Encounter With Children:

Encounters with Children Suzanne D. Dixon, Martin T. Stein, 2000 Electronic version of 2000 text      Young Children's Existential Encounters Zoi Simopoulou, 2019-02-28 This book is a psychoanalytic observation of five children's existential encounters in their ordinary life at the nursery. It is among the first within psychosocial literature to go beyond adult experiences and explore the existential in young children's lives as it plays out in their everydayness in symbolic and sensory articulations and in relationship with others including with the author as someone who arrived looking for it. The author offers analysis in the form of a writing inquiry into meaning by means of an on-going movement between the self and the other, the interior and the exterior and psychoanalytic and existential phenomenological ideas. This is illustrated through a kaleidoscopic account of May, Nadia, Edward, Baba and Eilidhs' encounters with nothingness, strangeness, ontological insecurity, death and selfhood as these emerged in the time they spent with the author embodying different forms from concrete objects to dreams exemplifying an attunement to existential ubiquity. With its relational ground, this work suggests the potential for adults including researchers, therapists, trainees, educators and parents to attune to their own existential encounters as a path to understanding those of children.

An Encounter with Reggio Emilia Linda Kinney, Pat Wharton, 2015-05-15 The documentation of young children's learning plays a vital role in the pre-schools of Reggio Emilia. This leading edge approach to bringing record-keeping and assessment into the heart of young children's learning is envied and emulated by educators around the world. The fully revised 2nd edition of An Encounter with Reggio Emilia is based upon a documentary approach to children's learning successfully implemented by Stirling Council in Scotland whose pre-school educators experienced dramatic improvements in their understandings about young children, how they learn and the potential unleashed in successfully engaging families in the learning process. This approach, which is based on careful listening to children and observation of their interests and concerns, centres around recording and commenting on children's learning through photos, wall displays, videos and a variety of different media. The authors include chapters on why early years educators should use documentation as a means to enhance young children's learning, the values, principles and theories that underlie the Reggio approach, how to implement documentations into any early years setting with real-life case studies and hints for avoiding common pitfalls, how to involve, inspire and enthuse families and the wider community. This text is an important read for any individual working with young children or interested in using The Reggio Inspired Approach in their early years settings.
