Scott L. Collins, Linda L. Wallace

Fire In Autumn:

The Fires of Autumn Francis M. Carroll, Franklin Roy Raiter, 1990 In the fall of 1918 devastating forest fires swept across a major portion of northeastern Minnesota Drawing on both published survivors accounts and on trial testimony never publicized the authors bring to light this saga of destruction resurrection and resilience in the face of adversity Fall Rates of Prescribed Fire-killed Ponderosa Pine Michael G. Harrington, 1996 The Ecology of Fire Robert J. Whelan, 1995-08-10 Wildfires kill many animals but are populations of animals affected How do animals survive the passage of fire Why do some tree species survive and others die in a fire Do frequent fires cause changes in plant community composition Answering questions such as these requires an understanding of the ecological effects of fire Aimed at senior undergraduate students researchers foresters and other land managers Dr Whelan's book examines the changes wrought by fires with reference to general ecological theory The impacts of fires on individual organisms populations and communities are examined separately and emphasis is placed on the importance of fire regime Each chapter includes a listing of outstanding questions that identify gaps in current knowledge The book finishes by summarising the major aspects of ecology that are of particular relevance to management of fires both protection against wildfires and deliberate use of fire Autumn's Back Porch Mike Hall, 2021-03-02 This book is a collection of poems dealing with the author's own personal reflections about life They are works of encouragement faith and social consciousness meant to uplift the reader in their daily walk through their own individual journey They were written as a message of hope for the trying times in which we currently find ourselves The Fires of Autumn Douglas Rae, 1990 Fire in North American Tallgrass Prairies Scott L. Collins, Linda L. Wallace, 1990 Based on papers presented at a 1987 symposium Fire in North American Grasslands cosponsored by the Ecological Society of America and the Botanical Society of America this book represents an important contribution to key unanswered questions concerning the role of fire in grassland ecosystems How often did fires occur in the past Were they primarily natural or caused by humans At what time of year did grasslands normally burn How should fire be used as a management tool What constitutes a proper prescribed burning regime both with and without grazing Fire in Ecosystems of Boreal Eurasia Johann Georg Goldammer, Valentin Furyaev, 2013-03-09 One of the first priority areas among joint East West research programs is the rational use of natural resources and sustainable development of regions In the boreal zone of North America and Eurasia forests are economically very important and at the same time highly vulnerable to disturbances Because of its size and ecological functions the boreal forest zone and its most dynamic disturbance factor fire play an important role in ecosystem processes on global scale Interest within the global change research community in Northern Eurasia Fennoscandia European Russia Siberia and the Far East of Russia has grown dramatically in the last few years It is a vast area about which very little is known It is a region where temperature rise due to anthropogenic climate forcing is predicted to be the greatest and where the consequent feedbacks to the atmosphere are potentially large In addition it is poised to undergo rapid economic development which may lead to large and significant changes to its land cover Much of this interest in Northern Eurasia as in the high latitude regions in general is centered on its role in the global carbon cycle which is likely to be significantly affected under global change New research initiatives between Western and Eastern countries have been designed to address a series of phenomena problems and management solutions Research Paper INT. ,1981
