Imagination At War:

Imagination at War Adam Piette, 1995 Analyses the fiction and poetry produced between 1939 and 1945 that has shaped postwar thinking Next War John F. Antal, 2023-09-28 a useful addition to the literature of the changing character of war Its scoping and focus and its application of the identified disruptors to current challenges offer immediate insights for today's commanders and defence policymakers The Wavell Room The nature of war is constant change We live in an era of exponential technological acceleration which is transforming how wars are waged Today the battlespace is transparent multi domain sensors can see anything and long range precision fire can target everything that is observed Autonomous weapons can be unleashed into the battlespace and attack any target from above hitting the weakest point of tanks and armored vehicles The velocity of war is hyper fast Battle shock is the operational informational and organizational paralysis induced by the rapid convergence of key disrupters in the battlespace It occurs when the tempo of operations is so fast and the means so overwhelming that the enemy cannot think decide or act in time Hit with too many attacks in multiple domains all occurring simultaneously the enemy is paralyzed In short the keys to decisive victory in war is to generate battle shock Imagine a peer fight against Communist China a new war in Europe against a resurgent Russia or a conflict against Iran in the Middle East How can our forces survive an enemy first strike in these circumstances Can we adapt to the ever accelerating tempo of war Will our forces be able to mask from enemy sensors How will leaders execute command and control in a degraded communications environment Will our command posts survive Will our commanders see and understand what is happening in order to plan decide and act in real time This book addresses these tough questions and more War of the Ancient Dragon Laurel A. Howe, 2016-04-24 Valuable above and beyond a case study because it remarkably grounds what can be very illusive alchemical imagery into psychological experience Margaret Johnson editor Psychological Perspectives A testament to the healing capacities of the imagination the humble star in man that connects us to the unconscious to unknown and unexpected developments in ourselves Literary Aficionado I suspect that far more would be resolved and much of the world's suffering wouldn't be in vain if only we could transform the wars in the Middle East and elsewhere in this world into the likes of Randy's sand trays War of the Ancient Dragon Transformation of Violence in Sandplay is a major contribution to Jungian Psychology Sandplay Therapy and to the world at large I urge you to read and to tell others about this powerfully moving book Mel Mathews Publisher Fisher King Press Six year old Randy conducts bloody wars in the sandtray calling them World War One World War Two and The War of the Ancient Dragon He burns fires and bombs helpless victims killing some and saving others What could possibly be going on in his imagination The contents of his imagination what the alchemists call the realm of subtle bodies are revealed in his sandplay from one session to the next and there we see the raw autonomous dynamism that motivates Randy already branded a bully and nearly expelled from first grade We see fiery destructive conflict part his part his culture's part lived part projected a conflict of archetypal opposites that engulf Randy's personality and fuel his violent behavior. But also from Randy's imaginal world out of the very war between opposites that drives him the unknown third possibility unfolds. Allowed to exist and be seen with a paradoxical healing aim, the war fights itself out over time in the safe container of the sandtray, finds its unpredictable resolution and gradually releases Randy from its grip. He finally emerges calling himself king of the bloodfire, returned to the rule of his own emotional life. He has adapted to school, proud of his achievements, a star student in math. Randy's lively narratives animate his dramas and reveal the distinct hallmarks of an alchemical opus over the course of 24 therapy sessions. He remarkably echoes the words of the ancient sages such as Zosimos who centuries ago in his own imagination witnessed the torture of transformation in fire. Randy's process is thoroughly documented and amplified, unveiling the alchemical stages of transformation: nigredo, albedo, and rubedo in a way that helps us relate to those chapters in our own individuation struggles.

Psychological Perspectives editor Margaret Johnson writes that the work is valuable above and beyond being a case study because it remarkably grounds what can be very illusive alchemical imagery into psychological experience. War of the Ancient Dragon guides us through the gritty realities of the alchemical process, helping us realize how they can manifest in everyday life, dream images, and fantasy. Above all, the book is a testament to the healing capacities of the imagination, the humble star in man that connects us to the unconscious, to unknown and unexpected developments in ourselves.

On War and Writing Samuel Hynes, 2018-02-27. In our imaginations, war is the name we give to the extremes of violence in our lives, the dark dividing opposite of the connecting myth which we call love. War enacts the great antagonisms of history, the agonies of nations, but it also offers metaphors for those other antagonisms, the private battles of our private lives, our conflicts with one another and with the world and with ourselves. Samuel Hynes knows war personally; he served as a Marine Corps pilot in the Pacific Theater during World War II, receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross. He has spent his life balancing two careers: pilot and professor of literature. Hynes has written a number of major works of literary criticism as well as a war memoir, Flights of Passage, and several books about the World Wars. His writing is sharp, lucid, and has provided some of the most expert, detailed, and empathetic accounts of a disappearing generation of fighters and writers. On War and Writing offers for the first time a selection of Hynes's essays and introductions that explore the traditions of war writing from the twentieth century to the present. Hynes takes as a given that war itself, the battlefield uproar of actual combat, is unimaginable for those who weren't there; yet we have never been able to turn away from it. We want to know what war is really like for a soldier on the Somme, a submariner in the Pacific, a bomber pilot over Germany, a tank commander in the Libyan desert. To learn, we turn again and again to the memories of those who were there and to the imaginations of those who weren't, but are poets or filmmakers or painters who give us a sense of these experiences that we can't possibly know.

