Air-Conditioning in Modern American Architecture, 1890-1970 Joseph M. Siry,2021-02-01 Air Conditioning in Modern American Architecture 1890 1970 documents how architects made environmental technologies into resources that helped shape their spatial and formal aesthetic In doing so it sheds important new light on the ways in which mechanical engineering has been assimilated into the culture of architecture as one facet of its broader modernist project Tracing the development and architectural integration of air conditioning from its origins in the late nineteenth century to the advent of the environmental movement in the early 1970s Joseph M Siry shows how the incorporation of mechanical systems into modernism s discourse of functionality profoundly shaped the work of some of the movement s leading architects such as Dankmar Adler Louis Sullivan Frank Lloyd Wright Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Gordon Bunshaft and Louis Kahn For them the modernist ideal of functionality was incompletely realized if it did not wholly assimilate heating cooling ventilating and artificial lighting Bridging the history of technology and the history of architecture Siry discusses air conditioning s technical and social history and provides case studies of buildings by the master architects who brought this technology into the conceptual and formal project of modernism A monumental work by a renowned expert in American modernist architecture this book asks us to see canonical modernist buildings through a mechanical engineering oriented lens It will be especially valuable to scholars and students of architecture modernism the history of technology and American history A History of Architecture and Urbanism in the Americas Clare Cardinal-Pett, 2015-11-19 A History of Architecture and Urbanism in the Americas is the first comprehensive survey to narrate the urbanization of the Western Hemisphere from the Arctic Circle to Antarctica making it a vital resource to help you understand the built environment in this part of the world The book combines the latest scholarship about the indigenous past with an environmental history approach covering issues of climate geology and biology so that you ll see the relationship between urban and rural in a new more inclusive way Author Clare Cardinal Pett tells the story chronologically from the earliest known human migrations into the Americas to the 1930s to reveal information and insights that weave across time and place so that you can develop a complex and nuanced understanding of human made landscape forms patterns of urbanization and associated building typologies Each chapter addresses developments throughout the hemisphere and includes information from various disciplines original artwork and historical photographs of everyday life which along with numerous maps diagrams and traditional building photographs will train your eye to see the built environment as you read about it
