Images of Race Michael Denis Biddiss, 1979      Chicano Images Christine List, 2013-12-04 Providing textual analysis of 12 feature films written and directed by filmmakers who explore aspects of the Chicano cultural movement this book discusses films including Cheech and Chong's Still Smokin 1983 El Norte 1985 and Break of Dawn 1988 The text analyzes the portrayal of Chicano or Mexican American identity in films by chicanos Part historiography part film analysis part ethnography this book offers a compelling story of how Chicanos challenge subvert and create their own popular portrayals of Chicanismo Historical stereotypical images in Hollywood films are discussed alongside contemporary images portrayed by Hollywood studios and independent Chicano filmmakers The author examines the way in which newer films construct new representations of Chicano culture and present a greater variety of images of Chicanos for mainstream audiences Originally published in 1996 this authoritative volume provides a full history of the Chicano cultural movement beginning in the 1960s as well as information on the development of Mexican American film production      A House Divided Anne M. Wagner, 2012-02-14 In this much needed and courageous book Anne Wagner lays down a gauntlet to all those interested in modern and contemporary art to think anew about these works by canonic artists and about the relationship of art to recent history and politics Wagner presents an exhilarating and innovative set of closely worked historical arguments that are remarkably timely and her lucid prose makes complex ideas and critical debates accessible to a broad audience Briony Fer Professor of History of Art UCL In A House Divided Anne Wagner takes on the so called post war era in American art and asks searching questions about what that term might mean now amid cultural division and perpetual war Far more than a sum of its parts this collection of essays is essential reading on American artists post war responses to nationalism state violence and the 1960s Mignon Nixon author of Fantastic Reality Louise Bourgeois and a Story of Modern Art      Images of Race Michael Denis Biddiss, 1979      Races on Display Dana S. Hale, 2008-03-27 While European commerce in race was substantial the colonial trade in ideas of race was highly profitable as well Looking at official propaganda and commercial representations in France during the Third Republic this book explores the way the French increased the value of their racial identity at home at the expense of their colonized brothers and sisters The French did not create the identity effacing stereotypes of Africans Arabs and Indochinese Instead they refined or remolded these images and as they did so they redefined and remolded their images of themselves Focusing on world's fairs colonial expositions and mundane manufacturers trademarks Races on Display shows not only the prevalence of racial stereotypes but also how complex these representations prove to be      Disfigured Images Patricia Morton, 1991-05-21 Much of the material unearthed by this book is ugly states historiographer Patricia Morton who exposes profoundly dehumanizing constructions of reality embedded in American scholarship as it has attempted to render the history of the Afro American woman Focusing on the scholarly literature of fact rather than on fictional or popular portrayals Disfigured Images explores the telling and frequent mis telling of the story of black women during a century of American historiography beginning in the late nineteenth century and extending to the present Morton finds that during this period a large body of scholarly literature was generated that presented little fact and much fiction about black women's history The book's ten chapters take long and lingering looks at the black woman's prefabricated past Contemporary revisionist studies with their goals of discovering and articulating the real nature of the slave woman's experience and role are thoroughly examined in the conclusion Disfigured Images complements current work by recognizing in its findings a long needed refutation of a caricatured mythical version of black women's history Morton's introduction presents an overview of her subject emphasizing the mythical ingrained nature of the black woman's image in historiography as a natural and permanent slave The succeeding chapters use historical and social science works as primary sources to explore such issues as the foundations of sexism racism the writing of W E B DuBois twentieth century notions of black women current black and women's studies new and old images of motherhood and more The conclusion investigates how and why recent American historiographical scholarship has banished the old myths by presenting a more accurate history of black women This keenly perceptive and original study should find an influential place in both women's studies and black studies programs as well as in American history American literature and sociology departments With its unusually complete panorama of the period covered it would be a unique and valuable addition to courses such as slavery the American South women in North American history Afro American history race and sex in American literature and discourse and the sociology of race

Feminist Mysticism and Images of God Jennie S Knight,2011-02-28 Feminist theologians often claim that women s experience is their starting point However most feminist theology is remarkably void of analysis of particular women s experiences of imaging God In this book Knight provides practical recommendations to help people transform images in the context of religious practices What difference does it make whether we picture God as an elderly white grandfather a nurturing African American mother or a stranger on the bus Jennie Knight says our image of God affects how we see ourselves how we worship how we treat one another how or whether we work for justice and a host of other life practices But after years of knowing intellectually that God transcends a specific human type Knight still struggles to make an emotional connection with God in different forms She suspects that that struggle is why many seminarians who wrote papers about thea theology abandon nontraditional God images once they hit parish ministry perpetuating the practice of seeing God as a European male on a throne and all the accompanying problems that such imagery creates Knight believes that personal and critical reflection in the context of a supportive learning community combined with experiences of diverse images for the divine in worship can lead to profound changes in self image relationship with the divine and agency in the world This book aims to demonstrate why and how this transformation is both possible and necessary The popularity of The Shack The Secret Life of Bees Joan of Arcadia and other works with nontraditional God figures reveals a culture ready to embrace God in many forms Knight examines how the church can do the same
