellectual networks By addressing fundamental issues that reach beyond the medical institutions the collection expands our understanding of Irish medicine and throws new light on medical practices and the broader cultural and social issues of early modern Ireland Europe and Latin America Taking a variety of approaches and sources ranging from the use of epistolary exchange to the study of medical receipt books legislative practice to belief in miracles local professionalization to international networks each essay offers a fascinating insight into a still largely neglected area Furthermore the collection argues for the importance of widening current research to consider the importance and impact of early Irish medical traditions networks and practices and their interaction with related issues such as politics gender economic demand and religious belief The Environmental Movement in Ireland Liam

Leonard,2007-12-03 This book examines key themes in Irish environmental politics including the main components that have come to define such events and incidents of environmental collective action in this country during forty years of growth and development The author analyses the mobilization and framing processes undertaken in these disputes locating them in the context of a wider rural identity that has shaped grassroots environmentalism in the Irish case Inequality: Structures, Dynamics and Mechanisms Arne L. Kalleberg,Stephen L. Morgan,John Myles,Rachel A. Rosenfeld (Deceased),2004-12-04

Aage Sorensen was an influential intellectual presence who was one of the world s leading authorities on social stratification and the sociology of education His research sought to understand the structures dynamics and mechanisms that underlie inequalities in industrial societies by focusing on how individuals attainments are shaped by characteristics of a society s or organization s opportunity structure on the one hand and individuals education experience and other human capital resources on the other He emphasized inequalities associated with education and schooling class and stratification outcomes such as income and occupational status Within these general foci he tackled the study of phenomena as diverse as rates of learning in elementary school reading groups and promotion patterns in large industrial corporations The chapters of this volume illustrate some of the major themes that characterized Aage s research these topics are also likely to constitute important concerns for future efforts to understand structured social inequality in society These themes include the development of explicit dynamic models to account for observed patterns of education career and labor market outcomes aspects of educational inequality such as school effects and learning opportunities issues related to intragenerational mobility and careers and the role of rents in generating structural inequality Social Movement Studies in Europe

Olivier Fillieule,Guya Accornero,2016-03-01 Bringing together over forty established and emerging scholars this landmark volume is the first to comprehensively examine the evolution and current practice of social movement studies in a specifically European context While its first half offers comparative approaches to an array of significant issues and movements its second half assembles focused national studies that include most major European states Throughout these contributions are guided by a shared set of historical and social scientific questions with a particular emphasis on political sociology thus offering a bold and uncommonly unified survey that will be essential for scholars and students of European social movements

Environmentalism in Ireland Hilary Tovey,2007 Ireland Beyond Boundaries Liam Harte,Yvonne Whelan,2006-11-20 This is an an authoritative up to date account of the development of Irish Studies over the past two decades The authors examine the key debates that have underpinned recent scholarship and analyse critical concerns that have shaped the subject's remarkable growth. They trace the institutional fortunes of Irish Studies in Ireland, the USA, Canada, Australia, and Britain and features in depth critical accounts of specific trends and themes within Irish historiography: literary criticism, religion, migration, music, cultural geography, sport, and media culture. Global Ireland Tom Inglis, 2007-10-18. Ireland offers a concise synthesis of globalization's dramatic impact on Ireland in the past fifteen years. Tom Inglis explains what this means for traditional Irish culture and society and offers an incisive social portrait of globalizing Ireland.

Agricultural Transformation, Food and Environment Henry Buller, Keith Hoggart, 2017-10-19. This title was first published in 2001. An interdisciplinary team of leading European scholars bring together case studies from Western and Eastern Europe to illustrate and critically analyze the shifting relationships of agricultural, environmental, and food policy in Europe. In the most comprehensive book of its kind, it examines the critical changes both in agricultural, environmental, and food politics and the way these domains have been investigated by European social scientists. The book evaluates specific changes focussing in particular on agricultural restructuring in the face of globalization, Europeanization, and the collapse of the Soviet model of agricultural organization, agriculture, environmental relations, and consumer preferences. Beginning by examining the degree to which Europe offers a unique and identifiable rural experience, the book includes a critical re-examination of the process of agricultural transformation. In the light of contemporary events and the over seductive and essentially mythical notion of post-productivism. History of Rural Sociology in the U.S. Dwight Sanderson, 1917.

Performing Memories Gabriele Biotti, 2021-04-26. What is memory today? How can it be approached? Why does the contemporary world seem to be more and more haunted by different types of memories still asking for elaboration? Which artistic experiences have explored and defined memory in meaningful ways? How do technologies and the media have changed it? These are just some of the questions developed in this collection of essays analysing memory and memory shapes which explores the different ways in which past time and its elaboration have been and still are elaborated, discussed, written or filmed, and contested but also shared. By gathering together scholars from different fields of investigation, this book explores the cultural, social, and artistic tensions in representing the past and the present in understanding our legacies and in approaching historical time and experience. Through the analysis of different representations of memory and the investigation of literature, anthropology, myth, and storytelling, a space of theories and discourses about the symbolic and cultural spaces of memory representation is developed. Contemporary Ireland Sara O'Sullivan, 2007.