The essays in this book range from the personal Hynes's experience working with documentary master Ken Burns his recollections of his own days as a combat pilot to the critical explorations of the works of writers and artists such as Thomas Hardy E E Cummings and Cecil Day Lewis What we ultimately see in On War and Writing is not military history not the plans of generals but the feelings of war as young men expressed them in journals and poems and old men remembered them in later years men like Samuel Hynes

Future War Christopher Coker, 2015-11-12

Will tomorrow's wars be dominated by autonomous drones land robots and warriors wired into a cybernetic network which can read their thoughts Will war be fought with greater or lesser humanity Will it be played out in cyberspace and further afield in Low Earth Orbit Or will it be fought more intensely still in the sprawling cities of the developing world the grim black holes of social exclusion on our increasingly unequal planet Will the Great Powers reinvent conflict between themselves or is war destined to become much smaller both in terms of its actors and the beliefs for which they will be willing to kill In this illuminating new book Christopher Coker takes us on an incredible journey into the future of warfare Focusing on contemporary trends that are changing the nature and dynamics of armed conflict he shows how conflict will continue to evolve in ways that are unlikely to render our century any less bloody than the last With insights from philosophy cutting edge scientific research and popular culture Future War is a compelling and thought provoking meditation on the shape of war to come

Explores how wetiko covertly operates both out in the world and within our minds and how it underlies every form of self destruction both individual and collective Reveals how wetiko's power lies in our blindness to it and examines how people across the ages have symbolized wetiko to help see it and heal it Examines the concept of wetiko as it appears in the teachings of the Kabbalah Hawaiian Kahuna shamanism mystical Christianity and the work of C G Jung In its

Native American meaning wetiko is an evil cannibalistic spirit that can take over people's minds leading to selfishness insatiable greed and consumption as an end in itself destructively turning our intrinsic creative genius against our own humanity. Revealing the presence of wetiko in our modern world behind every form of destruction our species is carrying out both individual and collective. Paul Levy shows how this mind virus is so embedded in our psyches that it is almost undetectable and it is our blindness to it that gives wetiko its power. Yet as Levy reveals in striking detail by recognizing this highly contagious mind parasite by seeing wetiko we can break free from its hold and realize the vast creative powers of the human mind. Levy explores how artists, philosophers and spiritual traditions across the ages have been creatively symbolizing this deadly pathogen of the psyche so as to help us see it and heal it. He examines the concept of wetiko as it appears in the teachings of the Kabbalah, Hawaiian kahuna, shamanism, Buddhism and mystical Christianity and through esoteric concepts like egregores, demons, counterfeiting spirits and psychic vampires. He reveals how visionary thinkers such as C. G. Jung, Sri Aurobindo, Philip K. Dick, Colin Wilson, Nicolas Berdyaev and Rene Girard each point to wetiko in their own unique and creative way. He explores how the projection of the shadow self, scapegoating is the underlying psychological mechanism fueling wetiko and examines wetiko in the context of the Covid 19 pandemic showing that we can reframe the pandemic so as to receive the lessons and opportunities embedded in it. Revealing how the power of imagination can cure the wetiko mind virus, Levy underscores how important it is for each of us to bring forth the creative spirit within us which helps shed the light of consciousness on wetiko, taking away its power over us while simultaneously empowering ourselves.

The Iraq War Reader Christopher Cerf, 2003-05-15. Despite the torrent of coverage devoted to war with Iraq, woefully little attention has been paid to the history of the region, the policies that led to the conflict and the daunting challenges that will confront America and the Middle East once the immediate crisis has ended. In this collection, Micah L. Sifry and Christopher Cerf, coeditors of the acclaimed Gulf War Reader, have assembled essays and documents that present an eminently readable up-to-the-moment guide from every imaginable perspective to the continuing crisis in the Gulf and Middle East. Here, in analysis and commentary from some of the world's leading writers and opinion makers and in the words of the key participants themselves, is the engrossing saga of how oil, economics, power, politics, dreams of empire, nationalist yearnings and religious fanaticism, not to mention naked aggression, betrayal and tragic miscalculation have conspired to bring us to the fateful collision of the West and the Arab world over Iraq. Contributors include Fouad Ajami, George W. Bush, Richard Butler, John le Carr, Noam Chomsky, Ann Coulter, Thomas Friedman, Al Gore, Seymour Hersh, Christopher Hitchens, Arianna Huffington, Saddam Hussein, Terry Jones, Robert Kagan, Charles Krauthammer, William Kristol, Nicholas Lemann, Kanan Makiya, Kevin Phillips, Kenneth Pollack, Colin Powell, Condoleezza Rice, Arundhati Roy, Edward Said, William Safire, Jonathan Schell, Susan Sontag, George Will.
